TROOPS AT M'COMB STOP STRIKE RIOTS

Illinois Central Is Forced to Remove Strikebreakers by Threats of Violence.

TOWN RULED BY MOB SPIRIT

Dynamite Used in Attempt to Blow Up Railroad Shops—Striker Killed by Pickets.

Special to The New York Times.

McCOMB CITY, Miss., Oct. 4.—The Illinois Central strikebreakers left McComb this afternoon by order of the citizens. The train pulled out with sixty National Guardsmen aboard, who were ordered to shoot to kill at the slightest intimation of trouble. The train was preceded by a body of strikers and others, numbering perhaps 200, who took up a position in the woods where the train was to pass. No attack was made, however. The destination of the party of strikers was unknown up to a late hour to-night.

The departure of the strikebreakers closed an exciting twenty-four hours, which included a pitched battle, an attempt to dynamite the big railroad shops here, the killing of one man from ambush, the wounding of two more, and many minor clashes.

The soldiers went as far as Magnolia, Miss., where they detrained and started back to McComb. Up to the time they left there had been no sign of disturbance along the way. Newspaper men and others were put off when the troops left, and the train started by a circuitous route for New Orleans.

When the train pulled out of McComb it seemed as if every one within a radius of fifteen miles of the town witnessed the departure. Hundreds of farmers, stirred by rumors of insults to women in other Mississippi towns, gathered with their shotguns and rifles, and the soldiers feared another outbreak.

The situation to-night is still serious. The railroad officials admit that more than 1,000 men are out here, and that the strikers have served notice upon the Illinois Central Railroad that foreign labor will not be allowed to take their places. The use of dynamite was threatened on the streets to-day, and talk of "blowing the shops out of existence" was frequently heard. Railroad sympathizers told the men that should the shops be dynamited they never will be rebuilt here, which would mean the ruin of the town.

Ten National Guard companies have been sent here. Machine guns will arrive to-night or to-morrow. Alarming messages were flashed to the Governor in such quick succession this afternoon that the Governor warned the officers that the troops must make a showing or there would be court-martials. This caused the most rigorous military discipline to be enforced. Squads have been sent to arrest men who failed to report for duty at the first call, and the orders are to bring them to McComb.

Despite the activity of the military men with rifles are seen everywhere. It was reported to-day that an effort would be made to rush the car shops. Caches of dynamite with fuses, &c., have been unearthed at points convenient to the shops and now are at military headquarters.

The troops here now number about 300, and with the late arrivals to-night there probably will be 450.

Hardware stores have sold their supplies of guns and revolvers. Repeating rifles have been received from New Orleans and other points by strikers and their sympathizers.

An attempt was made early this morning to blow up the shops, but resulted only in the destruction of a small section of the switching track. It was feared there would be a repetition of this attempt to-night, and sentries have been doubled at all points.

The National Guard officers have warned the railroad officials not to send non-union men here, asserting that they cannot be responsible for the consequences.

Lem Haley, 45, a striker, was shot and killed early to-day near the Illinois Central shops. He was the victim of armed pickets placed there by the strikers. A young woman said she saw Haley refuse to halt when commanded. Shots followed and she saw Haley fall. She said Haley shouted his name as he fell, and his assailant replied:

"Why didn't you tell us, Lem?"

His assailants then disappeared in the darkness, the woman said.

It was learned to-day that Carl Canton and Truly Curtis, both strikers, were shot and badly wounded during the night while walking near the Illinois Central shops. They were removed to their homes.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 4.—After receiving advices that hundreds of heavily armed men are to-day pouring into McComb City from outlying rural sections, Gov. Noel ordered the Laurel and Yazoo City companies, State militia, to the scene to aid troops already on the ground.

Later four more State militia companies and a troop of cavalry were ordered to McComb. They are the companies at Jackson, Greenwood, Macon, and Shubuta, and the cavalry troop of Macon. With the arrival of these there will be ten military commands on duty at McComb City.

The order sending additional State troops to McComb City was issued because the Governor said he feared those now on duty there might not be able to cope with the situation. At the Governor's office it was said definite reports had been received from McComb City describing the strikebreakers as barricaded in the Illinois Central machine shops there, and declaring that a mob of strikers and strike sympathizers had surrounded the railroad commissary and cut off their supplies.

MAY INVOKE SHERMAN ACT.

Illinois Central Attorneys Say Labor Leaders Have Violated It.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The international officers of the nine different crafts who recently called the big railroad strike may face Federal prosecution under the Sherman Anti-trust act, if the investigations being made by the railroads involved show reasonable grounds for pressing a suit. It is asserted by the attorneys for the Illinois Central Railroad that the action taken by the strikers is virtually the same as "a combine in restraint of trade."

"There is certainly ground for prosecution," declared Charles H. Markham, President of the Illinois Central Railroad to-day. "At least it looks that way to me. The Sherman Anti-Trust act prohibits a combine in restraint of trade, and

OPORTO REPORTED TAKEN.

Madrid Hears Royalists Have Defeated Republicans in Portugal.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, Oct. 4.—Dispatches from the Portuguese border state that the Royalists under Capitain Couceiro have defeated the Republicans and have captured Oporto, where they will establish their headquarters in the provisional capital of the monarchy.

It is further stated that King Manuel is expected there very soon.

MADRID, Oct. 4.—The Governor of Badajoz reports a violent engagement between royalists and republicans at Sant 'Elino.

The Spanish Minister at Lisbon has sent a message to his Government that considerable agitation is going on at the Portuguese capital.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Portuguese Royalists declare that the monarchy will be re-established in the northern part of Portugal to-morrow, the anniversary of the revolution that overthrew King Manuel. A member of the colony which has established itself around Manuel at Richmond, stated that cablegrams received this morning announced that in the greater part of North Portugal were bands of Royalists who occupled the towns of Chaves, Guimaraes, Barra, and Barranca.

On the other hand, Republican circles say that Chaves and the other parts of the north are quiet. The Richmond colony has been watching with interest the recent attempts on the northern frontier to re-establish the monarchy. Several times success was believed to have been in sight only to be frustrated at the last moment either through the interference of the Spanish authorities or by the premature disclosure of their plans.

Ex-King Manuel, who has been the guest of the Earl of Lonsdale, at Lowther Castle, in Penrith, brought his visit to an unexpected early termination, leaving the castle at midnight for Richmond, where he arrived to-day.

REYISTA REVOLT NEXT?

Followers of Reyes and Diaz Adherents Said to Plan Mexican Uprising.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 4.—El Pais to-day publishes a sensational telegram from San Antonio, Texas, to the effect that the followers of Gen. Reyes and the deposed President, Gen. Diaz, have established a junta in that city and await the arrival of Reyes. The telegram permits the inference that a new insurrection is to be begun.

The paper also publishes a dispatch from Juarez saying that a revolt will be begun before December. Gen. Madero, the President-elect, attaches little importance to these reports, but it is understood that he is taking measures to keep himself informed of developments.

Gen. Reyes, who abandoned his candidacy for the Presidency just before the election of Sunday last, sailed from Havana for New Orleans yesterday. Samuel Espinosa de Los Monteros, President of the Central Reyesta Club, is said to be in San Antonio. A cablegram received here Sunday from Reyes said that he was going to San Antonio.

Plans for a new revolutionary movement with ramifications in Oaxaca, Morelos, Pachuca, and in the national capital, directed against the supremacy of Madero, are said to have been discovered by secret agents of the President-elect. Oct. 15 is the date said to have been fixed for beginning of hostilities.

There have been discovered in this city, according to one who has the confidence of Madero, the existence of secret caches of arms which were removed through connivance of a police official before they could be seized. A shipment of arms is said to be on the way to Salina Cruz, intended for use by one of the parties to the plot. The campaign, it is alleged, is to be directed from San Antonio, Texas.

Rodolfo Reyes, son of Gen. Reyes, and José Peon del Valle, Reyes's erstwhile campaign manager, declared that Gen. Reyes's going to San Antonio had nothing to do with any political movement.

It is stated on what is considered to be good authority that the followers of Dr. Vasquez Gomez and President de la Barra plan to join issues to defeat Pino Suarez in the electoral college. Upon which candidate for the Vice Presidency these parties will unite is yet to be decided.

BOX CAR VICTIM IDENTIFIED.

He Was Dennis A. Carey, a Bartender —Left Home with Three Men.

The man found murdered in a box car in Newark, N. J., on Sept. 20 was identified yesterday as Dennis Archibald Carey, a bartender, who lived at 82 Second Street, Manhattan. The identification was made by means of a photograph of the dead man and by his clothing, which was recognized by his wife. A tattoo mark on the right arm and a broken toe on the right foot, which Mrs. Carey told of, were recalled by Capt. Carroll of the Newark Detective Bureau as tallying with the body found in the car.

Mrs. Carey could throw no light on the identity of the slayers of her husband, however, except to say that on the night of his disappearance from home, a few days before his body was found, two men had called at their home and asked Carey to accompany them to Bellevue Hospital. One of these men was short, with a wound over one eye, which he said had been made by a snake bite. The three men left the house together, and Mrs. Carey never saw her husband again.

Carey was the son of Dennis Archibald Carey, a retired Sergeant of Police in Boston, and has a brother, the Rev. Joseph Carey of the Church of the Heavenly Gate in Boston, and a sister, who is a nun in that city, according to Mrs. Carey. The couple were married in the City Hall here nine years ago, and had been entirely happy together, Mrs. Carey declared.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—No Catholic clergyman named Carey is known in this city, nor do the records show that there was a former Police Sergeant by that name.

AUTO HUNT FOR LOST CHILD.

Toddling Girl Kidnapped or Strayed from Home Near Somerville, N. J.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 4.—The whole countryside is aroused over the mysterious disappearance about dusk this evening of the little daughter of John F. Gray, a farmer living at Frankfort, five miles away. The child is 2½ years old.

Whether she has been kidnapped or strayed away and was lost is a matter of conjecture. There is a report that a man driving in an automobile was seen to stop in front of the Gray farm just before the child was missed, and one theory is that the little girl was carried off in the machine.

Chief Bellis and Sergt. Haight of Somerville and County Detective Patten are taking an active part in the hunt for the missing child. Hundreds of citizens in automobiles and wagons are scouring the vicinity of Frankfort, but up to a late hour not a trace of the child had been found.

SENATE PASSES PRIMARIES BILL

Amended Ferris-Blauvelt Measure for Direct Nominations Wins by Vote of 27 to 19.

GOES TO ASSEMBLY TO-DAY

Democratic Leader Says He'll Put It Through in Twenty Minutes—Dix Expected to Sign.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 4.—After tinkering all day with the Ferris-Blauvelt Direct Nominations bill, which is characterized by many sincere friends of direct primaries at the Capitol as a measure for "the perpetuation of bossism under the protection of statutory enactment" the Senate late this evening passed that measure by a vote 27 to 19. Two Democrats, Senators Saxe of New York and Loomis of Erie, and all the Republicans present, voted against it. The bill will be sent to the Assembly for concurrence to-morrow, and when it has been disposed of in the Lower House it is proposed to adjourn sine die, the longest legislative session in the history of this State.

While some of the Democratic Assemblymen are declaring to-night that they will vote against concurrence when the bill comes before the Lower House tomorrow, Majority Leader Alfred E. Smith expressed the opinion that it would take him about twenty minutes to "put over" the Ferris-Blauvelt bill in the Assembly. The fact is that few of the Assemblymen, since the bill has been amended under the supervision of Senator Thomas F. Grady, will know just what they are voting for when that measure is placed on third reading. A contributory factor for the promotion of haste, is the fact that every member of the Legislature is utterly wearied of the protracted session and anxious to have it over with.

It is considered a safe bet that Gov. Dix will sign the Ferris Blauvelt bill when it gets before him for final action, even though it does not come anywhere near carrying out the recommendations contained in the special message he sent to the Legislature early last week. The Governor realizes, it is said, that it is the best he can get in the way of direct primaries legislation from a Legslature dominated by Tammany Hall. He has been consulted by those lawmakers who have had a hand in amending the bill from time to time. He has actually compelled some concessions to meet his objections to the original bill, and as an earnest of his approval of the amended measure, actually gave the leaders an emergency message under which the bill was rushed to final passage in the Senate to-night.

The vote on the bill in the Senate to-night stood as follows:

For the bill—Senators Bayne, Black, Burd, Cronin, Cullen, Duhamel, (Independence League,) Ferris, Fiero, Frawley, Gittins, Grady, Griffin, Harden, Harte, Long, McClelland, McManus, Murtaugh, O'Brien, Pollock, Ramaperger, Roosevelt, Sanner, Stilwell, C. D. Sullivan, T. D. Sullivan, and White—27.

Against—Senators Allen, Argetsinger, Brackett, Cobb, Hamilton, Heacock, Hewitt, Hinman, Loomis, (Democrat,) Newcomb, Ormrod, Platt, Rose, Sage, Saxe, (Democrat,) Thomas, Travis, Wainwright, and Walters—19.

Absentees—Senators Bussey, Coats, Emerson, Griffith, and Wagner, (Democrat.)

There had been many wavering ones among the Republicans. Some members of the Senate minority at first were inclined to vote for the bill, fearing that unless they came out in favor of anything labeled direct primaries their action would be susceptible to misinterpretation in their districts, even though for conscientious reasons they were against it. It was regarded as not void of significance that the Republicans who had held a conference early in the day and decided to leave every member of the minority to vote as he saw fit did not reach the determination to make a united stand against the bill until word had been passed that the Democrats would have a sufficient number of votes to pass the bill.

The Democratic leaders in the Senate again resorted to the "conference" which has been found so effective in bringing the independent Democrats from up State to take the Tammany view of any situation. Senators Saxe and Loomis, the two Democrats who voted against the bill, walked out of the conference. Senator Roosevelt, the former insurgent chief, remained. The conference was dominated entirely by Senator Grady, who thundered against any radical direct nomination bill as a blow to the stability of party organizations, and deplored the necessity of passing any direct primary legislation at all.

When the conference which was behind closed doors was over Senator Grady announced that he had all the votes he needed to pass the bill.

Many of the independent Democrats were led to vote for the Ferris-Blauvelt bill by the representation that even though it was a compromise it represented a fair measure of direct primaries and a step in the right direction. All the Democrats alike regard the action tonight as one of political wisdom in that it will make capital for the Democratic Party in the Assembly campaign, which is at hand.

The opponents of the bill took an entirely different view of it. They denounced it as a bill framed in the interests of the bosses.

"This is a direct nominations bill in name only," said Senator Loomis, one of the bolting Democrats in the course of the debate to-night. "It perpetuates the party boss. It will make opposition to the organization all but impossible. The organization under this bill would have a position of greater advantage than under the present primary law."

Before the bill was placed on final passage it had been amended to meet some of the strongest objections. There were three important amendments. One amendment provided for the election of members of the State Committee by direct vote at the primaries instead of by the delegates to the State Convention as at present. But specific provision was also made in this section whereby a candidate for the State Committee must obtain a clear majority of his party's vote in his district, else the election must be made by the delegates as originally provided.

Opponents of the bill point out that with a spirited fight with more than two candidates in the field it would be well nigh impossible for any one candidate to obtain such a majority.

The provision under which organization candidates for nomination to places voted for in more than one county should be designated to the preferential place on the ballot by the Chairman and Secretary of his party's County Committee in the counties embraced by the district was also eliminated, and provision made for a nominating committee composed of three delegates from each Assembly district casting one vote for the unit they represent and one additional vote for each 1,000 votes or major fraction thereof cast in the last preceding election for the Gubernatorial candidate of their party. This provision affects candidates for the Supreme Court, for Congress and Senate.

The restoration of the party emblem to the primary ballot was the third important amendment, but one which is not regarded as having been made in the interest of independent nominations.

The Senate adjourned to meet at 1 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

All the Senate's business has been finished and all the upper house will find to do to-morrow will be to go through the formal closing ceremonies. The Assembly will meet at 11 and pass the Ferris-Blauvelt bill.

GIRL CAUGHT IN TRAP SET FOR A BURGLAR

Climbs Into Window of Williamsburg Home, Where a Detective Sat Waiting.

TAKES HER CAPTURE COOLLY

Had Pawntickets and Loot—Family Returned to Find House Only Partly Robbed, So Her Visit Was Expected.

In the dining room of his home at 120 Milton Street, Williamsburg, young Eugene D'Ozeville sat last night in a chair pulled far into a corner of the room. Beside him, on another chair, sat Detective Smith of the Greenpoint Avenue Station. The room was in darkness and neither man risked smoking for fear the lighted end of their cigarette or cigar might be seen, for earlier in the day, D'Ozeville, who, with his mother had been away in the country, returned home to find that his home had been ransacked, and a basket filled with silver and left in the hall made it appear likely that the burglar would return.

About the house, hidden in other houses, and in doorways were the reserves of the station house with Capt. Coleman in command. They had held their places since shortly after noon, but it was not until nearly 1 o'clock this morning that D'Ozeville and Smith heard a scraping outside the dining room window and presently saw the window raised slowly and softly.

The men held their breath in suspense as the window was pushed up to its limit and in the little square of light there appeared a dark form. The person crept through the window, closed it shut, and then crept softly across the room. The intruder was almost on Smith when the latter threw the glare of a pocket flash lantern ahead of him, presented his revolver, and commanded:

"Up with your hands. I'll shoot in an instant."

There was a sudden intaking of breath by the intruder, a little cry of surprise, and then Smith and D'Ozeville added their astounded exclamations to the sound of the other, for before them stood a young woman, pretty and well dressed, her hands shielding her face from the glare of the detective's lantern.

"I'll be hanged," ejaculated the detective. "Just a woman. Well, you're a peach. What are you doing here?"

The young woman dropped her hands from her eyes and raised her head to look the detective squarely in the eye. She surveyed him from head to foot, looked D'Ozeville over carefully as he stood silent in astonishment, and then, without deigning to reply to the detective, went and sat down in one of the chairs D'Ozeville and Smith had left. She sat quietly, her hands in her lap and with not so much as a movement of the head did she show that she heard the questions which Smith continued to ask for some time.

At last the detective commanded her to get up, and as she obeyed led her to the station house. There she spoke for the first time, merely replying to the Lieutenant's questions that she was Mrs. Margaret Schwartz, 26 years old, and that she lived at 135 Meeker Avenue. She would not answer another question and was locked up after the detective had found two gold watches and about 100 pawn tickets in her pockets.

The watches were identified by young D'Ozeville as the property of his mother. The pawn tickets, the police hope, will connect the young woman with several other robberies which have occurred in the Greenpoint section of Williamsburg recently, especially that of the home of Davis Brown of 150 Leonard Street a month ago. The tickets were for all sorts of jewelry, and the police hope that Brown and the other victims may be able to identify as theirs some of the articles for which the tickets call.

The discovery that his home had been robbed and the subsequent capture of the young woman, was made by D'Ozeville when he made his usual weekly trip of inspection to his home. The young man and his mother have been at their summer home in Spring Lake, N. J., for several months and at least once a week, the young man who works in Brooklyn, had gone to look over their city home, a three story and basement brown stone house.

When he entered the house yesterday noon he saw at once that thieves had ransacked it. The contents of bureau drawers were scattered about the rooms. Pictures had been taken from the walls and every article of furniture had been moved about. The beds all appeared to have been slept in, and on the dining room table were the remains of a meal, which apparently had consisted of sardine sandwiches and beer. There were many cigarette stumps scattered over the floor.

TAXI BURNS IN TIMES SQUARE

Blaze Lights Up the Cadillac and Brings Folks from Dinner.

James Nolan, a chauffeur employed by S. M. Barrere, a book dealer at 160 West Thirty-first Street, who also operates a few taxicabs, drove his cab northward through Times Square about 7 o'clock last night, keeping a sharp eye out for passengers. In front of the Hotel Cadillac the machine stopped short and refused to go on.

Nolan started to crank the machine, but while he was turning over the engine there was a backfire in the carbureter. Sheets of flame began to shoot out on all sides. Nolan, badly scorched, turned a back somersault into the gutter, and a friend who had been sitting on the front seat with him leaped to the sidewalk.

There was no explosion, but the burning gasoline escaped from the tank and gushed out into the street in such quantities that it blazed up to a level of the Cadillac's third story. The flames were reflected against every window pane in Times Square and, for a moment, every one in the Square thought that the Cadillac itself was afire. Hundreds who had just sat down to dinner in the Cadillac and nearby restaurants left the tables to see the blaze.

Traffic Policeman McDonald, who stops all the runaways at Broadway and Forty-third Street, and who is at least two inches taller than any one else in the Square, turned in an alarm, which brought enough fire apparatus to put out a whole garage. The taxicab, and the oil on the street underneath it, were still blazing when the firemen arrived, and the flames were quickly extinguished. Mr. Barrere came uptown half an hour later and had his taxicab towed home by a truck.

BLACKLIST FOR ALL WHO TOLD ON MORSE

Not One, Says District Attorney Wise, Has Got Another Place in a New York Bank.

PROTECTIVE UNION WANTED

And a Strike, if Need Be, to Back Bank Employes Who Decline to Break the Law at the Corporations' Behest.

United States District Attorney Henry A. Wise, speaking last evening before an audience made up almost entirely of bank employes taking one of the courses at the American Institute of Banking, caused some sensation by saying that not one of the bank employes who went on the stand to tell what they knew in the Charles W. Morse case had since found employment in any of the banks of this city. He followed this by suggesting that a league be formed whose members, in union fashion, would strike whenever a fellow-employe lost his place for refusing to share, by however little, in the commission of any act in contravention of the banking laws.

Mr. Wise was down on the programme for an address on "Banks and Bankers" for the opening meeting of the savings bank section of the New York Chapter. He began by apologizing for having prepared no address to deliver, so in its place he gave expression to what he himself called a "few inconsequential remarks." The remarks were few, but his audience of bank employes who had gathered in the lecture hall at Lexington Avenue and Thirty-fifth Street, seemed to find in them matter for the liveliest interest. As the Federal prosecutor in criminal proceedings in this section, Mr. Wise began to speak of dishonesty in banks and bankers.

"Let me tell you," he said, "that we have found in most of our investigations that the dishonesty generally comes from above and not from below. I think that the records will show that there are more bank Presidents, bank cashiers, and other officers charged with crimes in relation to the banks than the lesser employes. For they are all employes, don't forget that—all, from the President down to the runner.

"But here is the thing of which I wish to speak. I have noticed, within my experience, that when something has gone wrong and an investigation has been started into a bank's affairs or management, those employes who knew nothing about the matter and had absolutely nothing to tell the Grand Jury, were able to retain their positions afterward, while of those who did testify before the Grand Jury or the petty jury, none are occupying banking positions today.

"Now, gentlemen, I think that this is a shocking situation. I have said so frankly to various bankers whom I have met, and I have talked it over with them. Surely, it should be just the other way around. For, mind you, I don't believe that all of those who have told the Grand Jury that they knew nothing about the matter under investigation really did know nothing about it. And I think those who tell honestly what they know, and so help along the law's course, ought to be promoted for it, rather than punished.

"Let me tell you," Mr. Wise said, stepping forward a little, and using his finger to point his words, "that this standard was followed in the case of the Bank of North America. Do you know that of the employes who testified in the Morse case not one is employed to-day in the banks of this city?

"Yet they are the very men whom bank Presidents should be seeking out most eagerly. There are none better fitted. They demonstrated that by the course they took. And I think it is a shame that they should, for doing the right thing, be cut off from pursuing the very career for which all their early training had prepared them.

"Why wouldn't it be a good thing for you men of the American Institute of Banking to form a league which should be in protest against such a standard? If any bank employe refused to take any part, however small, in the commission of an act in violation of the banking laws, and if he lost his position for his pains, the members of such a league would all walk out. It would be a real contribution to good banking and good citizenship."

Mr. Wise began by explaining that he had not known so very many bankers, and that the proportion of those who were dishonest was very, very small. For his own part, he had not had the opportunity to know many in the regular manner, for he had never had enough money at any one time to make a deposit. His own position had been rather peculiar, for, he said, instead of going to bankers the bankers whom he had seen had come to him through the instrumentality of a paper which he would indorse which would bring them hurrying to his office.

Mr. Wise, who sat very patiently while other speakers rid themselves of puns upon his family name, followed Dr. William L. Felter, President of the Girls' High School in Brooklyn, and George E. Allen, Educational Director of the American Institute of Banking. Dr. Felter dwelt on the need of courtesy among bank employes, but Mr. Wise said he had never heard that bank people were discourteous.

He confessed that when he gathered how much knowledge of finance and of commercial law the bank clerks were exhorted to acquire, he was led to wonder how much they were paid, and whether or not they did not feel like saying, with Andrew Jackson's servant, when replying to his master's criticisms:

"Egad, do you expect all the virtues for $13 a month?"

This anecdote was received with the greatest delight.

One meeting was a preliminary gathering, before the beginning of the regular course of lectures, which makes up the educational work of the institute. The section in attendance was made up of men connected with savings banks.

VAN HORN WEDS AGAIN.

Banker's Second Venture Just a Month After Wife Divorced Him.

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 4.—Francis Milton Van Horn, a New York banker, with offices at 149 Broadway, whose wife divorced him at Reno, Nev., on March 2, was married here just one month later, Sunday, April 2, to Mrs. Elizabeth Stockwell Bancroft, a widow.

The matter did not become known to the public until to-day, when the preacher who officiated, the Rev. Norfleet C. Lassiter, pastor of the Delaware Avenue Baptist Church, made the announcement. He said he kept the wedding a secret at the request of the couple and made it public now at the solicitation of the bridegroom. The new Mrs. Van Horn is from Georgia.

Mrs. Eudora S. Van Horn started suit for $100,000 against her husband on Sept. 14 last because of his alleged failure to abide by a separation agreement and pay her $600 a month for the support of herself and her three sons. The couple were married in March, 1891, and according to Mrs. Van Horn lived together until April, 1908. Van Horn is associated with A. B. Leach & Co., bankers, of 149 Broadway.

BUFFALO FOR FRANZ JOSEF.

A Pair for His Deer Park to be Shipped from Here To-day.

The Emperor of Austria is going to raise the almost extinct buffalo. Two full grown animals will be shipped to-day on the North German Lloyd liner Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm for Bremen, consigned to the Royal Deer Park at Schoenbrunn. The pair was obtained by Charles Bartels, a representative of Hagenbeck's.

Special care has been taken for the shipment of the buffalo and their food on the voyage. They will be swung into the vessel's hold in cages. An experienced animal man has been engaged to take care of them on the trip.

GOV. TENER PARDONS KLEIN.

First to Turn State's Evidence in Pittsburgh Council Graft Trial.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4.—Capt. John F. Klein, former Councilman and riverman, who gave testimony which sent a number of Pittsburgh city officials, bank officers and others to the penitentiary and county jail in connection with extensive municipal grafting in 1910, was released from the Western Penitentiary here to-day, having been pardoned by Gov. John K. Tener.

With him went Henry M. Bolger, a hotel keeper, who figured as a go-between when bankers were called upon to pay Councilmen for deposits of public funds.

DIES FROM LAVA BURNS.

Rev. J. E. Hall a Victim of a Volcanic Eruption in Japan.

WASHINGTON, Penn., Oct. 4.—Details have just reached here of the death of the Rev. J. E. Hall, a well-known local minister, who was killed on Aug. 16 in a volcanic eruption at Asama Yama, Japan.

Mr. Hall was one of a party of Americans who ascended the mountain to see the crater. As they were standing at the edge of the lava pit an explosion occurred. Mr. Hall was fearfully injured about the legs. He was dragged from the mouth of the crater by Dr. Morris, a physician in charge of St. Luke's Hospital at Shanghai. For hours Dr. Morris remained on the mountain side endeavoring to aid the injured man.

Mr. Hall could not be moved and Dr. Morris was unable to obtain help, and Mr. Hall finally died on the mountain-side.

CAPT. HAINS GOES SHOPPING.

Mother Accompanies Him—No Reconciliation with Wife.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Capt. Peter Hains spent the first day after his release from Sing Sing shopping with his mother. Few who saw the tall, pale young man with the petite elderly lady going about from store to store recognized them.

"My son and I have had a great time shopping to-day, as we did in the days when he was but a boy, and I accompanied him to the stores to help him select his Christmas presents," said Mrs. Hains. "I am happier than I ever expected to be."

Mrs. Hains says that her son will make no effort to effect a reconciliation with his wife, from whom he was divorced on Aug. 25.

IRISH MAIL ON GERMAN SHIP.

Happens for the First Time—Due to Railroad Strike.

The North German Lloyd Line announced yesterday that its steamship George Washington, which left Southampton for this port Oct. 2, is bringing the mail from Queenstown.

This is said to be the first time a German steamship ever carried the Irish mail. The mails were intended for shipment on the Cunard liner Saxonia, which left Queenstown Oct. 1. Because of the Irish railroad strike the British Post Office authorities feared that the transmission of the bags at Queenstown would be delayed. The mails got to Southampton just in time for shipment on the George Washington.

The George Washington is expected to arrive Sunday night or Monday morning.

Flier Falls Fifty Feet at St. Louis and Wrecks His Aeroplane.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 4.—Twenty-five thousand spectators saw Hillary Beachey, brother of Lincoln Beachey, the aviator pilot, fall fifty feet from an aeroplane today at Fair Ground. It is the second serious fall he has had in a month.

Beachey was rendered unconscious and the machine was wrecked. He was hurried in an ambulance to Mullanphy Hospital, where Dr. T. H. Hale announced that he may have received internal injuries. No bones were broken, but he was cut on the face and was badly bruised.

Spectators fought with the police to seize souvenirs of the accident, and several men were clubbed.

VETERAN POLICE HORSE SHOT

"Jim" Is Destroyed by Waldo's Order After Eighteen Years' Service.

Sergeant James Frawley of the Westchester Police Station was the saddest man in the Police Department last night. "Jim," the horse he had been riding for eighteen years, had done his last tour of duty and was shot yesterday by order of the Commissioner. The horse was condemned several weeks ago and ordered sent to the police stable in Thirty-second Street, to be sold, but the order was rescinded and Commissioner Waldo ordered the horse destroyed in the most merciful manner.

A. D. Boyd Dying at His Home in Uniontown, Penn.

UNIONTOWN, Penn., Oct. 4.—Former State Senator A. D. Boyd, one of the best known Democrats in Pennsylvania and a prominent attorney, is dying at his home here to-night from a bullet wound.

Mr. Boyd has been ill for several years. Soon after partaking of dinner to-night he went to his room, and is alleged to have fired a bullet into his mouth. Physicians entertain little hope for his recovery.

ATTACK ON LESBOS REPORTED

Rumors That a Naval Battle Is Being Fought There—Italian-Austrian Friction Denied.

By DEPUTY DI FELICE GUIFFRIDA.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Dispatch to the Milan Secolo.

ON BOARD THE ITALIAN TORPEDO CRUISER COATIT, Tuesday, Oct. 3.—Further delay granted by the Italian Government was concluded today at 2 P. M., and, as the commander of the Turkish forces at Tripoli declined to surrender the place, Admiral Faravelli, commanding the Italian squadron, instructed his ships to bombard the fortresses.

The foreign Consulates, on being warned that hostilities were about to begin, hoisted their respective flags very high on the flag masts in order to safeguard the lives and property of the Europeans placed under their protection.

Then the Italian warships drew up before the port of Tripoli at a short distance from one another, first, the Benedetto Brin, flying the Admiral's flag, and then the Roma, Napoli, Sicilia, Francesco Ferruccio, Garibaldi, Agordat, Pisa, Amalfi, Sardegna, and Coatit.

The destroyers cruised rapidly about between the warships and the city, while another squadron was spread fanlike in the rear behind the men-of-war with the evident object of avoiding a surprise by the enemy.

Other warships were dispatched to the villages of Sensuo, Saoa, and Suava on the one side, and Java, Sebda, and Sliten as far as Mesurata on the other, while others patrolled the Gulf of Sidra between Mesurata and Bengazi.

On the other side of Bengazi and in the Gulf of Bomba as far as the port of Dubru other men-of-war were drawn up in line of battle, so that the whole coast of Tripoli and Cyrenaica was covered.

Between Derna and Crete the Mediterranean was guarded from all possible attack on the part of a Turkish fleet by squadrons of destroyers.

The Scene on the Ships.

The enthusiasm in the fleet increases as it approaches Tripoli. Every man is in his place, ready to fire. Officers scan the horizon with glasses. We await the signal from the Admiral's ship. The guns are ready, charged with shell.

Never have I had more clearly before my eyes the terrible vision of what war can be than at this moment, a few instants before the bombardment. But this vision passed rapidly and the reality immediately seized me.

A general movement, vague noise, universal bustle, runs along all the warships.

What is happening? The Admiral's ship is making signals. Has the order been given to open fire? On board the ships everybody is silent. The moment is solemn. Then an order is transmitted from ship to ship, from mouth to mouth like the echo of a single word, and suddenly all the vessels—battleships, cruisers, torpedo boats, destroyers, and transports—hoist their colors.

It looks like some celebration, some festival. After the long anxiety of waiting it is not death, it is the life of civilization.

But here is another signal. The vessels begin to move. They defile with singular, marvelous majesty. It is like an invitation to the Turkish Army, hidden in the forests, to strike its colors.

The fleet in its entirety steams past

Tripoli. The spectacle is imposing. Will the Turks surrender and the war be finished without a gun being fired, without the sacrifice of a single man's life?

Last Appeal to Turks.

But here is another order. The fleet arranges itself once more before Tripoli in order of battle. The summons to surrender is repeated. The procession of a minute ago was a summons to surrender, a last appeal to the Turks by the Admiral commanding to give way and avoid useless bloodshed, but the appeal was not crowned with success.

The Turks resist, and immediately the development of the action begins. The warships hurl their first projectiles against the batteries of Tripoli, shot after shot, with regularity and precision.

The Turks attempt to reply with the toy guns of their fortresses, but their shells do not even reach the Italian vessels. They fall short and drop into the sea.

Evidently the attacking squadron did not wish to damage the city too much. It wanted only to destroy the forts and the Vali's palace.

I cannot describe to you the last phases of the bombardment, for I must hand these pages to the commander of a torpedo boat which is this instant leaving for Malta.

G. DI FELICE GUIFFRIDA.

Bombardment Resumed Yesterday.

JERBA, Gulf of Gabes, Tunis, Oct. 4.—The city of Tripoli has been bombarded twice by the Italian fleet. The first shot was fired shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Shelling was resumed early this morning after a quiet night.

There was a steady but slow fire from the warships until dusk last evening, and shots also came from the forts in the town. The French steamer Tafana took a delegation from Jerba out to the scene of hostilities. Among the party was the French Consul General, M. Léon, who made several ineffectual attempts to land. The Tafana was stopped by the cruiser Varese when about ten miles from Tripoli. A boat from the Varese was sent to the sightseeing steamer and ordered her to return, but she remained for more than an hour, even creeping in closer to the blockaded town.

From the distance the white buildings of Tripoli could be plainly seen, and the whole field of operations was unfolded before the eyes of the watchers. The officers of the Varese kindly explained that the battle had been delayed because Admiral Aubrey, commander of the Italian fleet, had received a request from the Tripoli garrison for another day's grace after the expiration of the three days' notice to surrender. The Admiral gave the garrison an extra few hours.

The battleship Benedetto Brin and the armored cruisers Giuseppe Garibaldi and Francesco Ferruccio drew up in line opposite the harbor. There were no small craft in the battle line, and the Varese stood off to keep back intruders.

There was no sign of life in the city, which appeared as though deserted, but the Turkish flag flew from the castle and forts. The first shots were directed toward the Charchatti fort, and later the Kerkereche fort was shelled.

No sooner did the first shells burst over Tripoli than the garrison seemed to awake. It returned the fire with vigor and energy. A heavy cannonade was kept up on both sides for a few minutes, and then firing became desultory. So far as could be seen no warship was hit.

Vice Admiral Faravelli, at 4 o'clock, ordered his ships to cease firing in order to permit the town to surrender, but no sign of surrender was given, and after the lapse of a few minutes the ships began again. This time great havoc was wrought. Fortifications were razed to the ground, the forts suffered severely, and the lighthouse to the northwest was destroyed by shells from the Garibaldi.

There was no means of knowing what the loss of life was in Tripoli, but ample opportunity was given to the defenders to escape.

When the Tafana left the scene of operations no landing had been attempted on the part of the Italians, and it was feared that during the night the town would be pillaged by nomad Arabs who had been hovering in the vicinity for some days. The Admiral knew of the hasty removal of arms and ammunition into the interior.

Governor's Palace Destroyed.

Again, at an early hour this morning, the first division of the Italian fleet, under Admiral Faravelli, resumed the bombardment. The Turkish garrison still occupied a position behind the forts, and responded with a few shells, which fell short.

The Italian commander endeavored to avoid damaging private dwellings in the city, but some of them were destroyed, and the Governor's palace and the three forts at the entrance of the port are in ruins. The consulates and churches have not been damaged.

The second division of the fleet, under Vice Admiral Thaon di Revel, has approached close to Bengazi and Derna. A bombardment of these ports, it is understood, has been ordered, to begin to-morrow.

It is denied that any bluejackets will be landed in the immediate future. Such a landing may possibly be decided upon after the arrival of the expeditionary corps.

Before commencing the bombardment of Tripoli the Italian squadron removed all mines and made a careful revision of the hydrographic chart in order to insure safety to the coming transports. This operation lasted several days, and was probably the real reason for the delay in the bombardment.

Four Italian officers have come to Jerba, and are proceeding overland in the direction of Tripoli. They are on a reconnoitering expedition, as the Arabs will, it is expected, offer stubborn resistance to the occupation of the vilayet.

To Shell Derna and Bengazi.

ROME, Oct. 4.—The naval division, under Admiral Thaon di Revel, has been ordered to bombard Derna and Bengazi to-morrow. The instructions are not to land sailors unless this becomes absolutely necessary—the occupation of these places will be accomplished by soldiers, whose departure is imminent.

A message from naval headquarters says that the garrison at Tripoli is gradually retiring to the interior, occupying several places on the outskirts, and evidently fortifying.

The bombardment of Tripoli was resumed this morning with the object of completing the destruction of the batteries.

Up to 6 o'clock this evening no official confirmation of the report of the surrender of Tripoli could be obtained.

Vice Admiral Faravelli has sent the following message to the Government:

> ON BOARD THE BATTLESHIP BENEDETTO BRIN, Tuesday, 7:45 P. M.
> A bombardment was commenced at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon upon the principal batteries of Tripoli and was continued until sunset. The batteries responded to the Italian fire, but without effect. The bombardment will be continued to-morrow until the destruction of the batteries has been completed.
> Great care was taken during the bombardment not to damage the city. Only a lighthouse upon one of the batteries was destroyed.

Rear Admiral Aubrey reports that in bombarding Tripoli he spared all the consulates, hospitals, churches, monasteries, and convents, aiming only at the fortifications. Discrimination was made with relative ease, as the range of the Turkish cannon was so short that the ships were enabled to approach the city closely, and so take accurate aim.

The bombardment was protracted because of this extreme care to avoid useless bloodshed, and to respect the homes of non-combatants and the mosques. Moreover, the firing was at long intervals, as Admirals Aubrey and Faravelli expected at any moment to see the white flag run up, indicating a desire to surrender.

Turks' Fire Harmless.

The fire from the Turks was absolutely harmless. None of their shots reached the ships. In fact, Admiral Aubrey ordered that the ships abstain from using guns of the largest calibre, as they were unnecessary. From the battleships the officers could plainly see the effect of their shots and realized that in a few hours all the forts might be dismantled and their batteries silenced. This, however, would be at the cost of the lives of all the defenders, a result which the fleet was trying to avoid.

Scarcely any of the population remain in Tripoli, the city having been abandoned as soon as the bombardment began.

The three Admirals responsible for the blockade had instructions to avoid unnecessary damage and to limit their action to silencing the Turkish batteries and forcing the garrison to surrender or evacuate. In cautioning Admirals Aubrey, Faravelli, and Thaon di Revel to limit their action to silencing the batteries and compelling the Turkish garrison to surrender or evacuate, the instructions from the Ministry of Marine told the officers to remember that the province was about to pass under Italian control, and that the more damage done by the bombardment the greater would be the expense of repair later.

A message from Admiral Thaon di Revel says that at times the action appeared more like a shooting competition than a bombardment. The officers and sailors placed wagers on the results of specified gun work. In one instance an order was given to dismantle a particular battery. One of the gunners was heard to say: "I bet I can knock down the left turret at the first shot." When the smoke had cleared away it was seen that the turret had disappeared. The same voice behind the gun spoke again, "Now the right turret." In a flash the second mark was in ruins.

Governor Reported Wounded.

LONDON, Thursday, Oct. 5.—A Rome dispatch says it is believed that the Tripoli garrison has suffered very heavy losses and that the Governor is wounded.

It appears that even after the demolition of the forts the Turkish gunners continued to serve such guns as were available. It became necessary for the warships to train their guns upon the ruins.

Several private houses were destroyed by fire, but none was struck by shells. The town has been entirely deserted by the inhabitants.

Another dispatch from Rome gives the following account of the bombardment:

"At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Vice Admiral Faravelli signaled to the battleships Giuseppe Garibaldi and Francesco Ferruccio that the bombardment was about to begin. These vessels, with the flagship Benedetto Brin, steamed up to within two kilometers of the town. The sea was fairly calm. At 3:30 o'clock the Garibaldi fired the first shells, which were directed at the Governor's palace, and well placed. Immediately the palace and the Amelia Sultana forts replied with a number of shots from fifteen-centimeter guns. The Turkish aim was bad.

"The cruiser Varese and the Ferruccio directed their fire against the fortifications at the lighthouse on the Mole, which replied with smaller guns. Flags were flying over all the consulates. The forts showed Turkish flags.

"After the bombardment had progressed for one hour shells from the Varese destroyed the lighthouse, which collapsed in ruins. The Italian fire was now becoming heavier, while that of the forts was growing feeble. Many Turkish guns were seen to have been dismounted. The Governor's palace was riddled with shot and severely battered. The central forts ceased firing at 5 o'clock, but two outer forts kept up the defense. Their shots were better directed.

"The quays were deserted. A number of fires started. The bombardment ceased at dark. During the night the sky glowed with the reflection of fires in the town.

"The bombardment was resumed this morning. It was heavier than that of yesterday, but the outer forts had been reduced to ruins and were unable to reply. The Turks removed their guns to the heights beyond the town and reopened fire from there. They were, however, dispersed by shrapnel from the fleet, and fled in all directions.

Italians Prepare to Land.

"The first white flag began to appear. The Italians are now preparing to land 4,000 men from the ships.

"The fleet was unharmed. The Turkish projectiles all fell wide of the battleships. There were no casualties in the fleet during the bombardment.

"The warships confined their fire so far as possible to the forts and the palace, and were careful to spare private buildings. The destruction of the lighthouse was necessary, because it was adjacent to a fort which kept up its fire.

"Numbers of daring Arabs watched the spectacle from the minarets that surmount the town."

The Constantinople correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says that the Porte has received a telegram from Bengazi saying the population there is well armed and has vowed to shed its last drap of blood for Tripoli. Bengazi has not yet been bombarded.

GENOA, Oct. 4.—The steamer America, with 1,200 troops and stores on board, left here to-night for Sicily, Gen. Jommesi commanding.

The whole army corps here saw the men off, and the crowds which covered the docks cheered them enthusiastically

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4.—Telegrams have been received reporting that heavy firing has been heard at sea from Dedeagh, toward the Gulf of Saros, in the Aegean Sea. (Dedeagh is about sixty-five miles north of Lemnos.)

MYTILENE BOMBARDED?

Report in Constantinople—Big Naval Battle Also Rumored.

LONDON, Thursday, Oct. 5.—A news agency dispatch from Vienna says it is reported from Constantinople that an Italian squadron has bombarded and occupied Mytilene, capital of the island of Lesbos.

The Constantinople correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says:

"The startling report has reached the newspaper Osmanischer Lloyd that the Italian and Turkish fleets are engaged in a fierce battle north of Mytilene. Similar information has reached the Austrian Post Office here.

"Since Saturday the Ministry has sat for sixty-four hours deliberating on the possibilities of resistance against the Italians. Nothing, however, has been decided, and Italy remains mistress of all the Turkish coast. The closing of the Dardanelles blocks the Turkish naval forces, making the speedy dispatch of help to Tripoli impossible. Consequently, the Grand Vizier has proposed to the Council a renewal of the negotiations for peace.

"News received here to-night from several towns in the empire is to the effect that the Italian coat of arms has been torn down and sold at auction. One thus sold at Salonika brought $10.

"The Sheik of Mecca, who is enormously rich, has promised the Government large sums to help the war fund.

"The Mussulman women are displaying great patriotism, and are offering their money, jewels, and precious carpets to help their country's cause. Abdullah Effendi, the most eloquent of the Turkish preachers, will address thousands of Turks in the famous Byzantine fane of St. Sophia, appealing to the sense of duty and patriotism of the people in the present crisis. Similar sermons also will be preached at other mosques.

"The difficulties of Saïd Pasha, the Grand Vizier, are increasing. He has appealed to several of the ex-Grand Viziers, asking their assistance. All of them have declined. The impotence of the governing men is in strong contrast with the patriotism and devotion of the people in general. A high Ottoman official informs me that never before has Islam presented such a united front, and that never before has England had such a magnificent opportunity to win by a judicious policy the sympathies not only of the Ottoman people but of the whole Islamic world.

"The incoming Italian mail was seized to-day by the Turkish authorities and delivered to the German Post Office only after Baron Marschall von Bieberstein, the German Ambassador, had protested. Baron von Bieberstein also has energetically insisted that the Banca di Roma shall be reopened.

"The newspaper Ikdam reports that an Italian cruiser has been sunk by a Turkish torpedo boat off Tripoli."

A telegram from Constantinople last night said that the Turkish fleet in the Dardanelles had been instructed to put to sea.

Another telegram says that an Italian warship was sighted off Salonika, and is reported to have fired upon Kara Burun fort.

A telegram from Constantinople says that an Italian warship destroyed a coastguard boat that was flying the British flag off Hodeida, on the Red Sea. The boat was intended, it is understood, for the Turkish Navy, but had not been delivered when it was attacked. The British firm which owned the craft has entered a complaint against the action of the Italians with the British Consul at Hodeida.

A dispatch received here by a news agency from its correspondent at Salonika, who forwarded it by courier to Ristovatz, says the correspondent learns that all preparations have been completed by the Turks for a forward march to the Thessalonian frontier, presumably on account of the reported warlike preparations of Greece.

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—The Lokal Anzeiger publishes a report that the Italians have bombarded Prevesa.

Asks Austria to Act.

VIENNA, Oct. 4.—The Turkish Ambassador has informed Count von Aehrenthal, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, that the Turkish Government has positive information that Italy is preparing to land a large body of troops in Albania, and he requests Austria to insist that Italy adhere to her declared intention of respecting the status quo in the Balkans.

It is understood that Count von Aehrenthal replied that he would await developments.

Archduke Franz Ferdinand, the heir apparent to the throne, who is in command of the Austrian reserve squadron, had a series of conferences to-day with Count von Aehrenthal.

There is a persistent rumor that the Archduke is annoyed at the presence of Italian warships at Prevesa, and that an Austrian naval demonstration on that account is not improbable. Many of the newspapers here are urging such a demonstration.

PARIS, Thursday, Oct. 5.—A telegram to The Temps from Rome says that King Victor Emmanuel will leave Racconigi and return to Rome to-day. After giving audiences to the Ministers of War and Marine he will go to Naples for a farewell to the troops embarking for Tripoli.

Baron d'Estournelles de Constant wrote to Premier Caillaux last Sunday suggesting that France, acting under Article 11. of The Hague treaty, offer her good offices to end the quarrel between Italy and Turkey.

The Premier has now replied, saying that the French Government is quite ready to offer mediation in conformity with the rules of The Hague.

Deny Friction With Austria.

ROME, Oct. 4.—Official circles ridicule the reports, which are described as being circulated with the obvious intention of misguiding public opinion, concerning incidents between Italy and Austria and of dissensions among the powers regarding their attitude toward Italy.

As a matter of fact, it is stated, what is now transpiring was arranged among the States in the Triple Alliance, with the adhesion of France and Great Britain, who are bound by the agreement of 1901 to support Italy, or, at least, to be neutral whenever she decides to occupy Tripoli.

It is even hinted that negotiations with Austria-Hungary and Germany which preceded the present action of Italy led to a basis for the renewal of the Triple Alliance, which will expire in 1914. It is reported that when the alliance is then renewed there will be added to the existing clauses one regarding the protection of Italy in her position in North Africa.

The report that Montenegro is mobilizing her army is officially denied, and it is declared that the rumor was purposely circulated with a view to bringing about complications, which are unlikely to ensue, as the powers have agreed to prevent the extension of the conflict outside the zone which is indispensable in connection with Italy's occupation of Tripoli.

The Turkish prisoners in Italy, who already number more than 500, and are held at Taranto, Agosta, Brindisi, Naples, Leghorn, and Genoa, will be assembled in the large barracks near Caserta. The captured soldiers and sailors will be watched by sentinels under the discipline of their own officers, and will enjoy considerable liberty. All will be well treated.

TARANTO, Oct. 4.—An officer from the Italian destroyer Alpino, who landed here this afternoon, gave an explanation of the report, so insistently circulated, that the Italians landed at Prevesa, on Sept. 28, the day before war was declared.

Capt. Biscaretti, commander of the section of the flotilla of torpedo boats sent by Vice Admiral the Duke of the Abruzzi to investigate the surroundings of Prevesa and see if the enemy's ships were there, dispatched the Artigliere and the Corazziere, torpedo boat destroyers, to inspect the coast north of Prevesa. Lieut. Pannuzi landed, disguised as a peasant. Obtaining a horse from a farmer, he climbed the mountain near the town, from the top of which, with the aid of a strong telescope, he was able to see inside the harbor of Prevesa and to distinguish the Turkish torpedo boat flotilla there.

Hurrying back, the Lieutenant boarded his own ship and notified Capt. Biscaretti of his discovery. Capt. Biscaretti informed the Duke of the Abruzzi of the situation, and was instructed by the Duke to wait until the Turkish vessels left the harbor and then to attack them.

Turkish Crews Jumped Into Sea.

Later Capt. Biscaretti ordered his destroyers to open fire against the Turkish torpedo boats at five miles. The shots caused a panic among the Turkish crews. Instead of offering resistance they escaped from their boats by throwing themselves into the sea.

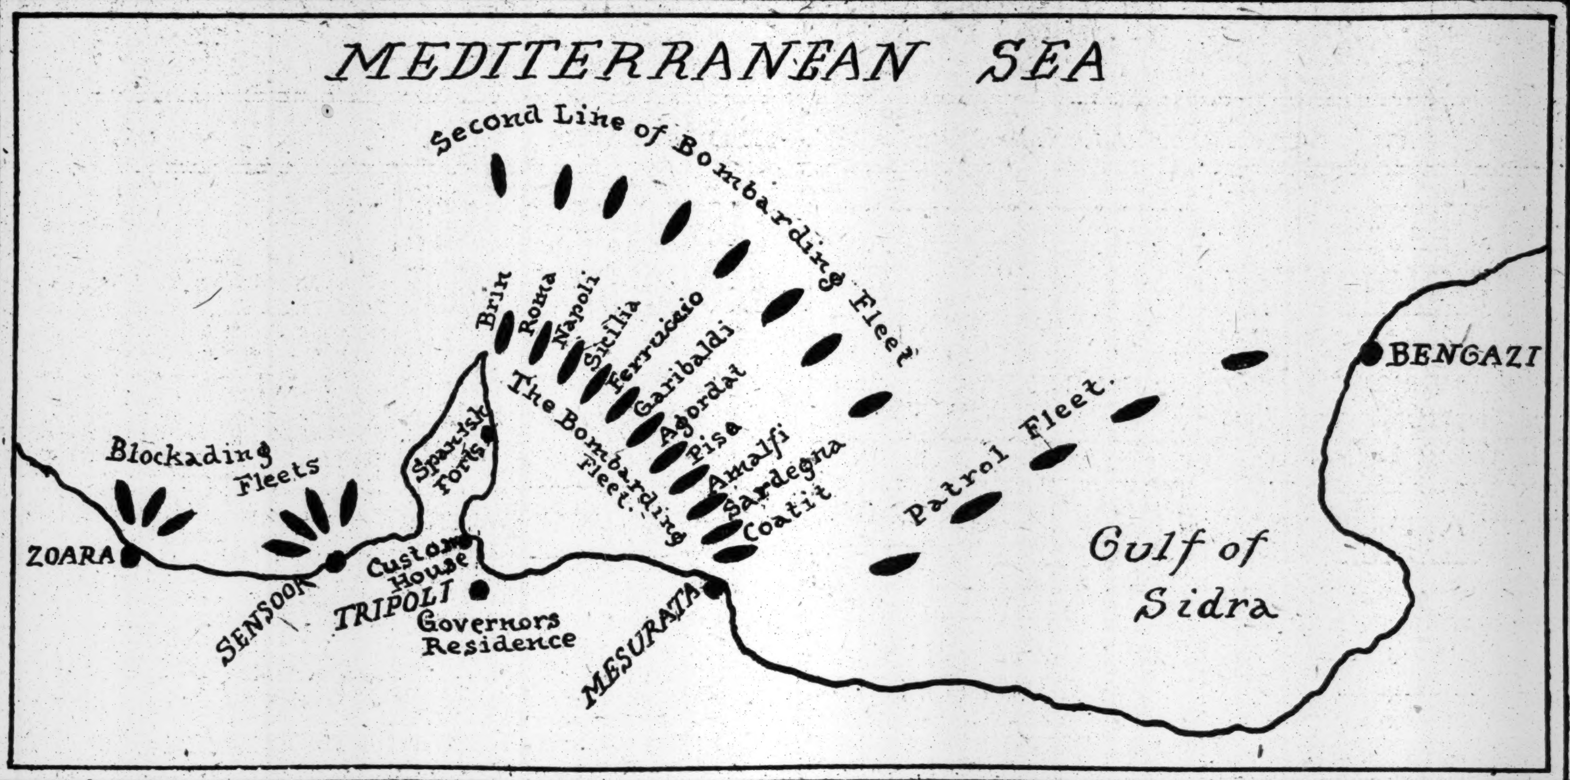
In the meantime the Italian commander was on the lookout for an attack from the fortifications of Prevesa, but they kept silent. He feared a trap, and ordered the Artigliere to remain stationary while the Corazziere advanced to inspect the port. Capt. Biscaretti himself commanded the Corazziere, which cautiously approached until under the batteries, but these gave no sign of life.

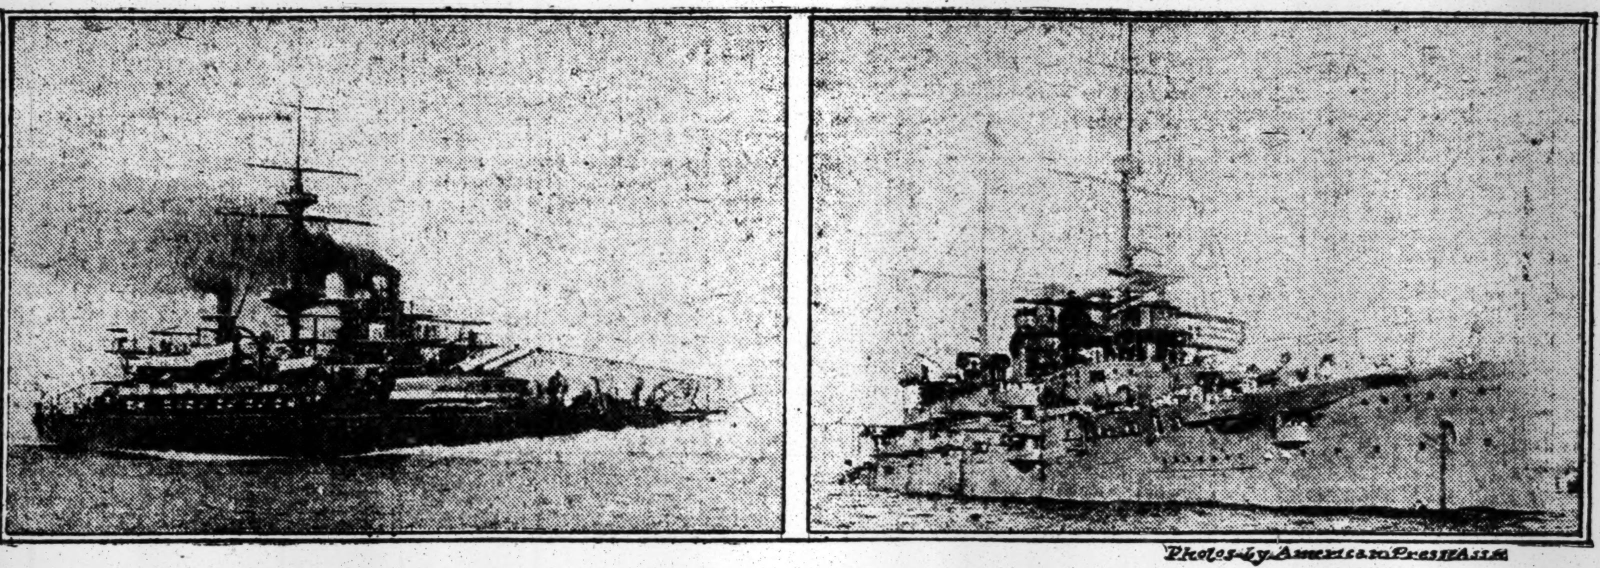
The Corazziere entered the harbor, and, finding there a Turkish yacht, captured it. The sailors from the wrecked torpedo boats, having reached the docks by this time, gave the alarm. The destroyer took the yacht in tow, and was making ready to proceed out of the harbor, when the sailors from shore rallied and fired a volley. The Corazziere returned the fire, shelling several houses and throwing a hail of shots into the docks, killing or wounding many of the attacking party, and causing indescribable panic among the sailors.

The destroyer's operations within the harbor lasted forty minutes, and she proceeded out through the channel, with the yacht in tow, without a shot having been fired from the batteries or fortifications.

Italian Line of Battle Before Tripoli

Position of the Ships, as Described in the Dispatch of Deputy Guiffrida.





Photos by American Press Assn.

The Benedetto Brin (Flagship), on the Right, and the Sicilia, Two of the Attacking Ships.

As was shown by the poor defense they made against the Italian bombardment, the fortifications of the City of Tripoli were of ancient pattern, practically useless against modern artillery. For a port of the size of Tripoli the forts were numerous, but they were constructed so long ago that they were almost as ineffective against the big guns of the Italian battleships and cruisers as if they had been made of sheets of tin.

Tripoli is built on a rocky point close to the sea, and is surrounded by a high wall of the mediaeval pattern, flanked by bastions and protected by batteries of the old Moorish kind. The artillery consisted of old brass pieces and antique rifles. At the southeast end of the fortifications was the castle, the residence of the Governor, a very old building. Besides the main fortifications there was an old fort on the shore, while earthworks skirting the town were in such a condition of decay as to be negligible.

Despite the neglect of the Turks, the bombardment of Tuesday and yesterday was the first successful attack on the city. Tripoli was bombarded by Marshal d'Estrees in 1685; again unsuccessfully besieged by the Tunisians from 1701 to 1705; and bombarded by a French fleet in 1728.

The Harbor of Tripoli is formed by the long sweep of shore line and a chain of rocky islets and reefs. The entrance is considered dangerous for war vessels because of rocky shoals and the narrow and intricate inner channel.

TURKO-ITALIAN WAR SPLITS PEACE UNION

Italian Delegation to Inter-Parliamentary Body Almost Secedes Owing to Criticisms.

CHOLERA BARS ROME MEETING

Allusions to Epidemic Also Resented by Count Sonnaz—Turkish Delegate's Retort to Him.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—The Italian delegation almost seceded from the Inter-Parliamentary Union to-day, because the Council of the Union adopted a resolution criticising the Italian declaration of war. It is still possible that many of the Italian members will resign.

The council met to consider a place for the next meeting, and there were present about forty members, representing great and small States. Congressman Richard Bartholdt and Senator T. E. Burton represented the United States; Lord Weardale and Duncan V. Pirie, M. P., Great Britain; Count Apponyi, Hungary; Baron von Plener, ex-Member of the Cabinet, Austria, Count Sonnaz and Marquis Compans, Italy; M. Beernaert, Belgian Minister of State, Belgium; Senator Labiche and Count Jatut, France; and Prof. Eichoff and Prof. von Hauptmann, Germany.

The executive committee submitted a resolution beginning: "The Inter-Parliamentary Council on Sept. 10 was compelled to postpone the conference, which should have met in Rome on this date, on account of the epidemic of cholera now existing in Italy. The council meeting in Paris to-day was called to take necessary steps for a later meeting. The conference finds itself taken by surprise by an entirely unexpected situation, and is of the opinion that under the circumstances nothing is left for it but to reserve any decision as to the next meeting."

Count Sonnaz said that it was not true to say there had been an epidemic of cholera in Italy. There had been cholera, he admitted, but it was not fair for the council to embody in a resolution to be published throughout the world a statement that cholera was an epidemic in Italy. He declared that if the clause regarding the postponement of a decision meant that the council would not meet in Italy, the whole Italian group would withdraw.

The resolution continued: "True to the ideals of peace which form the programme and are the reasons for the existence of the Inter-Parliamentary Union, which desires more than every thing to remain their firm champion, the council considers it its paramount duty to express its strong regret that so small regard has been shown for the guiding principles of peace and justice of The Hague conferences, and that the recent declaration of war by Italy has been so precipitate that even opportunity for an understanding has been rendered impossible, or intervention according to Articles 3 to 48 of The Hague Convention of Oct. 18, 1907."

Count Sonnaz and Marquis Compans gathered up their papers hurriedly and started to leave the room. Baron von Plener of Austria and Senator Houseau of Belgium detained them at the door. The proceedings were stopped while an earnest talk went on between the Italian delegates and the interceders. It ended by the Italians resuming their seats.

Baron von Plener made a conciliatory speech, while Count Apponyi suggested that the words "Peace and justice" in the resolution were not essential. Count Sonnaz began a speech, in which, with much feeling, he was explaining Italy's sense of wrong against Turkey, when he was quietly interrupted by the Turkish delegate, Bostani Effendi, who said:

"Turkey, too, has grievances against Italy. I can relate them and give you a different story from that of the honorable gentleman, but this is not the place to do so."

The Turkish delegate then asked M. Beernaert, who was presiding, to call Count Sonnaz to order, which the Chairman did. The resolution concluded:

"The council regrets that the steps said to have been taken by the other powers offering their good offices should until now have had no result, and hopes that international action, which is obligatory on the part of all the powers who are signatories of The Hague convention, may bear better fruit. It invites the different groups of the union to use their influence with their respective governments in the interest of such action."

All the paragraphs of the resolution were adopted nearly unanimously. The council also approved Mr. Bartholdt's resolution requesting governments, in negotiating future arbitration treaties, to preface them by a preamble mutually recognizing national independence, territorial integrity and absolute sovereignty in domestic affairs. The council agreed that The Hague conferences should meet automatically.

"A REVERSAL TO BARBARISM."

E. D. Mead Denounces Italy's Action—Wants Peace Advocates to Act.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Edwin D. Mead of Boston, Secretary of the World Peace Foundation, who has been spending the Summer in Europe in international work and was present at the meeting of the General Assembly of the International Peace Bureau held at Berne last week, arrived in Paris yesterday on his way back to America.

Seen by THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent before his departure to-day he spoke energetically about Italy, of course, concerning Tripoli, and the duty of the peace forces of the world therewith.

"Italy's declaration of war," he said, "and the actual opening of hostilities in the campaign of conquest at twenty-four hours' notice, is the most ruthless proceeding in recent history and cannot be tolerated by civilized people if they are to continue to call themselves civilized.

"It is the sheerest brigandage, without even the shadow of an excuse, yet submitted to the world's public opinion. There is no evidence that the Italians in Tripoli, in the last year, have suffered any more indignities and wrongs than Italians in Naples or Milan have suffered from their fellow-Italians in the last twenty-four hours.

"There was no situation whatever of a gravity that prevented an easy and confident appeal to The Hague or to the concerted powers, if justice, not conquest, was really what Italy desired. Of course, her action is the grossest reversal to barbarism and piracy, in utter disregard to the fact that Italy herself is a party to The Hague conventions, which prescribe a peaceful and legal solution of vastly more serious critical issues than any which confronted Italy.

"If the parties to The Hague convention are silent while thus insulted and ignored, then those conventions are a farce. If the peace party in Italy itself and in the world is dumb at such a juncture, then it might as well not exist. If Governments are compromised, pusillanimous and incompetent, then the people must speak out.

"Every peace and arbitration society in every nation of the world should instantly organize public meetings in solemn protest against this last and worst exhibition of bullying and greed in the international field, and appeal to their respective Governments to demonstrate that The Hague conventions are vital realities.

"If peace societies do not do this then they are insolvent and useless."

YOUNG TURKS DENOUNCED.

Regarded as Responsible for Country's Weakness—New Party Formed.

LONDON, Thursday, Oct. 5.—The Daily Chronicle's Constantinople correspondent sends the following dispatch:

"The antagonism against the Committee of Union and Progress, the members of which are held responsible for the condition in which Turkey found herself at the outbreak of the war, is growing. Many influential persons are refusing aid to the Government so long as the 'tyrannical sway' of the committee continues.

"A new committee, calling itself the National Defense Committee, has been formed and is sending circulars throughout the country. The chief causes of complaint against the Committee of Union and Progress are its action in ignoring the warning of the Governor of Tripoli concerning the condition of the defense and the intention of the Italians, and the fact that troops were sent to Yemen in large numbers to quell an insurrection there while the county was in danger from an outside foe. It is considered that the troops should have been reserved for service in Tripoli.

"The people, who are grasping every straw, see hope in the co-operation of the Turks and Arabs, who, it is believed, can worry Italy for a long time by guerrilla tactics throughout the vast hinterland. The interior tribes are ready to mobilize camel corps to assist in these tactics.

"It is also believed that the season of strong north winds, now approaching, will compel the Italian fleet to leave the coast of Tripoli.

"There is deep anxiety with regard to the attitude Great Britain will adopt should it be proposed to move troops through Egypt."

The Daily Chronicle's Salonika correspondent says:

"General mobilization of the army has been ordered and the enrollment of volunteers is proceeding rapidly. The Rédifs (reserves) who are being summoned to return to the colors are responding with enthusiasm.

"All Italian trading establishments have been closed, and the authorities have taken possession of the Italian hospital and schools. The Italian Consul General and Vice Consul will leave here to-morrow.

"The Young Turkish Party at a meeting declared that the action of Italy amounted to sheer robbery and placed her outside the pale of civilized nations. The Government is urged to offer unflinching resistance to the 'wanton attack which has been made upon it.'"

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4.—Political difficulties within the capital are multiplying, and it seems impossible to form a Cabinet.

Members of the Committee of Union and Progress are unwilling to take office, as they do not wish to assume responsibility for recent events, while the elder statesmen refuse to undertake the task of government unless the committee retires from the field and dissolves.

A deadlock has practically been reached, and the only solution to serve the best interests of the country is held to be the dissolution of the committee and the ending of the war without delay on the best terms that can be obtained.

ITALIANS WELL ORGANIZED.

Foreign Attaches Impressed—Cruel Trick on War Correspondents.

ROME, Oct. 4.—The military attachés at the embassies here are following with interest the preparation of the Italian expedition to Tripoli.

Major Reynolds of the American Embassy is making a comparison between the system adopted here and that in America during that country's war with Spain. The general opinion of experts is that the Italian arrangements have been conducted in a masterly manner. Those upon whom the responsibility rests have succeeded in mobilizing at the points of embarkation one of the largest expeditions ever made by sea in the shortest time on record.

The first contingent, of about 20,000 men, was ready to start yesterday, but was delayed because of the wish of the officials to be absolutely assured against any surprise at sea.

Italian ships are patrolling between Sicily and Malta, and between Malta and the "heel" of Italy. These vessels signalled the presence of Turkish torpedoboats up to last night, when they were chased out of the patrolled area, though they managed to escape, aided by darkness and stormy weather.

It must be remembered, the officials say, that the Japanese, who had for a long time prepared for their campaign against Russia, landed only 17,000 men in Korea on their first expedition. They were followed by an equal number of troops twenty days later. The operations were begun forty days after the landing of the army. Italy purposes to land nearly 40,000 men within a week, and to begin operations immediately.

The military experts consider the armament and equipment of the troops perfect. This equipment includes provisions of all kinds, landing boats, movable camps, and field hospitals with accommodations for 30,000 patients, besides hospital ships.

The representatives of the foreign governments here admire the organization of the censorship, which, although it is strongly condemned by the press, permitted the Government to make all its preparations for war both on land and sea in perfect secrecy.

It appears now that the Government executed a bit of strategy at the expense of the correspondents who went to Tripoli. They were permitted to go to the scene of war, some of them being accommodated on vessels of the fleet. This action was rather a surprise in view of the Government's general attitude toward the press. The correspondents, however, had not been long in Tripoli when, upon the pretext that the bombardment was to begin immediately, and the desire of the Italian officers to secure their safety, they were taken on board warships, and, as the story goes here, "bottled up" at sea, where they were unable to communicate the course of subsequent events.

WE AWAIT DEVELOPMENTS.

No Step Toward Mediation Unless It Is Sure to be Welcomed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—State Department officials to-day frankly confessed that this country's comparative inaction regarding the Turkish-Italian situation, pending further developments in Europe, was somewhat influenced by Turkey's failure to define its position or even admit that a state of war exists. This, the officials pointed out, made it difficult to advise American merchants and importers of their rights and duties.

The United States will take no step toward mediation under The Hague treaty, it is said, unless assurance is given by the principals that America's good offices would be welcome.

Ambassador Rockhill at Constantinople, in a cablegram dated yesterday, reported that notice had been received there that neutral goods would be free from seizure by Italian warships provided they were not contraband. Turkish ships, however, are subject to seizure.

As a result of the war and of the cholera in Italy ten conventions and conferences of various kinds that were to be held in Rome this Autumn have been postponed. Officers of the organizations in this country affected have been informed of the postponements.

Among the meetings postponed are the International Geographic Convention, the International Hygienic Conference, the International Archaeological Convention, the International Polar Conference, the Tuberculin Congress, and the Agricultural Congress. The Tuberculin and the International Geographic Conventions will be held next April, and the others next Autumn. In some instances representatives of the United States were preparing to start for Rome.

Rodgers May Continue Flight To-day.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Oct. 4.—C. P. Rodgers, flying from New York to San Francisco, whose machine was damaged in a fall here on Monday, to-day said that he expected to resume his flight toward Chicago to-morrow.

the action taken by the labor forces is a direct violation of this law. Our attorneys are looking into the matter and comparing the present situation with similar cases in the past. If the result of their investigation is favorable, prosecution will probably follow."

A proposition to place the final settlement of the strike in the hands of an arbitration board was taken up at a meeting of the Executive Board of the Federation of Labor to-day. One member said that as Mr. Kruttschnitt, General Manager of the Harriman lines, had made no move or shown any disposition to negotiate no action would be taken by the unions. The discussion was postponed until the next meeting.

The railroad officials report little change in conditions. A carload of strikebreakers was sent out from Chicago over the Illinois Central to-night. The first strikebreakers recruited in Chicago were taken into the Burnside shops of the Illinois Central at noon. The officials of the railway made a requisition upon Chief McWeeny for additional policemen to guard the property at South Chicago and other points along the line. No trouble occurred between the strikers and non-union men. According to James Carroll, Special Agent in charge of the railroad detectives at Burnside, twelve strikers returned to work in the carshops this morning.

"There is no great change in conditions," said W. L. Park, Vice-President of the Illinois Central, to-night. "We had a few more men at work to-day than we had yesterday. Train movements are about normal everywhere.

"The restraining order issued by Judge Wright for the Eastern District of Illinois is being served on all concerned by United States Deputy Marshals throughout that territory. The notice is received without demonstration, and in some instances, assurances are given that it will be observed."

Julius Kruttschnitt stated that the shops of the Harriman lines are being filled up with new men to take the vacant positions, and that the working system of the lines is running smoothly.

STRIKEBREAKERS GO SOUTH.

Additions to Force at Paducah, Ky., and Mounds, Ill.

Special to The New York Times.

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 4.—About 250 more strikebreakers arrived here this afternoon from the East on a special train, and will be put to work to-morrow. According to Supt. A. H. Egan of the Louisville Division of the Illinois Central, who is in charge of the strike situation here for the company, this makes a total of about 300 strikebreakers at Paducah, and all sleep and are being fed at the Illinois Central shops.

A special train of ten coaches partially filled with strikebreakers passed through here at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Mounds, Ill.

FREIGHT CREW ATTACKED.

Strikers Seriously Injure Three Non-Union Men on Georgia Road.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 4.—While a Georgia and Florida freight train was passing through the Southern yards at Hamburg, S. C., just over the river from Augusta, to-day, strikers attacked the strikebreaker's crew.

In the fight two non-union men were seriously injured, and a third strikebreaker was probably mortally hurt.

Illinois Central Guard Shot.

WATER VALLEY, Miss., Oct. 4.—In an exchange of shots with Sheriff F. H. Smith and two deputies, to-night, a member of the special force of guards stationed at the Water Valley shops of the Illinois Central Railroad was wounded. The wounded man was quickly carried within the shop enclosure.

THIRTY STILL BURIED IN RUINS OF AUSTIN

Seven More Bodies Recovered—1,100 Men Now at Work on the Debris.

CALL FOR FOOD SENT OUT

Gov. Tener Inspects Ruins and Is Convinced of the Need of Legislation to Prevent a Similar Disaster.

AUSTIN, Penn., Oct. 4.—Seven more bodies of those who perished in the flood and fire of Saturday last were recovered to-day, leaving but thirty persons unaccounted for, according to the official announcement from relief headquarters. The work of clearing the ruins went ahead more rapidly and better arrangements were made to feed the growing force of workmen.

The bodies recovered were those of Mrs. Jacob Hess, 63 years old; Evelyn Rennicks, three years; Joseph McNamara, 8; a 2-year-old boy, unidentified; parts of two bodies, and a boy about 12, unidentified.

Six funerals were held to-day, five of them from the Swedish church, the only one left standing. All the funerals were held in the afternoon, one following the other. The five coffins were placed side by side before the pulpit at one time, and as one service was completed by one minister, one of another denomination would succeed him for the next funeral. Each funeral had its little group of mourners awaiting its turn along the walk before the church. Farm wagons were used for hearses. The father of Senator Baldwin was among those buried.

The first arrests for robbery following the flood were made to-day, when two foreign women were caught by a State trooper while prying open the lid of a trunk. The women are Mrs. Peter Shava and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Shava. They appealed to State Senator F. E. Baldwin to intercede for them, but he refused to interfere. They were taken to the county jail at Coudersport. Their home was searched and furs and jewelry valued at $1,000 or more were recovered, many of the pieces being identified by the owners. Joseph Shava, husband of the younger woman, is accused of participating in the thefts. He has fled.

There were about 1,100 men at work on the ruins to-day, and the work of this augmented force showed encouraging results when darkness came on. Among one of the relics recovered was the safe of the Masonic lodge, somewhat battered, but intact, with the lodge records.

The cry for food supplies is still sent out. Clothing has been received and is being supplied the needy, but food is being bought in large quantities. The commissary reports that he is still feeding about 1,000 citizens in addition to the laborers.

Gov. Tener inspected the ruins this morning and left for Harrisburg. He did not go up to the site of the dam, which is a mile above the town. He did, however, go over much of the destroyed section in a pouring rain and visited the hospital where he went to the bedside of the injured and spoke words of cheer. Before leaving he said:

"I am more than ever convinced that the State's experience at Johnstown and the destruction of this place demands legislation that will give the State control over all these dams, and the surrounding conditions. My heart goes out to these poor people who have lost so much, and I am surprised after viewing the ruins, that the list of dead and missing is as low as it is reported."

CHILDREN SURE TO WED.

Parents of Arthur James and Ruth Day Agreed on That.

Arthur James and Ruth Day, the fourteen-year-old elopers, who tried to get a marriage license in Long Island City on Tuesday, and who returned there yesterday with a certificate of consent signed by their respective mothers, turned up in South Orange, N. J., their home, last evening and went to the home of Charles Day, father of Ruth. Their second attempt to get a marriage license had failed, because the young couple had not secured the necessary certificate from the County Clerk that the notary who witnessed their parents' signatures was a regularly registered official.

Whether or not James and Ruth have been married could not be learned last night, as Mr. Day refused to allow his daughter to be questioned, and young James wouldn't answer questions. The boy's parents even do not know whether or not he has been married. Mrs. James said that the youngster ran into the house for an instant on his arrival in South Orange, and stopped only long enough to get some clean handkerchiefs. Then he jumped the back fence and made for his sweetheart's home, saying he would be back presently. He had not returned late last night.

"If they haven't been married, though, they will be," said Mrs. James, "and there won't be any delay about it. The wedding will probably take place in the Church of the Holy Communion in South Orange and the rector, the Rev. George A. Hanna, will probably perform the ceremony."

It is said that the parents of little Miss Day are equally anxious to have the wedding take place.

EQUAL PAY FOR TEACHERS.

New Bill Passes Senate Under an Emergency Message from Dix.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Oct. 4.—Before adjourning to-night the Senate, under an emergency message from Gov. Dix, passed a school teachers' equal salary bill for New York City. It is understood that the measure has all the backing of the Democratic organization and that it will be passed by the Assembly before final adjournment to-morrow.

According to the legislative leaders, it has the indorsement of the city authorities and the Board of Education as the only means by which the new salary schedules adopted last May, placing men and women teachers on an equal footing, can be rendered effective.

While Gov. Hughes vetoed one equal salary bill during his first term, it is declared by the leaders that the situation to-day is not analogous to that which confronted Gov. Hughes. Then the city authorities and the Board of Education had not worked out a plan.

DIX SIGNS ELECTION BILL.

Amends Levy Measure Relating to Parties' Place on Ballots and Emblems.

ALBANY, Oct. 4.—Gov. Dix to-day signed the McClelland bill, making amendments to the new Levy election law.

One provides that a political party or independent body, to retain its place on the ballot, need not obtain 10,000 votes for the head of the ticket if it retains 10,000 votes for any candidate on the ticket.

Another provides for the proper explanation of the party emblems of organizations, which, because they have indorsed the tickets of other organizations, have no individual column on the ballot.

TARRYTOWN, Oct. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller returned from Cleveland to-day to their home at Pocantico Hills.

ACT ON COURT HOUSE SITE.

Conference Approves Stilwell Bill and Appoints Committee for Hearings.

A conference at the City Club last night at which were present representatives of the several bar associations, the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, the National Sculpture Society, the Municipal Art Society, the Citizens' Union, and the City Club it was unanimously voted to approve the recent Stillwell bill relating to a Court House site. The bill vests in the Board of Estimate the exclusive power to decide upon a site for a period of six months, and, thereafter, in case the site is not selected in that time, it vests the power in the Court House Board, but prohibits this board from designating a park as a site.

The conference voted to invite William D. Guthrie, Vice President of the Bar Association, to represent the fourteen societies that make up the conference when the Mayor gives a public hearing upon the bill.

PICK HIBBEN FOR PRINCETON.

Alumni Think He Will Be the Choice of the Trustees for President.

There is a growing impression among Princeton alumni in this city that Prof. John G. Hibben of the Department of Logic at Princeton will be the next head of that university to succeed Gov. Woodrow Wilson.

The trustees will meet at Princeton about Oct. 16, and with them the special committee appointed to nominate a President. This committee is headed by Cleveland H. Dodge, and its members are some of the most active trustees of the university.

FRIEDMAN WON'T RUN AGAIN.

Young Assemblyman Lost Tammany's Support by His Insurgency.

ALBANY, Oct. 4.—Assemblyman Harold J. Friedman of the Twenty-ninth Assembly District, New York City, announced to-day that he would not be a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Friedman gained the enmity of Tammany Hall by joining the Democratic insurgents in the Legislature in the fight against William F. Sheehan for Senator.

S. P. Callaway to Wed Miss Johnston.

Samuel Thompson Callaway, son of the late Samuel R. Callaway, and Miss Helen Burrowes Johnston, daughter of Raymond B. Johnston of 829 Park Avenue, took out a marriage license yesterday at the City Hall. Their wedding will take place this month. Mr. Callaway is a member of Callaway, Fish & Co. of 37 Wall Street, and lives at 21 East Seventy-sixth Street.

On Monday next all bank statements published in The New York Times will be published in The New York Times Financial and Quotation Review.

BOYS' CLOTHING—ALL-WOOL AND STRONG REINFORCEMENTS — So that they shall wear well as well as look well

Several mothers have come into Macy's and told us that suits which they bought elsewhere, although described as all-wool, wore extremely badly.

Perhaps no term is more sadly abused than "All-Wool." It is a phrase at the tip of the tongue of dealers who probably are unaware of the elementary tests by which wool is proved.

When we sell suits as all-wool, it means that the material has stood the acid test.

This must be taken as an explanation of the superior durability of Macy's Suits compared with other suits widely sold as "all-wool."

Nor do we stop short at making sure that our suits are all-wool. We deem it requisite that boys' suits should be of extra strength, and to that end we double stitch seams where the strain is greatest

In other words, we make our suits for vigorous boys addicted to vigorous sports.

Notwithstanding this guarantee of exceptional durability, we charge no more for our suits than other stores for the inferior qualities which are the general rule.

The price difference on boys' clothing here is often more than sufficient to cover the cost of a new hat.

PANAMA RECALLS WASHINGTON ENVOY

Action Said to be Part of Plan of President Arosemena to Gain Re-election to Presidency.

ENVOY SPIED ON, HE SAYS

Rival of Arosemena for Presidency in Which by Law Man May Not Succeed Himself.

PANAMA, Oct. 4.—President Arosemena states that at a Cabinet meeting yesterday afternoon it was decided to recall the Panaman Minister to the United States, Dr. Belisario Porras as the Government was not satisfied with his services. The Foreign Secretary, Dr. Frederico Boyd, voted against the recall.

The President further states that he will make use of the permission granted him by the Supreme Court and separate himself from the Presidency next February and will then be a candidate for re-election.

The Constitution of Panama provides that no citizen may be a candidate for the Presidency "who has discharged the duties of the office within six months preceding the day of election." This has been construed generally as discouraging a second term. Señor Arosemena, wishing re-election, was advised by his lawyers that it would be unnecessary for him to resign his office as he would comply with the letter of the law by merely absenting himself on leave. Last June Señor Arosemena asked the Supreme Court for permission to leave his official position for a term of six months. The court consented. As he now proposes to begin his vacation in February he will be, according to his partisans, eligible as a candidate in the elections of next July. The Assembly convened in extraordinary session on Sept. 25 last and organized with officers all of whom are prominent members of the opposition. This is the same Assembly which elected Arosemena First Vice President in September, 1910, by virtue of which office he became Acting President for the unexpired term of the late President Obaldia, who was elected for the term of 1908-12.

The determination to remove Señor Porras from his post at Washington has caused indignation among the latter's friends. Members of the National Liberal Directory state that they consider the action of the Cabinet as the result of the political intrigues of his enemies, who fear that the presence of Porras in the American capital may interfere with their plans for the re-election of Arosemena.

Until now the Liberals have had no candidate, but it seems probable that Porras will be selected to head their ticket. The elections promise to be sharply contested.

COLON, Panama, Oct. 4.—The United States transport Kilpatrick arrived here to-day, having on board 900 officers and men of the Tenth Infantry from Fort Sam Houston. They will be stationed in the Canal Zone for the permanent protection of the canal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Political trickery, spying of the Panama Government upon its own legation here, and chicanery designed to cripple his candidacy for the Presidency were alleged by Dr. Belisario Porras to-day to be the reasons underlying his recall from Washington. Dr. Porras attributed the whole affair to a political intrigue of President Arosemena.

Dr. Porras, upon his return from New York, where he had gone to bring to this city his wife, whom he had married by proxy several weeks ago, found the cablegram announcing his recall. He said the cablegram had been timed by his political enemies to reach Washington upon the arrival of his wife, who has been made ill by the developments.

According to Dr. Porras, the people at the time of the election of Obaldia and Arosemena, the Conservative candidates for President and Vice President, respectively, wanted Dr. Porras, a Liberal, for their head, but hasty telegrams to Dr. Porras, then in Chile, said that the only way to save the Government was for him to throw his strength to the Conservative Party, which he did.

Dr. Porras made a remarkable statement of the peculiar condition under which he has been laboring in Washington. In substance this was that there was sent as his attaché at the legation soon after his own appointment, José G. Battalla, a close friend of President Arosemena. Later there came a young man named Ossa, who had been studying the police system in New York for the Panama Government. The latter became private secretary to Dr. Porras.

A little difficulty between these two men developed at the legation, whereupon Ossa told Dr. Porras that Battalla had been sent here by the Panama President to spy on the Minister and to learn anything adverse to him. As a proof Ossa asked that Battalla be called into the room. This was done. The Minister asked if the charges made by Ossa were true. Battalla replied that they were.

Officially the State Department regards the present sudden change in the Panaman Ministry as a purely domestic affair. But the department is keeping a close watch on developments in Panama and what course it will pursue in the event President Arosemena attempts to continue in the office beyond his present term is problematical.

ASSAILS OUR ART TASTE.

America the Dumping Ground for Spurious Masters, Says English Curator.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, Oct. 5.—An amusing correspondence is going on in The Daily Mail as to whether England or America is the more artistic nation.

Lady Jephson set the ball rolling by a Jeremiad over the apathy of the British public toward art. Hugh Blaker, Curator of the Holburne Museum at Bath, does not agree that "transplanting Tattershall Castle brick by brick from one continent to another is evidence of the artistic sense in an individual or nation.

"It is in America," he continues "where we find the worst instances of art degraded to modern commercialism. For instance, in no other country are monstrous skyscrapers permitted, with their white marble cornices of castiron, the latter an architectural development from which we are happily free.

"Again, payment of enormous sums for old masters is no evidence of individual or national taste.

"The accumulation of vast wealth in a few hands, through accidents of commerce, leads to a type of innocent and wealthy collector, who pays farcical sums for names. The true collector could obtain the equivalent many times over for the price of one overvalued picture.

"The United States is still the dumping ground for spurious old masters, and a third of the pictures in the Metropolitan Museum, New York, have no right to the attributions affixed to them.

"Of course, France," Mr. Blaker concludes, "is the most intellectual and artistic nation in the world, and England is as far ahead of America as France is ahead of England.

"Our moneyed classes are more concerned with killing birds, chasing frightened animals, or poking a ball into a little hole in the ground than in patronizing the arts," he says, "and a mode of self-expression which lacks interest or patronage is necessarily in a bad way."

IRISH STRIKE SETTLED.

Companies Do Not Dismiss Men Taken On in Strikers' Places.

DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—The strike declared on the Irish railroads by the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants Sept. 21 was finally settled to-day. An earlier agreement was held up when the companies refused to reinstate certain strikers in places which have been filled by other men. The strikers abandoned their original grievance which was their objection to handling lumber shipped by a firm which was having trouble with its employes.

By the final arrangement the companies agree to reinstate 90 per cent. of the strikers at once, and the remaining 10 per cent. when vacancies occur. They will not dismiss the new men who were taken on during the strike.

COWBOYS SHOW TAFT FRONTIER DAY FEATS

President Witnesses Bucking Broncos and Roping of Wild Horses at Cheyenne.

BILLY TAFT'S RIDER THROWN

Another Pony Named "Teddy Roosevelt" Executes a Whirlwind Flight —"Schedule K" Submissive.

RAWLINS, Wyo., Oct. 4.—President Taft spent to-day in Wyoming, and left Rawlins after a ten minutes' stop to-night for Salt Lake City, where he expects to spend to-morrow. During the day the President stopped at Cheyenne and Laramie.

At Cheyenne, Charlie Irwin of the Reception Committee had arranged a miniature reproduction of the "stunts" made famous at the annual Frontier Day celebration. Mr. Taft watched the bucking broncos, the races between cowboys and the roping of wild horses with great interest. He reviewed several thousand soldiers from Fort D. A. Russell, inspected the town from an automobile, and spoke on his tariff vetoes in the opera house.

At Laramie, the President was taken for a short automobile ride, after which he made a brief speech, and at Rawlins he made another short talk from the rear platform of his car.

The Frontier Day show at Cheyenne was as near a reproduction of the annual affair as Mr. Irwin could make it. There were about sixty cowboys, cowgirls, "bronco busters" and other Western types in the cast. Mr. Taft watched the performance from the judge's stand with United States Senator Warren and Gov. Carey, and appeared to enjoy exceedingly the riding of bucking and outlaw horses.

The stand held only a few thousand persons outside the soldiers from Fort Russell, but the element of the picturesque that the natives say is seen in the annual affairs was lacking to a large degree.

Charlie Irwin showed himself a good stage manager, however, by renaming some of the ponies entered in the bucking contest. There was one called "Billy Taft," another "Archie Butt," a third, that bucked, "Schedule K," and another, which the residents of Cheyenne declared was almost unrideable, Irwin named on the programme, "Teddy Roosevelt." "Reciprocity," "Gin Fizz," "Old Steamboat," and a few other names less pertinent to a President's reception also ran.

"Billy Taft" was the first pony to be saddled, and Jack Martin, a "buster" with real chaps with the hair on them a foot long, tried to ride him. Martin got about twenty feet beyond the judge's stand and then dismounted head foremost.

Next came "Archie Butt," ridden by Frank Carter, former champion buster of the world. Archie proved docile, and Carter rode him easily up the track and into the corral.

"Senator Warren," ridden by Hugh Clark; "Aeroplane," with Bill Baker on his back, and "Reciprocity," ridden by John Rickall, were subdued handily. "Schedule K" gave up almost without a struggle, whereat those in the President's party laughed heartily.

"Teddy Roosevelt," ridden by Paul Henson, insisted upon converting himself into a small whirlwind that revolved at an estimated speed of not less than thirty miles an hour. Henson held on for a couple of minutes, but then decided to descend and chose "Teddy's" head as a stopping block.

In the ladies' half-mile race, Paula Irwin, a little girl with golden hair tied with a bright red ribbon, dressed in a khaki riding suit, came under the wire first, riding as well as most of the men did, standing up in the stirrups, whip in hand, and getting all the plaudits of the crowd.

In the opera house, the President declared that the present wool tariff is too high, and announced his intention to revise it downward. Cheyenne is in the centre of the sheep country, and the President got little applause for that announcement.

Gov. Carey, who accompanied the President across the State, told Mr. Taft that he would be backed by the Wyoming delegation at the next Republican Convention, and that he would receive the electoral vote of the State in November, 1912. This announcement was of particular interest, because Gov. Carey was elected as an independent and against the candidates of the so-called "regular" machine.

At Laramie, President Taft declared that he was going to see to it that the Interior Department at Washington gives quicker action hereafter on matters affecting the public domain.

"We have had an unfortunate condition in the department," said the President.

The controversies between the extremists on both sides of the conservation question, he added, brought about a bitter attack upon the Interior Department, and really interfered with the administration of laws.

"You cannot keep a lot of men under fire, under criticism, under the muckraking system which unfortunately prevails without paralyzing efforts on the administration of the law," he continued. "They become timid. It is a good deal easier to do nothing and to assume no responsibility than it is to go ahead and do things and then take the shafts of criticism and the charges of bad motives."

Mr. Taft said that one result of his trip through the West, and the recent tours of Secretary Fisher of the Interior and Secretary Wilson of Agriculture, would be to stimulate the departments at Washington to rid themselves of red tape and delay.

Senator Warren promised the President to-day to support the peace treaties in the Senate. He declares that the President's speech on the subject unquestionably had met the approval of the people.

D'ANNUNZIO IN TROUBLE.

Must Testify in Countess Mancini's Suit Against Husband.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Gabriele d'Annunzio is in trouble again. According to the Temps Budapest correspondent, his evidence will be required by the Budapest Civil Court in the divorce case in connection with which, not long ago, the Italian courts recognized him as a co-respondent.

A year ago Count Mancini of Florence obtained a legal separation from his wife, naming d'Annuncio as co-respondent. As divorce is not obtainable in Italy, the Count became a Hungarian subject and brought suit in Budapest. This suit the court dismissed to-day, accepting, however, the countersuit brought by the Countess against her husband. D'Annunzio, therefore, is now in a position of having to give evidence against the husband of the woman whom he was alleged to have courted a long time in Italy. It is announced that his evidence will be taken on affidavit in Paris. Count Mancini belongs to an old Italian family. The Countess also comes from a well-known family. Both are very popular in Florence, where they used to entertain a great deal.

WILSON AND THE BREWERS.

Presbyterians Want Taft to Prevent His Presiding at Their Convention.

The Presbytery of Newark has forwarded to President Taft a resolution requesting him to annul the acceptance of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to act as Honorary Chairman at the Brewers' Convention to be held in a short time in Chicago.

The resolution says the liquor trade is abhorrent to the church; that its dangers and evils are recognized by the Government in laws designed for its suppression, or regulation; that any action by a Cabinet officer such as proposed by Secretary Wilson would seem to set upon the trade a stamp of respectability and official patronage, and that such action would tend to imply a community of interest between the brewers and farmers.

WIFE SUES J. J. REYNOLDS.

Charges Cruelty and Seeks Alimony of $50,000 from Importer.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., Oct. 4.—Divorce proceedings were begun to-day by Mrs. John J. Reynolds of New York and Greenwich, who charges that her husband, a wealthy New York importer, has been habitnall yintemperate and cruel to her for the last three years. She asks for alimony of $50,000, and to-day Sheriff Finegan attached her husband's estate here for that sum.

The Reynolds live on the Boston Post Road, near Cos Cob, and have three children, two sons and a married daughter. They move in the best circles, and not a word of domestic troubles has been breathed before the notice of the divorce suit was filed in the Town Clerk's Office here to-day.

Abauot a year ago Mr. Reynolds, who is a commuter, was accused by another commuter of annoying his wife by staring at her while on a train. The commuter struck Mr. Reynolds, and the latter caused his arrest.

The complaint sets forth that Mr. Reynolds is worth at least $150,00, and the wife demands one-third. The case is returnable to the Superior Court at Bridgeport in November.

Had No Case Against Donovan.

When Michael B. Donovan, special agent of the New York Edison Company who was arrested last Saturday evening in the waiting room of the Long Island Railroad at Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, on a charge of felonious assault made by Roderick Mathewson of 258 Fifth Avenue, Broklyn, was arraigned before Magistrate Nash yesterday in the Flatbush court the Magistrate discharged him with the comment that he should not have been arrested as there was absolutely no case against him.

CONNOLLY STARTS IN TO CLEAN UP QUEENS

First Off He'll Investigate Charge That Bribery Helped Make Him Borough President.

JOBS FOR ENHOLT AND DUJAT

Rumored That Aldermen Who Voted for Him Won't Suf er—Harry Miller, a Friend, Succeeds Him on Bench.

Maurice E. Connolly, Police Magistrate, was elected President of the Borough of Queens yesterday, to succeed Lawrence Gresser, who was removed by Gov. Dix. Three Queens Aldermen—Daniel Enholt of Long Island City, Alexander Dujat of Corona, Democrats, and Augustus Shipley of Jamaica, Republican—voted for Connolly, and as this was a majority he was declared elected. Aldermen Frederick Snell of Bayside and Edward Brady of Far Rockaway, both Democrats, voted for Leonard C. L. Smith, consulting engineer in the Borough President's office. A few minutes after his election Mr. Connolly was sworn in by Mayor Gaynor.

The City Hall was thronged with residents of Queens yesterday morning. The Mayor was on hand early and waited some time before all the Aldermen appeared. Brady's name was the first called, and he said he desired to give way to Alderman Shipley, the minority member, before voting. Shipley arose and said:

"Mr. Mayor, I realize the position I am in here to-day, and how important this matter is to the citizens of Queens. I am not here as the tool for any political organization or faction. I am not here either as a Republican or a Democrat, but to do my whole duty to the best of my ability.

"These politicains have hounded and pestered me, driving me from home and annoying my family. I am here to cast my vote for a man who will stand for the best interests of Queens and who will raise it from its present rotten condition. He has assured me that he will improve things in the borough right away. If he takes the position he does so at a personal sacrifice."

Mr. Shipley then cast his vote for Mr. Connolly, and Enholt and Dujut followed.

Mr. Connolly is described as an independent Democrat. He is a graduate of the Law School of Columbia University, and was one of the youngest of the City Magistrates. He is wealthy, and has never taken an active part in Queens Borough politics. He was appointed a Magistrate by Mayor McClellan. After he had been sworn in he was asked for a statement regarding his future policy and said:

"It is only because of the continuance of the deplorable conditions in the borough government for the past ten years that I have accepted this election of Borough President of Queens, and while it is a sacrifice for me and my action is against the advice of my closest friends, I deem it my duty as a citizen, a Democrat, and a property owner, to lend my aid toward removing from Queens the stigma cast upon it by the conduct of certain self-seeking persons holding office under the borough government.

"I had on several occasions declined to become a candidate for this office, and accepted it only when it was made evident to me that my services might be of benefit to my native borough.

"My judicial training teaches me that I should not form an opinion before the evidence is laid before me. I approach a housecleaning in Queens with a fair and open mind, but I shall do my duty without fear or favor, and intend to, in an orderly manner after full opportunity to be heard, remove from office every borough official and borough employe that has not been giving to the borough that efficient, conscientious, and energetic service that the citizens have a right to expect of their public servants.

"The support and counsel of all persons having for their object the welfare of the borough I invite, and I will co-operate with them in all their laudable undertakings. That the policy of my administration cannot be controlled or influenced by either of the leaders of the warring factions of the borough, I wish it distinctly understood, as thoeee same leaders are, in my opinion, largely responsible for the bad repute into which our borough has sunk.

"It is with the full appreciation of the magnitude of the undertaking that I accept the task before me, and, realizing the enormous amount of time and energy that must be consumed in restoring to Queens its good name, I call upon good citizens without respect to party or factional affiliation to aid me in my task, and their support I have the right to expect."

In reply to other questions Mr. Connolly said that he was an independent Democrat and that a year ago, when a certain political combination was mde, he had repudiated the whole affair. He said he was in favor of opening the Belmont tunnel on the best terms that the city could get; that he intended to give immediate attention to grade crossings in Queens as well as sewer problems, and he added that he hoped to have one of the worst spots in the highways "remedied in a week." He said that he would exact a full day's work from all borough employes, but that for the present he would make no appointments, and would go slowly in order to be sure of his ground.

Last night Mr. Connolly said that he would take official cognizance of the charge that bribery had been made in the matter of his election. He said he would write a letter to District Attorney Frederick G. De Witt of Queens and demand that a thorough investigation be made. It was rumored that the new Borough President would appoint Alderman Enholt his Commissioner of Public Works and Alderman Dujat a Commissioner of Sewers.

It appears certain that the new Borough President will build up a new Democratic machine in Queens, and it was predicted that if he does the days of Cassidy and ex-Sheriff Harvey, politically, are numbered. At the last moment, when the election of Connolly seemed assured, Cassidy and Harvey, it is said, joined forces and did their utmost to head him off. James E. Gaffney, the Tammany contractor, it is understood, took an active part in this fight against Connolly.

Last evening the Mayor appointed Harry Miller of 100 Clinton Avenue, Jamaica, a Police Magistrate in the Second District of Queens, to succeed Mr. Connolly. Mr Miller is the son of Louis Miller of Jamaica, and a graduate of the Columbia Law School. He has lived in Queens all his life.

FACE HIS FORTUNE, CHALONER DECLARES

Offers Thirty Pictures of Himself to Prove Likeness to Napoleon and Right to $1,500,000.

FLING AT ALFRED AUSTIN

Says Poet Laureate Proves Decline of English Poetry and Fact That Trance Statements May Come True.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 4.—"Nothing but the fact that I am fighting for $1,500,000 gives me the gall or nerve—call it what you will—to talk at such length regarding my face," said John Armstrong Chaloner at the conclusion of six hours' testimony before Acting United States Commissioner Brooks this afternoon and evening. This was the second day of his testimony in his suit against Thomas T. Sherman of New York, the "committee" of his estate. And Mr. Chaloner's purpose is to show that he is quite sane, in spite of the action taken by his brothers of the Chaloner family in New York, which resulted in his being deprived of control of his share of the Astor fortune.

Mr. Chaloner said yesterday that he had observed a new force—the application of which he demonstrated for the benefit of the Commissioner and the assembled counsel—and that his features had gradually undergone great changes, tending to bring about a resemblance between himself and Napoleon Bonaparte.

"This is not my choosing," said Mr. Chaloner, "it is forced on me by circumstances. My nose, ears, and eyes were lugged into this case, not by me. Those organs were specifically mentioned in the commitment papers which sent me to Bloomingdale Asylum, and any one who understands the case knows I had nothing to do with the preparation of those blessed papers. Mut, because my property is at stake, my face is my fortune, so to speak."

Mr. Chaloner introduced over thirty pictures of himself to-day to show that his features have been changing and growing to resemble the great Napoleon's.

"There are just two cases of well authenticated statements made in the trance state having been proved true," said Mr. Chaloner this evening. "One was by the French girl who predicted the fire in the charity bazaar in Paris; the other my own trance statement regarding a coming change in my features. As I have said this trance statement of mine was twisted and changed by the alienists to read as if I had used, while in the trance state, the past tense, whereas I used the future tense.

"The French girl also predicted that English poetry would sink to the lowest ebb it has ever known, and this is proved true by the making of Alfred Austin poet laureate. The French seeress also said that the British poetic genius would leave Albion and perch on the shoulders of Columbia. That prediction is probably false, for she added that there would be such poetry written in the United States as the world has never before known. But there is always a false element in a trance statement."

COURT INTERPRETER TANDLICH SUSPENDED

Judge Swann Hears More Accusations That He Collected Hush Money for Police.

WALDO ACTS PROMPTLY

Has Charges Preferred Against a Lieutenant, a Sergeant, and Six Others—Horay Continues His Story.

Chief Justice Russell of Special Sessions suspended Interpreter Michael Tandlich yesterday from further connection with Special Sessions pending the investigation being made into the startling disclosures made by John Horay, a man who is in the Tombs awaiting sentence following his conviction of grand larceny. Michael Tandlich made an elaborate denial of all the charges made against him in Horay's confession. He left the Criminal Courts Building immediately after being suspended.

Police Commissioner Waldo, upon receiving a copy of Horay's confession from Judge Swann of General Sessions, had charges made against Lieut. Mills, Sergt. Merritt, and Policemen Slattery, Burke, Lobell, Bauer, Byrne, and Haggerty of the Union Market Station, who were mentioned in the confession as having attempted to help clear Policeman Reuben Huntington, indicted for helping Horay rob John Kondratiuck, a Russian, of $180 on the night of May 14 at Horay's home, 297 Avenue B.

Horay and his wife and child were with Judge Swann and Assistant District Attorney Press in the Judge's chambers for the greater part of yesterday. After the conference Judge Swann gave out a statement in which he said that Horay and his wife had told him that Frederick Ward, who is under indictment for receiving $30 under the pretense that he was going to bribe the District Attorney, is a warm personal friend of Tandlich's and that Tandlich got a friend to bail Ward out of the Tombs.

"This man Ward," according to Horay's statement as given by Judge Swann, "is a man that Tandlich uses as a witness when he has the need of a witness. Tandlich himself was implicated in the sending of seventy men to South Carolina to build a railroad, and collected between $5 and $25 from each man. When the men got there they were put to work waist deep in water and mud, and they got no pay, only board and lodging. The United States Secret Service agents endeavored to catch Tandlich on the charge of peonage. Tandlich jumped out of the window of his apartment at 85 Avenue B, which is one flight up, but a detective, waiting on the street, captured him. This was about five years ago.

"Henry Lopacki was arrested on Avenue A, at Ninth Street, as a suspicious character by two detectives, and he gave $100 at one time and an unknown amount of money at another time to Tandlich to give to detectives James Brennan and George Bond, or Bonds, (a large man,) known to me by sight. Lopacki said he gave the money to Tandlich because Tandlich said that he had to pay the detectives, and right through this entire matter Tandlich got money from Lopacki to protect him and his wife.

"Henry Lopacki's wife was arrested about three years ago for shoplifting. She was arrested by Detective Joseph Bender of the Central Office. Lopacki offered to bribe Detective Bender by giving him money to let his wife go, and Bender refused to accept it, and asked Lopacki if he knew anybody doing that sort of business, and Lopacki told him that detectives who had arrested him had accepted two sums of money.

"Detective Bender reported the matter to the Inspector at Headquarters, and the Inspector caused the arrest of Tandlich, and he was held in $5,000 bail, and remained in the City Prison for about three weeks, when a Mrs. Gluk bailed him out.

"Tandlich delayed the trial of this case, and one day Fred Ward said to Tandlich in my presence that if Tandlich would pay him $150 he would be his witness and fix the case. Tandlich said: 'If you will do so much for me I will not only pay you $150, but I will pay you $250.' Ward said, 'All right, give me something to bind the bargain,' and Tandlich gave him $60 in my presence. They then went to see Henry Lopacki on Eleventh Street, near Avenue B, and Lopacki said: 'Pay me back the money I gave you to give to the detectives and I will get out of the way.' Tandlich paid him $300 in my presence, and then Lopacki left town, so that the people could not find him as a witness for the prosecution."

According to Judge Swann, the statement goes on to explain that Detective Bender made every effort to locate Lapacki, and even went so far as to spend his own money. Michael Tandlich, Jr., the son of the interpreter, is also mentioned in Horay's confession, and mention is also made of Tandlich's wife.

District Attorney Whitman, when asked about the case last night, would only say that it was very possible that several indictments might be found to-day against persons mentioned by Horay.

"I have been extremely surprised by the disclosures made by Horay," said Judge Swann. "They show an appalling condition of affairs, and a most extensive ramification of pervertive influence. The men whose names he has brought in are not at all the sort of men whose outward conduct would lead you to suspect them. Huntington, who is charged with assisting in the actual robbery, has served eighteen years on the force and has never had a charge made against him.

"It seems to me that they—that is, Huntington and the other officers who worked with him—escaped discovery because they made it their plan to stick to the ignorant immigrant class of criminals, who are comparatively easy to fleece. If I can I will convict every one of those men of the perjury they committed, and I shall work untiringly to convict the other police officers who have been involved in any way in this case. None of these scoundrels shall escape me."

Benefit for St. Mark's Hospital.

The annual Thanksgiving concert in aid of St. Mark's Hospital, 177 Second Avenue, will be held in Carnegie Hall on Dec. 1. The proceeds of the entertainment, by well-known artists, serve to make up the hospital's deficit. The institution, which is non-sectarian, cares for poor medical, surgical, and maternity patients, provides a day and night dispensary, and gives free meals to hungry applicants. Checks may be sent to Dr. Andrew Von Grimm at the hospital.

PLANS MT. McKINLEY TRIP.

McPhee of Alaska, Who Financed Lloyd Party, Says Peak Was Scaled.

W. H. McPhee, better known the length and breadth of Alaska as "Bill" McPhee arrived here yesterday from Fairbanks, Alaska. It was he, who, with E. W. Griffin and Gus Peterson, financed the Lloyd party's successful march to the top of Mount McKinley in April of last year. Mr. McPhee says he came here to see the city, but at the same time admitted that he was thinking about organizing another expedition to "the top of the continent."

When it was announced that Lloyd's party had reached the summit of Mount McKinley there were some who were skeptical. Among them was Prof. H. C. Parker of Columbia University, who himself had failed to reach the summit in previous attempts. The polar controversy was also aglow at that time, and the supplementary announcement that the Lloyd party had found none of Dr. Cook's "records in a cartridge shell" on the peak of the mountain, gave rise to the charge that the Lloyd expedition had been planned simply to discredit the pole "discoverer."

"I want to tell you one thing," said Mr. McPhee soon after his arrival in town, "and it's about some people not believing that the Lloyd party reached the top of Mount McKinley. Anyone who wants to tell me to my face that the expedition, which I helped to finance, did not get to the peak and plant the United States flag there will have to go back with me to Alaska and I'll fix it so that he can see the flag for himself."

When Mr. McPhee talks it is with the weight of his 230 or more pounds behind each word. Although only a little past middle age, his hair is almost white. He is a miner of gold, and owns the Hotel Washington at Fairbanks, Alaska.

"I'm a pioneer," he said, "and I want you to say so. I did see New York once, forty years ago, and every time I look to right or left or up or down I'm more surprised than ever in my life at the wonderful things in this city, but for all that, I guess I'd starve in New York and when I've seen everything I want to get back to the mountains of Alaska. I'll tell Tom Lloyd everything I've seen.

"I'd been in Fairbanks for a long time before we decided to scale Mount McKinley. I had seen it so often—we're the nearest town to it, only about a hundred miles from the base of the mountain—that I felt sure no man could ever climb to the top. It was then I ran across my old friend Tom Lloyd. Tom told me he didn't believe that Dr. Cook ever got to the top of the mountain. He said that there wasn't one man in ten thousand who had the lungs to climb above four miles into the air on a steep mountain side. He told me that he himself knew the mountain better than anyone alive, and said he knew another man who also knew it from A to Z, and that he had a notion to try his luck with the other man.

"I planked down $500 on that idea, and then I met Gus Peterson and Griffin, and we decided to stake the Lloyd party to a round trip. They made it, those boys did, and they can do it again. Why, do you know, I don't believe more than a few men outside of Lloyd's party in the whole world could do that trick. It simply takes pioneers, men who were born on the top of a high mountain.

"I don't deny that I'm thinking about starting another expedition. I hate this idea of anyone doubting Tom Lloyd's word, and the only way to fix that up, I suppose, is to take one of those 'doubting Thomases' along on the trip.

"The boys made mistakes last time, I know. They lost some valuable instruments because they didn't know how to carry them. Not one of them knew how to shoot a camera, and they were too modest to want to make a fuss over the trick after they had turned it. People who know Tom Lloyd never doubted him. There's a sixteen-foot pole buried in rocks on the pinnacle of the American continent, and if the wind hasn't chewed it all up there's a silk United States flag fluttering from the end of the pole.

"We won't start on the next expedition this Winter—perhaps a year later. The trip must be made in the middle of the Winter, because the big chasms are frozen over then. We would take about six men and a few teams of dogs. I'm pretty sure that Tom Lloyd, Daniel Patterson, W. R. Taylor, and Charles McGonigle, the four men who got there last year, would all go again, and Lloyd knows of two others, he says, who could stand the climb.

"If Dr. Cook wants to go along and guide them to his hidden records, well, I suppose he could be accommodated. Dr. Parker, too, maybe."

Mr. McPhee, with his brother, J. A. McPhee, a hotel man of San Francisco, is staying at the Grand Union Hotel. They expect to return to the West in a few days.

TRIANGLE WAIST DEFENSE.

Those Killed or Hurt in Fire Assumed Risks—Owners Not Negligent.

The first indications of the defense of Max Blanck and Isaac Harris, owners of the Triangle Waist Company, in whose plant on Washington Place 145 persons lost their lives, was given yesterday, when their attorneys filed answers to several of the $500,000 worth of damage suits brought against them by persons injured in the fire and by the heirs of those killed.

The answers set up that the persons injured or killed assumed all the risks and dangers of their employment, and that the risks were "obvious and apparent," as well as that the various catastrophes were due to the negligence and carelessness of "fellow-servants" and not to the negligence of the employers.

WOMAN SENT DOCTOR ON IMAGINARY CALLS

He Has Her Put Under Bonds and Now Sleeps in Peace for the First Time in Three Years.

PLEADED, THEN MAULED HIM

After He Got a Warrant, He Says—Dr. Young No Longer Dashes About Montclair's Hills.

Dr. John Hichnor Young, a prominent physician of Montclair, N. J., who for the last three years has been sent wandering on wild goose chases over the Montclair hills in answer to urgent telephone messages by day and by night from a woman who pretended to be now a member of one prominent family and now of another—only to find each call a false alarm and a perfectly well but indignant family at the other end of his long chase, slept undisturbed by any such interruption for the first time in many weeks last night.

Dr. Young attributed his release from his three-year-long persecution to the fact that Miss Isabella Williams, a member of a well-known Montclair family, had been arraigned in court yesterday morning after a night spent in the police station, and bound over in $300 to keep the peace on a charge of malicious mischief preferred by the physician, who declared that he had traced his persecution over the telephone to her. Miss Williams left Montclair last night, her family, according to the physician, having agreed to see to it that she should not remain there.

Miss Williams is a daughter of Frank P. Williams, a retired merchant or North Fullerton Street and Walnut Avenue, and a sister of Arthur Williams of Grove Hill Place, who is a member of the Montclair Club and the Montclair Athletic Club, and third baseman in the Athletic Club's team. Dr. Young is a member of both these clubs and has known the younger Williams ever since his boyhood, both having attended the same high school. Miss Williams herself, according to the doctor, was well educated, her family sending her for a time to a college near the St. Lawrence River. In court yesterday, where she was bound over by Recorder Henry L. Yost, she said she was 32 years old. Dr. Young is several years younger.

Dr. Young is a graduate of Amherst, class of 1902, and of the New York Homeopathic Hospital. He has been practicing in Montclair for about five years.

He said last night that the ony relation he had had with Miss Williams was that of a physician to a patient, she having called at his house, he said, infrequently—about once every month or two—and then usually accompanied by a woman friend. It was not until about a year and a half ago, he said, that he began to suspect her of playing a part in the annoyance to which he was subjected by the false telephone calls.

These, he said, began three years ago, and scarcely a day passed without at least one of them. They came at all hours of the day and night, sent by some woman whose voice, whether disguised or otherwise, he could not recognize. In each case the woman said she belonged to some prominent—and distant—family.

"Scarcely awake, I would tumble into my automobile after midnight or in the wan hours of the morning," the doctor said last night, "only to find after I reached the distant house that there was nobody sick there. It placed me in dreadfully embarrassing positions. Matters were made worse by the fact that often, when some real patient of mine called up and asked me to come there in a hurry, I mistook the voice for that of my persistent annoyer, and gave an angry answer, threatening to notify the police."

Dr. Young declared that he could imagine no motive Miss Williams could have in persecuting him in this manner.

"She was suffering from a nervous trouble," he said, "and was, in fact, irresponsible. Often, I have discovered since, she would call me on the telephone a few minutes after leaving my office as a patient, and would send me on some wild chase. I knew her erratic habits caused much annoyance also to her family, who finally arranged that she should live apart from them on an allowance from her father."

Dr. Young was unwilling to say just how he had finally, a year and a half ago, convinced himself that Miss Williams and his annoyer were one and the same person. He said, however, that he was quite sure of that, and had often taxed her with it when she telephoned to him.

Finally, on Tuesday, he said, she succeeded once more in luring him on a long wild-goose chase exhausting all his patience, and then he determined, despite his regard for her family, to have her arrested. He applied to Recorder Yost and had a warrant issued. Miss Williams, he says, learned this, and on Tuesday night called at his home. At first she pleaded with him to take no action against her, but finding her entreaties vain, he says, she turned on him as he escorted her to the front porch, and treated him to what he characterized last night as a "mauling." Only the intervention of members of the doctor's family saved him from being hurt.

"My mother entreated me after that to take no action against the woman," Dr. Young said last night, "and she as well as other members of my family were in constant fear that I would be attacked and have acid thrown into my face, as Miss Williams threatened to do."

But the physician was firm, and notified Police Chief Henry Gallagher. An hour later Detective Reilly arrested Miss Williams near her boarding house. She gave her address as 434 Bloomfield Avenue, where there is an employment agency of Mrs. E. C. Bone, and where she had lived several days. Mrs. Bone said last night, however, that she knew little of the young woman, other than that she came of a good family and seemed to have been well educated. For a time, she said, Miss Williams had worked as a cashier and bookkeeper in a drug store, but had had no employment apparently since last Summer.

Failure to procure a bondsman Miss Williams spent Tuesday night in the police station. Yesterday morning she was arraigned before Recorder Yost at a private hearing and, pleading guilty, was bound over to keep the peace. Her father signed the bond.

Dr. Young declared that she had made no attempt to explain her annoyance of him, and made no counter-charges against him.

Frank P. Williams, father of the young woman, refused last night to comment on the case or to say whether or not he had procured his daughter's removal from Montclair, or to tell where she is now. Her brother, too, could not be seen at his home or at the Montclair Club. The elder Williams seemed greatly disturbed by the notoriety the case had caused.

Dr. Young and the police recalled yesterday that several years ago the late Dr. C. W. Butler was annoyed in much the same way by a young woman who persisted in calling him on the telephone. She was detected, however, and promised not to repeat the offense. Two years ago, likewise, Dr. J. W. Kirchbaum of 207 Bellevue Avenue was annoyed by many false calls on the telephone, and appealed to the police. He finally offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of his annoyer, and thereafter the annoyance ceased.

BALLOONS START TO-DAY.

To Win Lahm Cup Contestants Must Cover More Than 1,171 Miles.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 4.—With the exception of Lieut. Vogt of the German Army, all the entrants in the James Gordon Bennett and the Lahm Cup balloon races, which start from here to-morrow, are now in the city. Lieut. Vogt is on the way from New York.

Six balloonists, representing three countries, France, Germany, and the United States, will participate in the race for the Bennett trophy. Six Americans, the three who fly in the Bennett race and three others, will try for the Lahm Cup. The record of Alan R. Hawley, 1,171.9 miles, must be broken to win the Lahm Cup.

The first balloon in the Bennett race will sail at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and the others will follow at intervals of five minutes.

The entrants for the Bennett trophy are:

FRANCE—Condor, Emile Dubonnet, pilot; Pierre Dupont, aide.

GERMANY—Berlin I., Lieut. Leopold Vogt, pilot; Lieut. M. Schoeller, aide. Berlin II., Lieut. Hans Gericke, pilot; J. O. Dunker, aide.

UNITED STATES—Buckeye, Lieut. Frank P. Lahm, pilot; J. H. Wade, Jr., aide. Million Population Club, William F. Assman, pilot; J. C. Hurlburt, aide. America II., John Berry, pilot; Paul McCullough, aide.

The entrants for the Lahm Cup only are:

KANSAS CITY II.—Capt. H. E. Honeywell, pilot; John Watts, aide.

PENNSYLVANIA II.—Arthur T. Atherholt, pilot; E. R. Hunneywell, aide.

All of the balloons in the Bennett race are 80,000 foot capacity. They will be filled with de-carbonized natural gas.

ROOSEVELT NOT A WHALER.

Outlook Office Rejects a California Report—But He'll Be Busy.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Oct. 4.—After hunting bear in Colorado, elephants in Africa, and various other game in his own country, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, it is intimated, may come to Long Beach to hunt whales. Capt. Loop, whose power boat is fitted up for the pursuit, is authority for the announcement that he intends to come here to harpoon the sea mammals.

At The Outlook office yesterday it was said that the contributing editor was unlikely to go whale hunting in the near future, having other business in hand. Col. Roosevelt was announced last night to speak before the Civic Forum and Metropolitan Child Labor Committee on Oct. 20 on "The Conservation of Womanhood and Childhood." This, it was said, was the only other public engagement which Col. Roosevelt has, and he does not intend to enter into any others for an indefinite period.

And Got It Back Just After Reporting Loss to the Police.

Samuel W. Adler of 140 West Sixty-ninth Street recovered early yesterday jewelry belonging to Mrs. Adler which he valued at $10,750, and which was lost in a taxicab the night before.

Mrs. Adler had taken the jewelry downtown in the afternoon to have it cleaned. She dined with her husband and a woman friend at a Broadway restaurant, where she gave the jewelry, which was in a chamois bag, to her husband. He put the bag in a side pocket of his coat. After dining the Adlers went in a taxicab to another restaurant, where they stayed for some time. Then they took another taxicab and drove uptown.

At 120th Street and Broadway the jewelry was missed and a search was begun. The cab was searched and then the party hunted for the first cab they had. The search was unsuccessful and finally Mr. Adler reported the loss to the West Sixty-eighth Street Police Station.

Half an hour later, O'Hara, who has the taxi stand at Sixty-sixth Street and Sixth Avenue, where Adler got the second taxicab, and James O'Brien, the chauffeur who drove the party to Harlem and back, called at Mr. Adler's house and handed over the bag of jewels, which O'Brien said he found in the cab after the party had left.

The chauffeur was rewarded by Mr. Adler.

DRESSMAKER NOW IN EXCLUSIVE BLOCK

Private House Next Door but One to Huntington Home Bought at $220,000 for Trade.

A WOMAN'S OWN ENTERPRISE

Involving the Story of What a Resourceful Business Woman Has Accomplished in Eight Years in New York.

When a real estate item announcing the purchase of the Havemeyer house at 10 East Fifty-seventh Street from Public Service Commissioner W. R. Willcox was published a few days ago, there was a great deal of speculation among real estate dealers and others as to who had bought the property, what was the price paid for it, and what the property was to be used for. Yesterday it became known that the purchaser is the T. M. & J. M. Fox Co., one of the oldest and most exclusive dressmaking establishments in the United States. The price paid was about $220,000.

The house is set in the midst of the residences of wealthy New Yorkers. The next house but one is the Collis P. Huntington home at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street. The house at No. 8 is a red-brick house, built by John F. Carroll. Whe nit was offered for sale not long ago there was a tremor among the people of the block lest commercialism should touch their neighborhood, and the house was promptly bought by Mrs. Huntington at a high price. On the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street is the Harry Payne Whitney house; on the northwest is the old Vanderbilt home; on the northeast is the residence of Mrs. Herman Oelrichs. The homes of a dozen well-known New York families are in the same block.

More interesting even than the purchase itself, however, is the fact that behind it is the story of what a woman with a clear mind, a willingness to work hard, and a determination to succeed, can do in New York.

The T. M. & J. M. Fox Company is Mrs. Edward Douglas, who took over the large establishment of the Fox Sisters eight years ago without previous experience in dressmaking, and without business thaining of any sort. In the eight years intervening not only has Mrs. Douglas brought her business to its present successful point, but she has been the mistress of a home, has reared a family of four boys and two girls, and found time to travel and study in Europe. Her husband, Edward P. Douglas, is not financially interested in the firm of T. M. & J. M. Fox. They have a beautiful home at 326 West End Avenue.

Mrs. Douglas is a native of Dublin. She is the daughter of Thomas Mayne, who sat in Parliament for eighteen years for Tipperary. She married a prosperous Dublin merchant, Peter White, who was widely interested in Irish industries and in Irish products. At that time Irish goods were not sought after by the people who wanted the best things, but in 1886, with the coming to Dublin of the Earl of Aberdeen, a movement for improving and extending the sale of Irish products began to take hold.

The Countess of Aberdeen was the leader of this movement, and in her work she came in contact with Mr. White and his wife. Seven years later, when the World's Fair at Chicago was opened, the Irish Village, with a great show of Irish laces and linens, jewelry, and art goods, stood to attest the effectiveness of the movement, and to spread the knowledge of Irish goods in the Western world. The Countess of Aberdeen had planned to supervise the Irish Village at Chicago herself, but at that time the Earl was sent to Canada as Governor General.

Meantime, Peter White, the first husband of Mrs. Douglas, had died. The Countess sought out his widow to go to Chicago in her place. This was Mrs. Douglas's first introduction to America. When the fair closed, such a good demand for Irish goods had been created out of practically nothing that she was prevailed upon to stay in Chicago as an exponent of Irish industries. The "Irish Shop" was opened up in Wabash Avenue in the rear of the old Palmer House. Mrs. Douglas ran the shop for ten years, and when she left she closed its doors for good and always. She did not care to have any one else in charge of what had been so intimate and personal a venture.

This was in 1903. The business of the Fox concern was offered to Mrs. Douglas at this time. It was a very old business with an exclusive and aristocratic flavor. It had been founded about 1885 by the four Fox sisters, who had all become wealthy out of it and were ready to retire. They had the old house at 53 East Thirty-fourth Street, and employed about 225 persons. There was no nameplate on the door and nothing to suggest that behind the doors a business enterprise was established.

The Fox sisters never printed a line about their business in the newspapers. They confined their dealings to the fashionable set, and not even a theatrical star of the first magnitude could get a gown at their shop. When a stranger came whose introductions were not precisely correct word was sent down that there was nothing to show. This policy was immensely successful. The Fox sisters became rich.

The establishment was offered to Mrs. Douglas and accepted by her, though she entered upon the management without knowledge of design or dress goods, New York women, or Paris fashions. For the first two years it was difficult. There were many times when failure seemed imminent. But after the first hard period had passed Mrs. Douglas found that she had been able to keep all the old customers of the Fox Company and was beginning to add new ones.

Not a custom of the old concern was broken. Not a piece of furniture in the house was moved. The flower vases stand to-day as they were arranged by the astute Misses Fox many years ago. The girls went on working for Mrs. Douglas as they had for the Misses Fox. Of the original 225 only two have left in eight years except to get married.

But the neighborhood of East Thirty-fourth Street began to change from a residence section to a street of shops and hotels. The atmosphere of a great dressmaking establishment began to pass away, and this prompted Mrs. Douglas to look for a new location. She determined that this should be in a fine residential section.

Two years ago she began to consider the house that she has just bought. She planned constantly what she could put into it to make it her ideal. She went abroad and searched the capitals of Europe for furnishings. When the negotiations for the purchase were completed she had in her possession practically all that she required.

By next week the house will be turned over to Mrs. Douglas. In her own mind, plans for the changes are complete, but the architects and decorators are still working on their part of the changes and bringing things around to the owner's ideas. The work will go on as in the past. People will pass the house and never know that the gowns of the richly dressed women they pass in Fifth Avenue are being made inside. Certainly few will guess that the house represents the business success of a woman of unusual perseverance and originality.

Parker Answers Wireless Suits.

Attorneys for George H. Parker, Western agent of the United Wireless Telegraph Company, who is now serving a sentence in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., filed yesterday with the County Clerk his answer to suits brought against him by stockholders of the company. Parker declared he was led by officers of the company to believe that the stock he sold was treasury stock. He admitted he sold more than 85,000 shares, representing it as treasury stock, and that his commissions were $1,815,945, but he asserted that he had to disburse all but $200,000 of this to sub-agents and employes.

DIG INTO BERGEN CO. BIDS.

Court House Committee's Counsel Questions Authority of Assemblymen.

The committee of five Assemblymen appointed at the last session of the Legislature to investigate the building of the new Court House in Bergen County at Hackensack, which has cost $1,500,000 to date, began their work in Hackensack yesterday.

Prosecutor Wendel J. Wright, who has been counsel to the Court House Committee since its formation, was asked if he noticed in the Fissell bid that 19 amounts in as many items had been changed from typewriter to pen and ink figures, making a change of $76,000. The Prosecutor said he had noticed the change, and he remembered that W. E. Ellis, clerk of the committee, had commented upon the changes at the time the bid was read.

Ellis was bluntly asked if the changes were made before the bid was presented, to which he replied in the affirmative.

W. H. Fissell, the contractor, was then asked when he raised the amounts in his bid, and he replied that he had done so the morning he reached Hackensack on the day the bids were received. The contractor could not remember why he raised the bid.

William H. Cane of F. W. & W. H. Cane, contractors, who were one of the bidders on the Court House, said that he made notes as the bids were read off and he concluded that Fissell was the lowest bidder and not the John T. Brady Company of New York, which was awarded the contract.

Contractor Fissell was asked if he made any inquiry to determine whether or not he was the lowest bidder, and he answered in the negative.

Ex-Prosecutor W. B. Gourley of Paterson, as special counsel to the Court House Committee, caused a sensation at the investigation before it was fairly started by declaring that the legislative committee had no legal right to make such an investigation, saying that as the Legislature had adjourned sine die, the committee had no right to continue.

Advertising Men to Meet.

The first meeting of the season of the Advertising Men's League will be held this evening in the rooms of the Aldine Association, Fifth Avenue Building, Broadway and Twenty-third Street. The meeting will be followed by a dinner. The topic for discussion at the meeting is "How Can the Advertising in This Community Be Improved?" and there will be addresses on the "Advertising Done in This Section During the Past Year."

FIGHT THE COMMERCE BOARD

Pacific Railroads Seek Injunction Against Lower Rate Order.

WASHINGTON, Oct 4.—The transcontinental railways to-day asked the Inter-State Commerce Commission to suspend its orders in what are known as the Pacific Coast cases, involving the heaviest railroad traffic in the United States, until the Commerce Court has had time to pass upon their merits. The railroads also asked the Commerce Court to enjoin the commission in the matter. Neither the commission nor the court took any action to-day.

The orders of the commission will not become effective until Nov. 15, and it was considered by the commission that the Commerce Court would have ample time meanwhile to pass upon the questions involved.

Moonshiners Get Prison Sentences.

Charged with having operated an illicit distillery at 71 Broome Street, Henry Fischer and Solomon Gardman were found guilty yesterday before Judge Hough in the Criminal Branch of the United States Circuit Court and sentenced to nine months' imprisonment and $500 fine each. Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Sinsel raided the place on April 2.

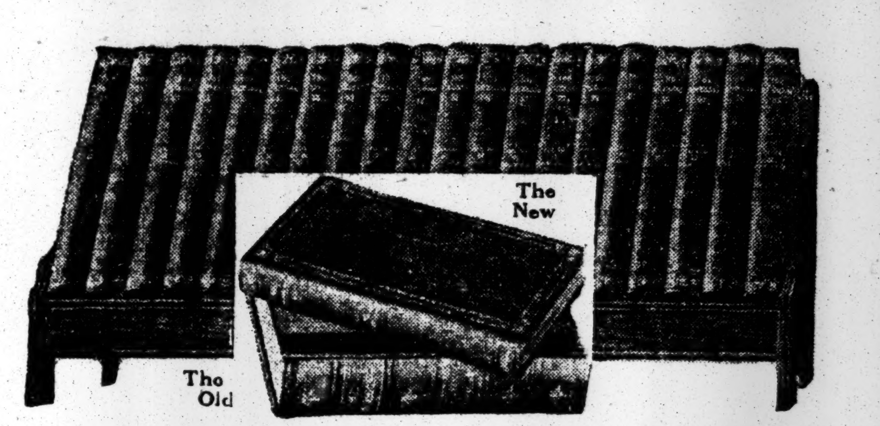
Brentano's AMERICANA Distribution a decided success from the start

When we arranged a special limited distribution of this great Library of Universal Reference, we were first well assured of its supreme value, of the high esteem in which it is held by those who own and use it, and of its superior utility, attractiveness and convenience as now printed and bound.

Furthermore, by reason of the distribution of the edition of 2,500 sets, this offer is made at a figure considerably below the publishers' regular price; we also arranged a very convenient payment-plan, thus placing within the easy reach of those who act promptly one of these superb twenty-volume sets.

An American Encyclopaedia for Americans



The OLD and the NEW.

These two volumes, so unlike in size, contain exactly the same subject matter and illustrations. The old is on ordinary paper, the new on India paper. The old is 2¾ inches thick, the new 1 inch thick; the old weighs 6½ pounds, the new 2½ pounds; the old (full set) weighs 104 pounds, the new (full set) weighs 50 pounds; the old (full set) requires 3 feet and 8 inches of shelf room, the new only 20 inches of shelf room.

Printed on India Rice-Paper: Bound in Flexible Leather

Issued under the Editorial Supervision of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN COMPILING DEPARTMENT

The New (1911) Encyclopaedia Americana

a really great and supremely convenient general and special library of reference —"really great," because of its 2,387 special writers; its 65,287 subjects treated; its 2,114 half-tone illustrations; its 400 special engravings and drawings; its 160 maps; its 126 superb plates in color, the whole representing ten years of co-operative work involving an outlay of more than a million dollars.

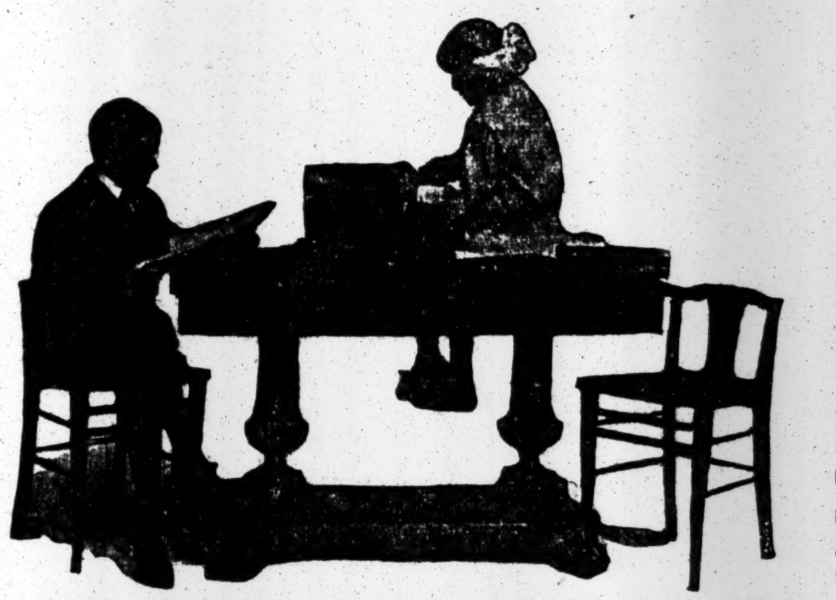
—"supremely convenient," because its information is so easy to find, and because the work is printed on India rice-paper and bound in flexible leather, making an 800-page volume about as easy to handle as a magazine.



Of distinct value in the home to aid the young folks in their studies day by day

—an exhaustive "general" reference work because it covers the whole range of the world's knowledge in History, Biography, Literature, Science, Art, Education, Government, and so on.

—an accurate "special" reference work because it carefully treats so many special subjects, such as Aviation, Animal-Industry, Child-Labor, Child-Training, Conservation, Diet and Food, Drug-Habits, Dry Farming, Eugenics, Fletcherism, Adulteration, Forestry, Good Roads, Home-Economics, Irrigation, Municipal Ownership, Parcels-Post, Public Utilities, Psychical Research, Trusts, Reciprocity, and so on.

helps lift the whole household to a higher educational level

Whatever other reference work you may have in your home you still need The AMERICANA, not alone because of its all-embracing scope for purposes of consultation, but also because its articles, even on technical subjects are interesting and readable, thus making the work so attractive for youthful readers that they are led into knowledge-paths on which they otherwise might not have entered—especially under the guidance of the ordinary encyclopaedia. You should own The AMERICANA, and you can own it; you can make it

yours at considerably less than the publishers' regular price

Your old Encyclopaedia may be turned in for cash

If you now have an encyclopaedia that is old, out of date, unsatisfactory—in short, not just what you want and ought to have—there's a market for it through us, and our store facilities for disposing of old sets enable us to pay you more than other publishers, thus enabling you to place The AMERICANA in your home at a cost that will touch your pocket lightly. Find a place for it or make one.

"Ring Out the Old; Ring In the New!"

But first of all, we want you to know just what The AMERICANA is and so we've prepared a prospectus that will give you a very good idea of the thousands of subjects treated, of the hundreds of special writers, of the many signed articles, the elaborate illustrations, the striking India-paper feature, the rich flexible leather binding and so on. 'Tis a work you'll prize and be proud to show to your friends.

PRINCETON'S OPEN FOOTBALL WINS

Rutgers Defeated by Forward Passes, Fake Formations, and Line Shifts.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 4.—Princeton and Rutgers, the exponents of American collegiate football in 1869, resumed athletic relations to-day after a lapse of fifteen years, and the Tigers romped away with the long end of a 37—0 score. Open football was distinctly responsible for Princeton's sweep, and 8,000 spectators were treated to a dazzling array of forward passes, fake formations, and line shifts.

Tal. Pendleton, the Tiger quarter back, electrified the crowd in the second period by receiving Capt. Alverson's kickoff on his own goal line and running the length of the field for the Tigers' second score. Numerous bursts of speed on the part of the Tiger backs made the game spectacular at times.

Princeton's only weakness was their inability to advance the ball by mass plays. In both the first and fourth periods the Tigers rushed the ball to the visitors' three-yard line, only to be held for downs. Except on these two occasions, the 'Varsity line showed an improvement over the weak charging which has been so much in evidence up to this time.

The Tiger coaching squad had certainly planned that this game should be one grand exhibition of forward passing. Twelve forward passes were tried, three of them resulting in good gains and two more resulting in touchdowns. Penfield and Wight and Baker and Penfield proved to be the best tandems at this play, both Wight and Baker carrying the ball to the goal line from the 40-yard line, the former failing to score when he lost the ball after a hard tackle. Farr recovered it.

Princeton failed to score in the first period, when they resorted almost entirely to mass plays, but they managed to keep the ball in Rutgers territory throughout the quarter. Long runs by Sawyer and De Witt, Pendleton's sensational getaway and run from midfield by Sawyer toward the end of the period made the score 16 to 0 at the end of the second period.

Two forward passes and Farr's 30-yard run on a fake kick formation added eighteen points in the third period, and an easy field goal from Baker's toe was the lone score in the last period. Elmendorf's fierce tackling and Alverson's all-around work were the features of Rutgers play. Summary and line-up:

Princeton.	Position.	Rutgers.
Norman, Phillips	Left tackle	Foster
Wilson, McLean, Swan, Baker	Left guard	Alverson
Bluethenthal, Ormond	Center	Julie
Winants, McCormick	Right Guard	McCallum, Van Winkle
Brown, Lowe, Speers	Right tackle	Toohey
Wight, Simonds, Andrews	Right end	McGovern
Pendleton, Farr	Quarter back	White
Sawyer, Hammond	Left half back	Elmendorf
Dewitt, Baker	Right half back	Gay
Penfield, Hendrickson	Full back	Archibald

Touchdowns—Farr, (2,) Penfield, Pendleton, Sawyer, Baker. Goals from touchdowns—Baker, (3,) Pendleton. Field goal—Baker. Referee—Mr. Morice, Pennsylvania. Umpire—Mr. Williams, Pennsylvania. Field judge—Mr. Crowell, Swarthmore. Head linesman—Mr. Hopkins, Haverford. Periods—10 minutes each.

Dartmouth Beats Bowdoin.

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 4.—Dartmouth's football team showed much improvement to-day over the work in the first two games of the season, and defeated Bowdoin, 23 to 0. In the first period Barends made a fair catch on the forty-three-yard line and tried for a field goal, but failed. The first touchdown came in the second period on rushes. A forward pass to Whittemore netted twenty yards soon afterward, and was followed by a forward pass to Hoggsett from the twenty-five-yard line, which the half back caught on Bowdoin's ten-yard line and carried it over for the second score. The ball was constantly in the visitors' territory in the third period, Hogsett making two good runs for a touchdown. Several rushes which followed a successful forward pass gave Dartmouth her fourth and last touchdown in the last period. The line-up:

Dartmouth.	Position.	Bowdoin.
Bennett	Left guard	Burns
Whittemore	Centre	Douglas
Beer	Right guard	Pratt
Barends	Right tackle	Woods
Estop	Right end	Wing
Llewellyn	Quarter back	Dole
Hoggsett	Left half back	Wetherell
Morey	Right half back	La Casce
Dudley	Full back	Kern

Substitutions: Dartmouth—Margeson for Daley; Dunbar for Beer; Englehorn for Barends; Hayes for Estop; Pishon for Llewellyn; Ambrose for Hoggsett; Dana for Morey; Snow for Dudley. Bowdoin—McMahon for Douglas; Weeks for Woods. Score—Dartmouth, 23; Bowdoin, 0. Touchdowns—Morey, Hoggsett, (2.) Barends. Goals from touchdowns—Barends, Hoggsett, Engle. Umpire—Mr. McGrath of Boston. Head linesman—Mr. Whitney. Time of periods—Ten minutes.

Pennsy's Team Lacks Strength.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—The University of Pennsylvania football team defeated the team from Franklin and Marshall to-day on Franklin Field by the score of 14 to 0. Pennsylvania was unable to gain consistently against the visitors' light team, both touchdowns being indirectly the result of flukes. The first score was made by Kennedy, who obtained the ball after a double muff of a forward pass in the second period. In the third period Jourdet blocked a kick and Marshall scored a touchdown. Marshall made the final score for Pennsylvania with a drop kick from the 35-yard line in the fourth period. The line-up:

Pennsylvania.	Position.	Frank. and Mar.
Findeisen, Crawford	Left guard	Nolton, Kalbach
Morris, Kelliher	Centre	Pontius
Wolferth, Green	Right guard	Stein, Sohl
Dillon, Hoag	Right tackle	Schantz
Marshall	Right end	Schaffner
Minds	Quarter back	Bridenbaugh
Barr, Thayer	Left half back	Yeager
Kennedy, Harrington	Right half back	Sykes
Mercer	Full back	Wood, S. Pontius

Touchdowns—Kennedy, Marshall. Goal from touchdown—Minds. Goal from field—Marshall. Time of game—Four eight-minute periods.

Brown Wins with Small Score.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 4.—Rhode Island State College, aided by a wet ball and muddy field, held Brown to a score of 12 to 0 to-day, the Brunonians getting only two touchdowns. Owing to the wet condition of the ball, the kicks were all short and forward passes were handled badly.

YALE MEN IN THEIR STRIDE.

Drive Scrubs Back Over Their Own Goal Line for Two Touchdowns.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 4.—Swinging into their stride this afternoon for the first time this week the Yale 'Varsity drove back the scrubs for two scores, held the second team from endangering the regulars' goal, and narrowly missed another score in the shape of field goal. The regulars were all ordered into the fighting ranks except Philbin, who, although working through the half-hour preliminary signal drill, was dismissed before the scrimmaging began. Anderson and Freeman, in Philbin's place, dispelled the illusion that Yale is weak and scant in backfield material this Fall.

Half-backs Reilly and Spalding swapped places, Spalding going to the left side, where his punting can be better utilized. End runs were the vogue during the matinée, both Anderson and Spalding holding the spot light for two each. Anderson was cast for heroic rôles all the afternoon. He scored on one drop kick and almost registered another, and his line bucking was one of the day's headliners.

The 'Varsity scored their first touchdown by a series of plunges which advanced the ball from midfield to a touchdown, Capt. Howe dashing over the line with the score. The 'Varsity were then asked to take the leather from their 25-yard line for the next touchdown, and the runs of Spalding and Anderson were spectacular. Anderson's field goal ended the journey.

Bomeisler, left end, wrenched his shoulder slightly, but expects to be able to play Saturday. Diggs of the third team sprained his ankle. Head Coach Field said to-night that it was doubtful whether Dick Baker, who seemed slated for the Captaincy next year, would be able to play again this Fall, because of his recently injured knee, which proved to be a severe twist. Coaches to-day included Glass, Camp, and Roraback.

SOLDIERS' FIELD SLIPPERY.

Therefore Harvard's Football Practice Was Somewhat Curtailed.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 4.—There would have been another hard scrimmage to-day for the Harvard players had Soldiers' Field been in better condition. The heavy rain made the footing too slippery for anything except signal work, breaking through, and a long session for the linemen blocking kicks and in working out a defense against having them blocked. The first strong men were shown some new plays on the blackboard, and then spent half an hour working the plays out in the baseball cage.

Cold weather is prayed for to-morrow, as the coaches are anxious to put the men through another hard scrimmage for Saturday's game against Holy Cross, which is expected to make a better front than against Yale a week ago. The second team men scrimmaged, but before this they engaged in an open field blocking drill in the dummy pits. An old tackling dummy, which has not been used since 1896, was brought out, and the players threw themselves under the big padded waist line, working out a flying body checking which Harvard is using in its open field plays.

Rogers was at left tackle in the signal drill. He has improved since he moved in from end, and as he is one of the huskiest as well as one of the strongest and fastest men in the squad, every effort will be made to develop him for the left wing, which so far this season has been so weak. Gardner and Milholland now are the only cripples. Gardner's knee was hurt more severely Saturday than was thought at first, and he may not be able to stand much more hard playing.

Cornell Topples Over Scrubs.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 4.—In a twenty-minute scrimmage this afternoon the Cornell 'Varsity scored two touchdowns on the scrubs and played a strong game in spite of the hard work yesterday, which nearly wore everybody out. After dinner the squad took up night practice at the Armory, a most unusual proceeding for such an early date. The coaches explained that they were anxious to teach the men new formations, and this was the only time they had without sacrificing the important work of individual development and scrimmages.

The 'Varsity got its two touchdowns in the scrimmage by sharp end running by Eddie Butler, taking advantage of the scrubs' misplays. One touchdown was scored on a forward pass, Butler to Collins, which advanced the ball forty-five yards, and the other followed Ehrich's pick-up of Smith's miss of a punt. The fleet left end took the ball to the twenty-yard line, and from there O'Connor circled the end for a touchdown.

Two new players showed their calibre this afternoon in no uncertain manner. Munns, a big blond sophomore, who played on the freshman eleven last Fall, played a rattling good game at right tackle for the 'Varsity, breaking up plays and charging, getting the jump on his scrub opponent nearly every time. The other was Miller, a centre on the scrubs, who gave Jess Whyte a hard argument at centre. Miller played on the freshman team two years ago, and last year made a good showing on the 'Varsity squad. His passing was even better than Whyte's. Although Champaigne, Underhill, Hawkins, and O'Rourke were in togs this afternoon, the coaches refused to let them take a chance in the line-up. O'Connor, however, was back at left half back, and he seemed to be in first-rate condition.

Scrimmage at New York University.

Hard signal practice and a scrimmage with the eleven of De Witt Clinton High School was the order of practice at New York University yesterday afternoon. Head Coach Olcott, assisted by Coaches Flanders and Reilley, drove the men at a hard pace in order to have them in shape for the game against Muhlenberg on Saturday. Although Carlisle defeated the Pennsylvanians by a large score, Coach Olcott is taking no chance, and will have his men ready for a hard fight.

WOMEN'S TENNIS NEARING ITS END

Miss Hotchkiss, Miss Sutton, Mrs. Wallach, and Miss Handy Win at West Side.

The women's Metropolitan tennis championship on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club had its most active session yesterday, and despite the muggy weather capital progress was made in the four events. The semi-final of the women's singles, which is the main event, was straightened out, and to judge from the four names which are bracketed there should be some smart work this afternoon. On the top section Miss Hazel Hotchkiss is coupled with Miss Florence Sutton, the pair being the challenger and defender of the women's National title this year. Miss Hotchkiss gained her position on Tuesday, while in the fourth round yesterday Miss Sutton defeated Miss Florence Ballin, 6—1, 6—2.

The lower section of the draw is occupied by Mrs. Barger-Wallach and Miss Edith Handy. Mrs. Wallach, a former National champion, won her place over Miss Edna Wildey in a three-set engagement, the figures being 2—6, 6—0, 6—1. Miss Handy faced Mrs. A. Lehman in her match, and though the former won the first set easily she had to bring her best shots into play in the second, which was a vantage one. The score in favor of Miss Handy was 6—3, 7—5.

The women's championship doubles occupied the most of the day, and the Tournament Committee worked with such expedition that the semi-final round was reached. The top section is occupied by Miss Sutton, who is paired with Miss Dorothy Green of Philadelphia, and they will play Mrs. Wallach and Mrs. Chapman. The pairs in the lower section are Mrs. William H. Pouch and Miss Edith Handy, and Miss Hotchkiss and Miss Browning.

The mixed doubles were put under way and several matches were played, the longest being between Mrs. Frederick Schmitz and Arthur Boyes against Miss Sutton and A. Bostwick. It was played in the court at the end of the clubhouse and with a large gallery present. Mrs. Schmitz and her partner won the first set at 6—4, but Miss Sutton won the next at 6—2, and with matters even in sets began some of the warmest mixed doubles work ever seen on the courts. At every possible chance both men and women came to the net for smashes, and some very fine kills were brought off on both sides. So hot was the encounter that one of Mrs. Schmitz's smashes hit Bostwick on the temple and sent him spinning around on the court. After a spell of close work the pairs drew level at 5—all. Then it was 6—all, when Mrs. Schmitz and Boyes won the next two games and the match at 8—6. The summary:

Women's Singles.—Fourth Round—Miss Florence Sutton defeated Miss Florence Ballin, 6—1, 6—2; Miss Edith Handy defeated Mrs. A. Lehman, 6—3, 7—5; Mrs. Barger Wallach defeated Miss Edna Wildey, 2—6, 6—0, 6—1.

Women's Doubles.—First Round—Mrs. Frederick Schmitz and Miss Clara Kutroff, a bye; Miss Florence Sutton and Miss Dorothy Green defeated Mrs. Humphreys and partner by default; Mrs. Barger Wallach and Mrs. George M. Chapman defeated Miss Elizabeth H. Moore and Miss Elsie Little, 6—4, 4—6, 6—2; Miss Elizabeth Bunce and Miss Edna Wildey defeated Miss Marie Wagner and Miss Fannie Fish, 6—3, 6—2; Mrs. William H. Pouch and Miss Edith Handy defeated Mrs. Blum and Mrs. Lehman, 6—2, 6—3; Miss Florence Sheldon and Miss Bessie Wright defeated Miss Bessie Holden and Miss Marian Vanderhof, 6—4, 3—6, 6—2; Miss Johnston and Miss Buda Stephens defeated Miss Florence Ballin and Miss May Ballin, 6—0, 8—10, 6—0; Miss Hazel Hotchkiss and Miss Adelaide Browning, a bye.

Second Round—Miss Florence Sutton and Miss Dorothy Green defeated Mrs. Frederick Schmitz and Miss Clara Kutroff, 6—4, 7—5; Mrs. Barger Wallach and Mrs. George M. Chapman defeated Miss Elizabeth Bunce and Miss Edna Wildey, 6—4, 8—6; Mrs. William H. Pouch and Miss Edith Handy defeated Miss Florence Sheldon and Miss Bessie Wright, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Hazel Hotchkiss and Miss Adelaide Browning defeated Miss Johnston and Miss Buda Stephens, 6—1, 6—2.

Mixed Doubles.—First Round—Miss Dorothy Green and Calhoun Cragin drew a bye; Miss Elizabeth H. Moore and M. Caudery defeated Miss Emily Deitz and Richard Couater, 6—1, 6—1; Mrs. Frederick Schmitz and A. Boyes defeated Miss Florence Sutton and A. Bostwick, 4—6, 6—2, 8—6; Miss Elsie Little and Richard H. Palmer defeated Miss Alice Latting and John Latting, 6—3, 6—2; Miss Hazel Hotchkiss and Carlton R. Gardner defeated Miss Bessie Holden and M. Stuart by default; Mrs. and Dr. Humphreys, a bye.

Women's Consolation Singles.—First Round.—Miss Ruth Harper defeated Miss Marie Wagner by default; Miss Clara Kutroff defeated Mrs. H. E. Manvel, 6—1, 6—3.

Duncan Wins Open Golf Honors.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4.—The open golf championship of Western Pennsylvania goes across the Atlantic Ocean this year. It was captured to-day by George Duncan of the Panger Hill Golf Club, London, who, playing in the tournament held under the auspices of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association at the Allegheny Country Club, turned in a score of 146 for the thirty-six holes. Jack Hutchison of the Allegheny Country Club and Dave Robertson of the Oakmont Country Club tied for second honors with 153. Charles (Chick) Evans of Chicago, holder of the French amateur championship, negotiated the thirty-six holes in 159.

Conditions were anything but ideal for championship golf. The course was slow and soggy in places. During the morning, however, Duncan, the British player, [illegible]. He covered the eighteen holes in 69 strokes, establishing a new mark for the Allegheny Country Club links. It was the first time the links had been covered in [illegible] strokes. The scores of some of the other well-known players were: W. C. Fownes, Jr., former amateur champion of the United States, 154; Peter Robertson, Oakmont Country Club, 155; E. M. Byers, Allegheny Country Club, 162, and Jack Jolly, Chicago, 168.

"ONE-ROUND" HOGAN WINS.

Outpoints Jack Dorman in Nearly Every Round at Sulzer's Casino.

"One-Round" Hogan, the California lightweight, made his reappearance before New York fight fans last night and won back his prestige, lost last Winter, by decisively outpointing Jack Dorman of this city in ten rounds at the Madison Athletic Club in Sulzer's Casino. The contest was as good a lightweight battle as has been seen in this city in a long time and furnished action of the best kind from start to finish. Dorman, although game and showing plenty of cleverness, was unable to off-set the steady boring-in tactics of the boy from the Golden Gate, who unceasingly played for close quarters and ripped a short right-hand blow to perfection.

In all except the fourth round Hogan carried the honors by a safe margin, and in this session Dorman was only entitled to an even break. Hogan had a close call in the fifth round, when the local boy fought him nip-and-tuck and got over his best blows, but before the end of the session Hogan showed a flash and won the honors. The Western boy did the best work at all times in the clinches, and after a great volley of rights and lefts in the fourth almost put Dorman through the ropes. Dorman came back in the next session, and with a well-directed left jab brought blood from Hogan's nose. The blood worried the Westerner for a time, and with Dorman carrying the work to him as best he could, he earned his only even break.

Hogan made a great opening in the sixth, seventh and eighth rounds, by rushing Dorman at the clang of the bell, and scoring before Jack could get going. In the sixth he drove two good left jabs to Dorman's eye, and then, by a good exhibition of footwork, had Dorman missing by a large margin. After falling to a clinch, Hogan scored heavily to the body. The seventh and eighth periods were marked by a fast start on Hogan's part, but before the close of the eighth he tired, and their work became slow. Both devoted the last half of the round to clinching and work at close range.

Hogan made a grandstand finish in the ninth and tenth rounds. He darted after his opponent and ripped in short-arm blows with great force without a let-up, and had Dorman covering on the ropes. The closing round was a slam-bang session, with Hogan trying his best for a knockout. He staggered the local boy with a stiff left, and after covering up to avoid the blows, landed low on the break. Hogan continued his rushing tactics, and was going fast as the final bell sounded.

MRS. DONOHOE'S GOLF WINS.

Thirty or More Women Compete in One-Day Tournament at Hackensack.

Despite the threatening weather thirty or more women gathered on the links of the Hackensack Golf Club for a one-day tournament yesterday. As usual, the main event consisted of an eighteen-hole medal play, handicap, and there was a net score prize presented by some of the members. Mrs. F. E. Donohoe of Montclair won this with a card of 100, 8—92, a stroke better than Miss Louise Krug of Englewood, who had 100, 7—93. These two also had the best gross scores.

In the afternoon all took part in a putting competition at eighteen holes, or twice around the nine-hole putting course. This resulted in a tie between Mrs. T. S. Neilsen, Mrs. W. D. Moffat, and Mrs. T. H. Thomas, at 40. They were all members of the home club. The scores in the handicap follow:

	Gross.	H'cap.	Net.
Mrs. F. E. Donohoe, Montclair	100	8	92
Miss Louise Krug, Englewood	100	7	93
Miss Bertha Graham, No. Jer.	109	14	95
Mrs. W. J. Faith, Wykagyl	102	6	96
Miss Grace Farrelly, Englewood	121	25	96
Miss E. M. Hillier, Cranford	107	10	97
Mrs. H. R. Stockton, Plainfield	106	8	98
Mrs. K. B. Armstrong, Hackensack	110	12	98
Mrs. M. P. Gardner, Hackensack	112	11	101
Mrs. J. G. Gage, Hackensack	118	14	104
Mrs. C. B. Palmer, Hackensack	124	20	104

Daly Practicing for De Oro.

John Daly, who holds the world's championship title for three-cushion carrom billiards, and who will be called upon to defend his title along with the Lambert Trophy against Alfred De Oro, the Cuban expert, at John Doyle's Forty-second Street Billiard Academy next week, realises that he will have no easy time in defeating the challenger, and has begun hard practice for the coming championship match. The champion has been practicing at Doyle's Academy since the arrangements for the match have been made, and in all of the practice games he has displayed remarkable form. Daly contested in two practice games in preparation for the coming championship match yesterday at Doyle's Academy and had for an opponent George Moore, the holder of the high run record. In the afternoon contest Daly won by the score of 50 to 24 in seventy-one innings. Each player made the high run of 5. In the evening contest Moore was returned the victor by the score of 50 to 46 in seventy-five innings, each making the high run of 6. The champion will contest in two games again this afternoon and evening at Doyle's Academy.

Quaker Boxer Disqualified.

After being repeatedly cautioned for foul work last night in his bout at the Longacre A. A., Harry Davis of Philadelphia was disqualified by the referee, and the battle awarded to Young Brown. Davis continued to fight in a foul manner, and the bout was stopped in the third round. Davis outboxed the New York boy in the opening round, using a left with good effect. In the second round Brown put the Quaker down for a count of nine, and thereafter had matters his own way, until Davis began foul tactics, which ended in his disqualification.

Cyclists Organize at Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 4.—Racing cyclists organized in this city this afternoon for the first time when the American Racing Cyclists' Union was created. The officers of the union are: President—Floyd Macfarland; Vice President—Frank Kramer; Secretary-Treasurer—W. L. Mitten.

GLIDDEN TOUR ATTRACTS 84 CARS

Entry List Closes with 75 Contesting and 9 Non-Contesting Automobiles.

According to an official statement issued last night by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association seventy-five cars will start in the 1911 Glidden Tour. These will be actual contestants, while this number will be augmented by nine official and non-contesting cars. This total is greatly in excess of the anticipated entry list, but is largely due to the selection of the tour, which will be to Jacksonville, a total of 1,454 miles.

During the past forty-eight hours the Contest Board received several new entries, which came in after the date set for the closing of the list, but were mailed before that date and are, therefore, eligible under the rules. The latest entries are: Krit motor car of Detroit, Krit; H. H. Raymond of New York City, Oldsmobile; Dr. W. H. Stinson of Jacksonville, Oldsmobile; Greensboro, Ga., Chamber of Commerce, Case, and Lindsay Hopkins of Greensboro, Overland.

In all nearly thirty makes of cars will be represented, while an equal number of cities will figure in the entry list. Several cities in the South will be represented by Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, while many of the makers have entered cars of their own make.

The itinerary covers thirteen days, from Saturday, Oct. 14 to Thursday, Oct. 26. The route will be from New York to Philadelphia, Gettysburg, Roanoke, Winston-Salem, Charlotte, Anderson, Atlanta, Cordele, Live Oak, and Jacksonville. A stopover will be made at Atlanta on Sunday and Monday, Oct. 22 and 23. The complete itinerary follows:

Start.	Night Stop.	Daily Mileage.
Oct. 14—New York	Philadelphia	95.1
Oct. 15—Philadelphia	Gettysburg	120.1
Oct. 16—Gettysburg	Staunton	182.3
Oct. 17—Staunton	Roanoke	90.8
Oct. 18—Roanoke	Winston-Salem	124.3
Oct. 19—Winston-Salem	Charlotte	125.6
Oct. 20—Charlotte	Anderson	160.6
Oct. 21—Anderson	Atlanta	144.2
Oct. 22—Atlanta	(Sunday stop-over)
Oct. 23—Atlanta	(Monday stop-over)
Oct. 24—Atlanta	Cordele	167.5
Oct. 25—Cordele	Live Oak	149.1

TWO AUTOISTS INJURED.

Harvey Ringler and Thomas Bowen Hurt as Car Strikes Tree.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—Rounding a dangerous curve in Fairmount Park at terrific speed to-day in a Mercer car, which they were tuning up for Saturday's 200-mile automobile road race, Harvey Ringler, a well-known local amateur motor racer, and Thomas Bowen, his mechanician, were seriously injured when their car plunged into a tree and turned over. One of Ringler's arms was broken and was badly lacerated. Bowen sustained a double fracture of a leg and general contusions.

Along with other entrants in Saturday's big race, Ringler was on the roads early, and had already rounded the eight and one-tenth-mile course several times when the accident occurred. He was approaching the Neil Drive and without lessening his speed tried to round one of the most dangerous curves on the course. The big machine jumped the track, bounded into a tree and threw both men out. The racing car then turned over and fell down an embankment. Several hundred persons out to see the practice witnessed the accident and rendered prompt assistance.

Fourteen of the seventeen cars entered for the race were on the course to-day. Irwin Bergdoll, in a Benz car, went around the course in 0:7:42, and Ralph Mulford, in a Lozier, went around in 0:7:47.

De Palma to Drive at Fairmount.

Ralph De Palma, who is considered to be one of the greatest track drivers in America, is the newest entrant in the Fairmount Park road race to be held Saturday at Philadelphia. De Palma will drive a Mercer car—a twin to that which Hughie Hughes is to pilot in the same race. De Palma left for Philadelphia last night with his machine and will begin practice on the course immediately. Ralph will look after the racing details of the Mercer team at Philadelphia.

Newspaper Golfers on Links.

Newspaper golfers qualified for the Copper prize on the Van Cortlandt Park links yesterday. Handicap medal play preceded match play. The leaders were Grantland Rice, with 80—11—69, and M. Groff, 90—30—60. Conditions called for sixteen to qualify and there was a tie for sixteenth place, which will be determined later. The qualifiers follow: Grantland Rice, B. B. Lucas, H. Igoe, W. D. Chapman, Ike Dorgan, Al. Headley, C. W. Phoebus, F. K. Flanagh, M. Groff, C. Wright, Frank O'Connell, A. Murray, J. Henning, A. Benzinger, A. J. Colman, W. B. McBeth, and Thomas Helld.

THREE CLUBS GET LICENSES.

Boxing Commission Sanctions New York A. C. and Buffalo Clubs.

At the regular meeting of the State Athletic Commission held yesterday three organizations were granted licenses to hold boxing bouts. Commissioners O'Neil and Dixon were in attendance, and there was unity of opinion in everything the members of the commission acted upon. There was no talk about the appointment of a third member of the body, and neither O'Neil nor Dixon had received any word from Gov. Dix concerning the possibility of such appointment being made.

The clubs which, by fulfilling all the requirements of the law in regard to bond, safety of the spectators, and all other features of the Frawley law, received the much desired sanction were the New York A. C., International A. C., and Buffalo A. A., both of Buffalo. That of the Knickerbocker A. C. of Albany, which has been held up almost since the inception of the commission, was again laid over until next week, much to the chagrin of the management of the club.

The already long list of referees was again added to, four men being named to officiate, these being Harry Levy, Long Island City; George Kidd, Greenpoint; George Gagner, Rochester, and Patrick Gorman, New York. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Oct. 11.

The promised law suit over the revocation of the license of the Madison Square A. C. had not developed up to the time of the closing of the session, and Charles J. Harvey, Secretary of the commission, admitted that no papers had been served in the case.

PETER THOMPSON'S STAKE.

A. B. Coxe's Gelding Wins $14,000 Kentucky Futurity at Lexington.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 4.—Peter Thompson, the Peter the Great-Lydia Thompson bay gelding owned by A. B. Coxe of Paoli, Penn., to-day won the $14,000 Kentucky Futurity by taking the necessary three heats. Main Leaf, the game colt of James R. Magowan, which won two heats yesterday, was too lame to come back.

Peter Thompson set a new world's record for three-year-old geldings in the fourth heat when he went the mile in 2:07½.

Soprano took the McDowell stake, worth $3,025 in straight heats and made a new record for that stake, 2:05, a half second faster than General H.'s mark of last year.

The two-year-old futurity, worth $5,000, was won by Miss Katherine Wilk's Princess Todd, who lowered the season's record for two-year-old trotters in the second and deciding heat to 2:12½.

It took six heats to decide the 2:08 pace, which Bill Bailey won after losing the first three heats. Princess Hal took the second and third.

Uhlan, C. K. G. Billings's sensational trotter, failed to lower his record of 1:58¾, but made the mile in 1:59½, two and a quarter seconds under the record for the track. Uhlan's fractional time was 0:28¾, 0:57¼, 1:28¼, and 1:59½.

After running three heats of the 2:11 pace Judge Ward became ill and was drawn. The race went over until to-morrow, as did the 2:14 trot after Olcott Axworthy had taken two heats.

Ross vs. Harris To-night.

Tony Ross, the Pittsburgh heavyweight, and Morris Harris of Philadelphia will be the headliners in to-night's show at the National Sporting Club. The bout was originally carded for last week, but had to be postponed. Both men have had plenty of time to get in shape and appear to be matched evenly enough to furnish an exciting session. The usual number of shorter bouts will precede the main event.

Langford's Opponent Fit.

Tony Caponi, the young Italian light heavyweight pugilist, who will box Sam Langford in a ten-round contest to-morrow night at the Twentieth Century A. C., is one of the hardest propositions the challenger of Jack Johnson has ever met. Caponi has no fear whatever of Langford and will enter the ring brimful of confidence, as his experience with the black man, when he fought twelve rounds to a draw in Winnipeg, has proven to him that the latter is not invincible.

RACING ON SPEEDWAY.

Events Postponed from Sunday Decided—B. Ontime's Pace.

Only the remaining brushes of the postponed card of last Sunday were contested yesterday in the second matinée of the Fall brushing season on the Speedway, and the afternoon's sport was decided with the running of six heats.

The Class E trot and the Class A pace were partly contested Sunday, when the rain necessitated their postponement, and with one heat in each event yesterday the winners were decided. The bay gelding Triphammer, after scoring a victory in the first heat of the Class E trot on Sunday, duplicated his performance in the second, and annexed the honors.

A single heat in the Class A pace was all that was necessary, as on this occasion Hugh Reilly's bay gelding B. Ontime, showed the way to the wire against the field in masterly fashion, and with the winning of the heat captured the blue ribbon by virtue of its win on Sunday.

The remaining two classes were decided in straight heats with the winning horses outclassing the rest of the fields. In the Class D pacing, W. O'Neil's smooth going bay mare Midnight Direct had matters all her own way in defeating Phonograph and Daisy Bell. In each heat the O'Neil entry was leading by a comfortable margin at the quarter post, and had to be pulled at the wire in order to let the others get in.

Ragged Edge, driven by W. C. Urban, ran away with both heats in the final event of the afternoon, the Class C trot, and won handily.

Elkins Park Races To-day.

Elkins Park, near Philadelphia, will be the scene this afternoon of the Lynnewood Farm races, under sanction from the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association. Seven events have been carded, on the flat and over the jumps, with each event well filled.

The Challenge Cup, won last year by S. H. Cross's Zebedee, promises to be a bone of contention and has six horses nominated, among them being the holder. Gold Plate is slated to start in the third race, a steeplechase at two and one-half miles. One of the features promises to be the Army Steeplechase, the horses in which are to be ridden by officers of the U. S. Army. Aside from the entries of Lieut. R. G. Alexander, Lieut. C. K. Rockwell, Capt. James Shelley and Lieut. Lindsay C. Herkness, Uncle Sam has nominated Tampico and Knight of Elway. Stewards of the meeting will be Joseph E. Widener, Henry J. Morris, Thomas Hitchcock and William M. Kerr. William P. Riggs will act as judge, while Frank J. Bryan will be the starter and clerk of course.

The Giants won the National League pennant yesterday, establishing undisputed right to the honor by defeating Brooklyn at Washington Park by a score of 2 to 0. This gives the New Yorks 95 games won and 50 lost, with 9 games to play. If the Giants should lose all of the remaining games and the Cubs should win their 6 remaining games the Giants will win by the following margin:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	95	59	.617
Chicago	94	60	.610

Although it has been almost certain for the past few weeks that the Giants would win, their triumph did not become a mathematical certainty until Mathewson, as keen and effective as ever, made the Dodgers bow to his superior pitching yesterday. It has been a hard, bitter fight for McGraw's men since the first game of the season. The National League has never had such a race as the one just ended. At different times during the season five different teams have bobbed up as dangerous factors. Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and St. Louis have all been formidable opponents for the Giants, and at different times each one of these clubs threatened to kick the dust in New York's face.

Aggressive driving by McGraw has kept the team in front. Individually not a great ball team, the club has been efficiently drilled in team work so as to overcome individual defects in the machine's make-up. Added to this was a never-say-die spirit which the Giants exhibited at just such times when the campaigning was roughest. Fighting to the last ditch, never acknowledging defeat, the team has come through a winner on its sheer merit and ability to meet the thickest fighting o[illegible] season's battle.

McGraw had hoped to clinch the pennant in Chicago and then let his team down easy for the remaining few games. Fatigued and much used up the team played the Cubs last week and found in them a bitter foe, hoping against hope in the final spurt for the streamer. The worn-out Giants again arose to the occasion as they have all season in moments of danger, and stemmed the tidal wave which threatened them. And so the telling thrust was set back until the clash in Brooklyn yesterday. It came decisively, and the final tack which holds the waving streamer to the flag pole was driven in so that it will stay.

President Ebbets of the Brooklyn Club wasn't inclined to let the Giants down easy. He made their task as hard as possible, and after letting his star pitcher, Napoleon Rucker, go for the rest of the season, he suddenly recalled him from sunny Georgia and sent him in to put a crimp in the Giants' ambition. Realizing the struggle which was sure to follow against Rucker, McGraw placed all his confidence in his veteran boxman, Mathewson, and once again Matty rose to the required standard and hurled the Dodgers to unquestionable defeat. Brooklyn's only joy at the matinée was a triple play which will be salted away in the season's records.

The greater part of the crowd at Washington Park Subwayed over from Manhattan. Not more than 4,500 made up the party which saw New York make the killing. There was nothing sensational in Matty's work yesterday. In fact, Brooklyn got seven hits, one more than the New York total, but it was the great steadiness of "Big Six" when Dodgers lingered on the bases that stopped the enemy short. He mowed them down when they were within reach of a run, which really is the true test of the great pitcher.

In the first inning Brooklyn looked dangerous. They bunched two hits on Matty and got a man to third base, but fast fielding saved the situation. In the third and fourth innings the Dodgers got singles, but it was after two players had been retired. In the sixth, with one down, Wheat cracked forth a double with only one out. Then Matty buckled down, fanned Smith, and made Tooley roll out on a grounder.

New York's attack did not raise havoc with the curves of Rucker. Nap held them tightly in his grasp until the fourth inning. Larry Doyle, the first man up in that session, cudgeled a two-bagger to right field. Tex Erwin thought he could catch Larry napping and made a wild heave to second base, Larry taking advantage of the lurid throw by going to third. Snodgrass struck out. Murray, who found no trouble in hitting Rucker, jammed a red-hot grounder through second and Doyle scored. Murray and Merkle were then forced out at second in quick succession.

Rucker was taken out after pitching eight innings to allow Daly to bat for him. As the southpaw, who is an idol in the Gowanus section, walked dejectedly toward the clubhouse a spontaneous parting cheer resounded from one end of the stands to the other. Daly, the pinch hitter, was called out on strikes, but Brooklyn made a big protest to no avail, claiming that the third strike had been a foul tip. Meyers dropped the ball and then tagged Daly, who did not run. Bill Dahlen conducted the argument for the plaintiff, but his prayers were not heeded.

Baron Knetzer succeeded Rucker in the ninth inning. After the Giants had squeezed in a run off him by the narrowest of margins, Brooklyn did a surprising thing. Like a bolt from a clear sky the infield got busy and, with the Giants all set for the trap, the Dodgers suddenly became thrilled with speed and ripped off a triple play.

Devore greeted Knetzer in that round with a single to centre and stole second. Doyle drew a ticket. Erwin let a twister slip by him, and Devore traveled to third. Snodgrass rolled a grasser to Tooley, who shot the ball to Erwin to cut down Devore at the plate, but Josh was so fast that he beat the throw-in and slid under Erwin safe.

Then Jack ("Red") Murray spilled the beans. He shot a liner into Dolly Stark's hands. Dolly tossed to Daubert, who touched first base before Snodgrass got back, and Daubert then relayed to Tooley, who touched second before Doyle returned. After it was all over, Brooklyn was just as surprised as New York.

In the Dodger half of the ninth, Smith singled to left with one out. He started to steal second, and Meyers was undecided whether to throw to first or second. The Indian ran out toward second base, but held the ball too long, and Smith slid into second base safely for the longest steal that was ever made. Doyle and Meyers argued for some time about the intelligence displayed in the play, and it was so funny that the umpires and all the other players laughed loudly.

UNFURL THE FLAG OF VICTORY.

Just before they administered the ether to the victim he opened his eyes and said: "Didn't I tell you last Spring the Giants would win?"

Also several thousand people were heard to say last night: "All along I've been thinking the Cubs didn't have a chance."

For the first time this season the Giants could sleep on their downy cots peacefully, knowing that they had not much to do to-day.

It's the third pennant Manager McGraw has won in New York. The Giants won in 1904, but wouldn't play the Boston American League champions. The Giants won in 1905, and beat the Athletics in the world series. Wonder if they still have a string on the goat they captured that year?

New York stole two bases in Brooklyn, which brings the season's total of jimmied corners up to 338.

The kicking record of Manager Dahlen for the season is safe. Bill's average reached 1,000 in the grouch league yesterday.

Glad it's settled. Now you'll have time to look over the cable news and see how the Turks are hitting this season.

Now the question arises, "Can the Giants recover from the effects of the hard, gruelling race in time to be in good shape for the Athletics?"

Both Matty and Rucker had perfect control. Neither pitcher issued a pass, the only ticket of the game being given to Doyle by Knetzer in the ninth.

Now Arlie Latham can go ahead and buy a farm on Long Island.

If these Giants play as well as rabid New York fans expect them to, and if the Athletics show the form their friends say they are capable of, there's nothing to the world series, uncle, but a dead heat in each game.

Cubs Win Easily in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Chicago easily defeated St. Louis here to-day, 9 to 1. The local team used recruit pitchers, who were wild. Six errors by St. Louis players also were factors in giving Chicago the game. The score:

Have you a knife in your pocket that "won't cut butter," a nicked knife, a busted knife, any old knife?

We're sorry—

We'll make our sympathy do us both a good turn.

For we want more men to know we sell all sorts of pocket knives—knives every one knows are fine—Keen Kutter Knives.

So we'll take that broken knife of yours as 25c. on the price of any Keen Kutter pocket knife at $1 or more.

And we've a specially fine lot of knives at $1.

Why do we have pocket knives?

Because we're complete outfitters for men and boys—outfitters with everything to play with, as well as everything to wear.

NEW YORK MAY SEE FIRST WORLD GAME

McGraw and Mack Both Favor This City—Commission Meets Here To-day.

Mere luck will, in at least one instance, be a factor in the world championship baseball series. The toss of a coin here to-day will determine whether the opening games of the crucial series will be played on the home grounds of the National League pennant winners here or on the grounds of the world champions of 1910 at Philadelphia. The choice of heads or tails in the toss-up will lie between President Thomas J. Lynch of the National League and Ban Johnson, the American League President.

There seems to be considerable uncertainty as to whether the first game of the series will be played on Friday, Oct. 13, or on Saturday, Oct. 14. President Ban Johnson of the American League and one of the three members of the National Commission, is reported to have said at Chicago yesterday before leaving for New York that the first game will be played on Oct. 14. This is borne out by the statement made by President T. J. Lynch of the National League last night that the series would not begin for at least two days after the close of the National League season. As the Giants play their final game on Oct. 12 it leaves Oct. 14 as the earliest possible date.

As to the place of the opening game it will probably be New York, as both managers are in favor of such a plan. The Giants, of course, prefer New York, and it has been given out that Manager Connie Mack, should the coin turn his way, prefers to have the opening battle staged here.

By New York's clinching the National League championship yesterday, the way is cleared for definite arrangements for the world series, and plans which have been held up because of the lingering possibility that New York might lose the pennant to Chicago, will be finally drawn up at a meeting of the National Commission here to-day. Chairman August Herrmann of Cincinnati and Ban Johnson of Chicago, the American League President, will arrive here early this morning. Presidents Shibe of the Philadelphia Club and Brush of the New York Club are also expected to be parties to the conferences, which will take up the better part of the day.

President Lynch, the only member of the commission here last night, said that nothing more definite could be announced as to the dates of the world series than that the games would not begin until at least two days after the close of the National League season, which ends Oct. 12. Last year the games began on Oct. 17 at Philadelphia.

Unless some unforeseen hitch arises the schedule of games, the arrangements for the sale of tickets, the prices and other details will be announced in an official bulletin to-night, said President Lynch.

"It is a splendid season we are ending," President Lynch added in comment on the National League pennant race. "It has been one of the closest races in the history of the league. McGraw's men made a grand record on the road during the past few weeks. If Brooklyn and Cincinnati had not disappointed us the league fight would have been the greatest in the history of baseball. We need only one thing now, and that is the world championship. I haven't the slightest doubt about the outcome."

According to the code of rules which govern the world series, the National Commission shall promulgate a schedule for the event. Three games shall be scheduled in each of the cities of the contesting clubs. The commission shall determine by lot where the first three games shall be played. In case it becomes necessary to play the seventh game to decide the event, the commission shall determine the city in which the game shall be played.

It is not likely, however, that this rule will be followed closely on account of the closeness of the two cities. The commission will probably decide to alternate the games between the cities as was done in 1905.

The receipts of the series will be divided as follows: Ten per cent of the receipts of all the games shall be paid to the National Commission. Sixty per cent of the balance from the first four games shall form a pool for the players of the two teams, to be divided 60 per cent to the winner and 40 per cent. to the loser of the contest. After the 10 per cent. deduction for the commission and the 60 per cent. which forms the players' pool from the first four games, the balance of the gross receipts shall be divided equally between the two clubs. The amount to be paid into the players' pool as provided by the rules, shall be paid to the commission and the same shall be distributed to the players through the Secretary of the commission.

WESTERN "FANS" COMING.

American League Besieged with Requests for Tickets to World Series.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—"Fans" by the score in the Middle West have already besieged the attachés of the American League office here with requests for tickets to the world's championship games. Secretary Robert B. McRoy reports a bulky stack of queries indicating the early interest being manifested in the battles to be waged in New York and Philadelphia.

That the games will result in the establishment of new records for gate receipts is the opinion of McRoy, who predicts each member of the winning club will receive in the neighborhood of $3,000 for his "bit." Last season, when the Cubs and Athletics broke all previous records, the amount received for the players totaled over $79,000. Secretary McRoy expressed the opinion that the players' share this year would be close to $150,000.

Chicago Claims Charley Hemphill.

Chicago has put in a claim for Charley Hemphill, the Yankee outfielder, on whom waivers were recently asked by the local management, and it looks as if the veteran will be a member of the White Sox in 1912. It has been rumored that Hemphill was to succeed Jack Ryan as manager of the Jersey City club of the Eastern League.

Seven Boston's Lucky Number.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—Boston won both games of to-day's double-header from Philadelphia, the scores being 7 to 3 and 7 to 1. The second game was stopped on account of darkness at the end of the seventh inning. The visitors pounded the ball hard, and in the third inning of the second game seven successive batsmen hit safely, the collection including five singles and two doubles. Donlin and Miller each made five hits. It was the first time this season that Boston won a double-header. Scores:

City College Teams in a Tie.

The Sophomore and Freshman teams of City College battled to a 2-to-2 tie in an eleven-inning contest in the first game of the Fall interclass baseball series at Jasper Oval yesterday. The game was a hard-fought pitchers' battle throughout. Each pitcher allowed five hits. Weiner of the "Sophs" had the edge on Hyman of the "Freshies," for he fanned thirteen men and did not issue a pass, while Hyman passed two and fanned eleven. After the game the majority of the persons present said that Germansky, who started the rally for the Sophs in the ninth, was out, but as the umpire had decided that he was safe it was useless to argue about it. An attempt on the part of the Freshmen to start a rally in the tenth failed miserably. O'Connel, the second man up, managed to get a hit, stole second and third, but was then caught napping off the bag, after which the batter struck out. The game will be played off some time next week. The score:

Seniors Defeat Law School.

The Columbia seniors broke into the series of interclass baseball games on South Field yesterday and defeated the Law School nine by the score of 8 to 4. T. M. Sanders, who has played on the 'Varsity nine for three years, pitched for the seniors and struck out ten men, and allowed only three hits. It was the first time he had ever tried to twirl, and Harry Fisher, the new coach, intends to give him a thorough tryout for the box next Spring. His work was much better than that done by any other pitcher in the series. The seniors were the aggressors from the start, and outplayed the Law School nine from the beginning. The score follows:

									R.	H.	E.
Seniors	0	3	4	0	1	0	0	0	8	6	4
Law School	0	0	0	1	2	0	0	1	4	3	2

Batteries—Sanders and Samuels; Bailey and Williams. Umpire—Harry A. Fisher, Columbia.

Newark Barnstormers Win, 1 to 0.

Special to The New York Times.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Oct. 4.—The Newark Eastern League barnstormers defeated the Morristown A. A. here this afternoon 1 to 0. The game developed into a pitching duel between Jack Frill, the former Yankee, for Newark and Walter Swenson of the locals, who had a try-out with Jersey City last Spring. Newark's only tally was made on two hits and a wild throw in the first inning. The score by innings:

Notre Dame Bars Player Sherry.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Oct. 4.—At a meeting of the Board of Control of Athletics at Notre Dame College William Sherry of Massachusetts, who played second base on the 'Varsity team last Spring, has been declared ineligible to compete on any athletic teams for the university. Evidence showed that he had taken part in professional baseball. The 'Varsity baseball team will also lose Thomas Quigley, centre fielder and Captain, who has been signed by the Pittsburgh National League Club. Quigley is a senior in the College of Law and will remain in school until he graduates next June. He will likely assist in coaching the baseball team next Spring.

White Sox Out of All-Star Nine.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Close upon the announcement that a post-season series would be played in this city between the Cubs and White Sox came the edict from President Comiskey of the latter club to the effect that four of his star players, Walsh, Lord, White, and Sullivan, selected by Jimmy McAleer to perform on the All-Star American League team, meeting the Athletics incidental to the start of the world's championships, would not be permitted to participate in this series. Instead, at Comiskey's request, this quartet will remain in Chicago to prepare for the city battles. A message apprising McAleer of this stand was sent last night.

The Yankees' home season was packed away in camphor yesterday at the Hilltop and eight Winter pennants will be won in the American League before any of Ban Johnson's warriors will be seen again in action on the Broadway lot. So momentous an occasion as the final game could not check the downward slide of the Yankees, and they leave to-day for Philadelphia in grave danger of finishing the season in sixth place. They have already been overtaken by the White Sox, and the Red Sox are crowding them hard. Pat Donovan's athletes helped Chase's boys to draw down the curtain, and they took occasion to make the closing series a clean sweep. The score was 6 to 4, the game being called after eight innings had been played.

Several dozens of loyal fans turned out to wish the Yanks all kinds of luck in the Winter League. As the aggregate number of spectators could not be padded to the 200 mark, even with the addition of peanut merchants, scribes, and telegraphers, they are referred to by the dozen rather than by the hundred. The crowd was as noiseless as the latest model Maxim, the silence being broken only in the eighth inning, when the Yanks showed their first signs of life and threatened to do something. The only real rooter in the crowd was little Hal Chase, Jr., who was continually calling out to his illustrious papa. The other 143 members of the loyal legion may have had sore throats.

Snappy fielding was in order all through the game, and there were several plays that would have added considerable noise to the neighborhood in mid-season. Clyde Hackenschmidt Engle, a former Yankee of none too great lustre, held down third base as if he was the fellow who discovered that position. Clyde extracted four base hits from the greensward and got the ball over to Bradley for put outs, and both Yerkes and Dolan made stops that bordered on the impossible. Both teams fielded sharply and all three misplays were excusable.

Russell Ford had another unsuccessful afternoon. The star flinger of the 1910 race has been getting in the path of bombardments quite frequently of late, and his closing effort of the year showed that he is still far from the form that made him a terror to batsmen last season. The Red Sox started to straighten his slants in the first inning, and the process continued all during the game. Ten hits, including four doubles, a pair of passes, a wild pitch, and an error by Ford, which was the lone misplay of the Yankees, made Boston's victory easy.

Eddie Cicotte, who has figured in more reported sales and trades than any pitcher in the major leagues, showed the reason that John I. Taylor keeps him by his work during the first seven innings. In that period the Yanks picked out one clean single and a scratch hit, going out as regularly as against Hall and Wood on the day before.

The Yanks' first run, which arrived in the seventh innings, was started by an error, helped along by the scratch hit and passed ball, and finished on a fielder's choice. In the eighth Eddie began to misbehave, and it looked as if the Yankees had a good chance to get to him, but they were prevented from finishing up in the ninth by Umpire Westervelt calling the game.

With the score 6 to 1 in Boston's favor Williams began the Yankees' half of the eighth with a double to the left field fence. Ford fanned, Daniels beat out a hit to Yerkes, and Dolan singled past Wagner, scoring Williams. Daniels raced to third on the hit and counted on a sacrifice fly by Chase. Cree's hopper off Bradley's shins put Dolan on third and he stole home while Wagner was returning the ball to Cicotte after Cree's steal. Knight had a chance to tie up the game with one of his old-time drives, but he lofted a foul for Catcher Williams.

The Sox scored in the first inning on singles by Hendrickson and D. Lewis and Engle's double. Hendrickson's double and a single by Yerkes added another run in the third inning. A pass and Yerkes's double sent in the third run in the fifth inning, and another came in the sixth on a pass and steal and a single by A. Williams. Yerkes's second double, Speaker's single, and an error by Ford helped to two runs in the seventh.

Detroit Wins, Then Loses.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 4.—Cleveland and Detroit broke even to-day, Detroit winning the first, 2 to 0, and Cleveland the second, 8 to 6. Cleveland outbatted and outfielded Detroit in the first, but the Tigers had the luck. Krapp was taken out of the second after he had passed the first three men and the fourth had hit for two bases. Willett was hit hard. Scores:

TIRE ECONOMY

The 1912 Locomobile "Six" runs farther on a set of tires than any other "48" Six that we know of anywhere. This is due to large tires, moderate weight, and the most careful balancing of weight. The differential never drags the rear tires on corners. Special features of our shaft drive and rear axle produce conditions favorable to long life of tires. This advantage of our "Six" is of paramount importance. One of our "Sixes" toured Europe and returned without having to change one of the four original shoes.

NEW YORK, THURSDAY, OCT. 5, 1911.

LA FOLLETTEISM.

In his autobiography Senator La Follette says "a more brazen defiance of the law could scarcely be conceived" than the protest of the St. Paul Railway against the Granger laws passed by Wisconsin in 1874. The Senator is ingenuous in making this statement. Almost in the same sentence he gives the words of President Alexander Mitchell that the company would disregard the provisions of the law "until the courts have finally passed upon the question of its validity." The Senator is not alone in his idea that to take a judicial interpretation of a statute is defiance of it. Laws recently have been passed forbidding aggrieved railways to take their case into court, and other laws have been passed putting prohibitory penalties upon such action. Legislators speaking in their official capacity have said that they would have their way with railways or would bankrupt them, and more than one State has threatened a revival of the nullification movement because a railway tested the constitutionality of a statute in a Federal court.

Attention is not called to the Senator's remarks because of their personal bearing, but because it is characteristic of the agitation both of those times and these. Now as then the railways are accused of defiance of the laws which if obeyed would, their authors assert, restore the prosperity which all men desire. The parallel is interesting because there are signs that once again the anti-railway campaign is to take the course it did on the earlier occasion. The Granger laws which were designed to produce prosperity were repealed in disgust with their workings, and the repeal was followed by the prosperity which had not followed the enactment. It might be thought that the repeal and the enactment were of equal authority, and that the second thought might be considered the better. Not so. The repeal is proof rather of the increased wickedness of the railways. The Senator himself says that the repeal was caused by bribery and political manipulation, and that the cause of corporation control was thus thrust back many years.

At least the interval was not wasted. Between the episodes of the two anti-railway or Granger agitations this country enjoyed such prosperity of every kind and for all classes as the world had never witnessed, and this country would be fortunate to experience soon again. Wisconsin has shared this betterment, the value of its farms having increased between 1900 and 1910 by 75 per cent., and of farm buildings 85 per cent. In value the increase of both classes was from $511,419,000 to over one billion dollars. These are the conditions which the Senator is undertaking to improve upon by a crusade against corporations in general, and railways and trusts in particular. It is not too much to say that the Wisconsin farmers would still be in their slough of despond were it not for the railways and makers of agricultural machinery. It is not suggested that the farmers had no grievances, and that the railways were beyond reproach. The suggestion simply is that whatever were the troubles of the earlier Granger period they have been amply remedied, and that the farmers are prosperous up to the demands of avarice, without the aid of legislation such as was a false reliance then, and yet which is now revived in spirit if not in exact terms. Singular as it may seem the same remedy is "exhibited," as the doctors say, for opposite conditions. When the Senator entered public life there was an excessive supply of railways. They had been so eagerly sought, and their construction had been so improvidently fostered, that they had opened more lands than was advisable, and there was an excess of crops, of which there is now a deficiency. The farmers sometimes burned their grain, and the railways entered into cutthroat competition for such as found a market. There was little other traffic, and the railways were starved at the same time that the farmers were suffering. On both sides there was uneconomic or cutthroat competition, and neither railways nor customers were able to show suitable consideration for the other.

Wisconsin was not the only State which repealed the laws that were the prototypes of those the Judges in recent years have denounced from the bench as a reproach to civilization. And the temper of the two periods is so similar that now, instead of acquiescence in the declaration of the law, there is a movement for the recall of Judges, and intrusting the welfare of the community to the passion of its wilder elements without the restraints of law. The Western States learned by hard experience that it is a mistake to deprive the railways of the income which makes them useful public servants, and that legislation of that character deprived that section of the country of the capital which it needed for its development. There is danger that a like experience confronts the entire country if a temper like the Senator's is allowed to prevail.

MURPHY AND HIS ASSEMBLYMEN.

Murphy and McCooey are singling out for retirement those Democratic members of the Assembly who have shown that they have souls of their own and enough independence to disobey the orders of the bosses. It is Murphy's aim to reduce the Legislature to the level of a troop of performing dogs who can be trusted at all times to do what they are told to do. So it happens that Assemblyman Terry in the First Brooklyn district, and Fry in the Fifteenth, were set aside in the Assembly conventions Tuesday evening; the order was given that they should not be renominated, and the conventions obeyed. Wherever Murphy strikes down an independent in this way, the decent Democrats in the district should make it a point of principle to find if possible a worthy candidate to vote for.

LITTLE ETHIOPIANS.

Out of laws covered by innocent headings the Campaign Committee of the Republican Club of New York has dug up two score "jokers" concealing Democratic appropriations that amount, certainly, to $413,132, perhaps to considerably more. The friends who got together in perpetrating these "jokers" cared nothing, of course, for the constitutional interdict: "No private or local bill which may be passed by the Legislature shall embrace more than one subject, and that shall be expressed in the title." Who would have thought that the Gaetens law, Chapter 452, tactfully headed "An act * * * in relation to the salary and removal of county detectives," imbedded a provision for $13,200 worth of new jobs for the Kings County Democracy?

Felix Sanner's bill creating more places for District Attorneys in Kings is a plain $10,000 salary "grab." The Goldstein law removes the maximum limit on the salaries of clerks—to what point will they be raised? The Gurnett bill permits the Commissioners of the new "Town of Dix" to charge up such expenses as they choose. No one can tell what the McGrath yearly pensions of $5,000 for retired Municipal Court Judges will amount to. Mr. Foley's bill changing the salary-fixing power over court clerks; The McManus's measure performing a like service for Surrogates' clerks, and the Oliver law giving more jobs as examiners to the Controller's office, are commitments to expenditures that cannot be estimated. But the outlays of $400,000 unearthed by the committee do not appear upon the schedule of State appropriations. Their existence is made known by the labors of an intelligently conducted opposition.

BOROUGH PRESIDENT CONNOLLY.

Queens is becoming a borough of homes. By the character and intelligence of its population, by its wealth and its importance in the municipality, Queens is going to be a borough of which any man might count it a distinction to be the President, in which any man might be proud to be a trusted and respected political leader. Queens is fortunate in getting rid of Gresser and in the election of Magistrate Connolly to succeed him. President Connolly has a great opportunity; he has a future. It depends altogether upon him whether he avails himself of the opportunity.

Public office is not worth while, the Borough Presidency is not worth while to Mr. Connolly, unless he can make a record of efficiency that will distinguish him in the eyes of the community. If he shows himself to be entirely upright and quite beyond the reach of evil influences in whatever guise they come, he may, to be sure, be defeated in some future campaign, but what of that? There are no rewards of the public career that are worth purchasing at the price of compromises with conscience. Besides, Queens is not always going to be Cassidy's private preserve. The population there is taking on a new quality. President Connolly will find ample support and encouragement if he determines to administer his office as a public trust.

M'CABE AND DUNLAP.

Dr. Wiley is right. Commenting upon the news that Solicitor McCabe has been "permitted to resign" from his place on the Board of Food and Drug Inspection and that Dr. F. S. Dunlap, his fellow conspirator against the Chief Chemist, has leave of absence until President Taft's return to Washington, Dr. Wiley remarks: "If any-one thinks the adulteration snake is killed he is very much mistaken."

James Wilson is still Secretary of Agriculture, Charles F. McCabe is still Solicitor of the department. Under the "joker" slipped into the appropriation bill for 1911 by Congressman Scott, the departmental rule is still in force that prescribes the preparation of all cases against future adulterators and poisoners only "at the direction of the Solicitor." It is the Solicitor who is to recommend to the Secretary "whether the case shall be reported to the Department of Justice for prosecution." By the exercise of this power Mr. McCabe, according to the testimony before the Moss Committee, held in abeyance 2,977 cases recommended for prosecution by the Bureau of Chemistry against companies and individuals whom it found violating the Federal Pure Food and Drugs act. Solicitor McCabe has still this power.

The act of 1906 says plainly that, when the Bureau of Chemistry has reported a preparation to be misbranded or adulterated and the report has been sustained by a hearing, the Secretary of Agriculture "shall" turn the case over to the "proper District Attorney." Solicitor McCabe's position is in direct conflict with the law. The Sun's dispatch from its Washington correspondent yesterday said:

> Secretary Wilson made it plain to friends to-day that he had every confidence in the Solicitor and that under no circumstances would he consent to the retirement of Mr. McCabe.

Far from being killed the adulteration snake is not even scotched. By the relieving of McCabe and Dunlap of their duties on the Food Inspection Board, and the substitution of the friendly Dr. Doolittle, Dr. Wiley seems to be restored to power. But his every act toward the effective prosecution of offenders against the law is still subordinated to the judgment of Solicitor McCabe, who has abated thousands of prosecutions. Surely this is not the "much more radical action" which President Taft contemplated in his letter to Mr. Wilson vindicating Dr. Wiley.

To what size will the heavy automobile trucks that tear up this city's flimsy pavements attain? No doubt the pavements should be made stronger. But Secretary Cornell of the National Highways Protective Society says that the trucks are becoming bigger and heavier than any pavement built at a reasonable cost can stand. A limit should be fixed somewhere.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Persistency May Be Stupidity.

John D. Rockefeller, in the large leisure of his advancing years, has come to give away for the public benefit counsel almost as often as he gives half-millions of money—and that is often, as more people ought to know than do. His latest piece of advice, is this: "Don't change; just stick to one thing till you succeed at it."

Persistency is, indeed, a good quality, and essential to any sort of success, but the wisely persistent man is he who persists in hunting for the thing that he can do with most advantage to himself and others. The man who sticks in a place for which he is not fitted, simply because he is in it, makes a complete failure of his life, and so does he who sticks to a thing that cannot give him an adequate reward for his exertions. Frequent changes from one occupation to another may mean weak yielding to the superable obstacles to be found in every career; it may also mean an intelligent and wholly praiseworthy effort to find, not an easy place, but the right place, and again—and again it leads to success in every way worthy of the name.

Mr. Rockefeller himself did not begin his business life as an oil man.

A Prophecy, Not an Achievement.

Except when aviators have what everybody recognizes as unusual luck, their attempts at prolonged flight all provide contemporaneous history with a long chapter of accidents. Their fragile craft suffer injury more or less serious in a large minority, if not a majority, of their landings, and the aviators themselves are so wonted to bumps and bruises that they pay no attention to anything less than broken bones. All this indicates that the aeroplane, though theoretically a successful machine and ranking high among the wonders of an age abounding in wonders, is not yet what can correctly be called a practical means of transportation.

In other words, in spite of all our very pardonable exultation over the achievements of the Wrights and their imitators, men are still experimenting with flight, rather than flying, and the conquest of the air remains to be a triumph of the future. How little has been already done is shown by the fact that before the aviator ventures far from home he must arrange for a special railway train, with a machine shop and a troop of skilled workmen on board, to keep as nearly under him as possible and always to be ready, when he descends, to make elaborate repairs and substitutions. Except for the fact that the aviator himself is more likely to be killed than hurt, doubtless each of these now familiar aviation specials would also carry a surgeon and a trained nurse or two. That they do not carry a Coroner is presumably due to the restriction of that official's power by county lines.

The truth is that the present aeroplane is to the flying machine what the now almost forgotten "horseless carriage" of the early eighties was to the automobile of to-day—a promise or prophecy, only, and demanding faith more than exciting hope. The automobile is not yet perfect, but there are few things terrestrial more stanch and trustworthy than the best of them, and they're all pretty good. Of course there is no reason to despair of the aeroplane. It is a magnificent invention, its faults are remediable, and its construction is improving as steadily as the skill of the men who daily, and not unnobly, risk their lives in riding this most capricious steed.

But the aeroplane is not yet the practical vehicle which we have been calling it, and perhaps it will not become one till it ceases to be a three-dimensional machine, since men have no inherited capacity for running machines of that sort.

Paying High for an Uncertainty.

A company that manufactures a breakfast food has contracted to pay the owners of a building at the upper end of Times Square $25,000 a year for the privilege of maintaining on its roof a big electric sign. That is a lot of money to spend for the mere writing of a name in seeming fire, but perhaps the expenditure will be profitable. It will be so there if anywhere in the city, for nowhere else would the sign be seen by more people, and in only a few, if any, places by as many.

Yet doubts as to the wisdom of this sort of advertising will not be confined to the business offices of newspapers. One argument against the electric sign as an advertisement is that so little can be said on it and that the appeal is to the eye rather than to intelligence. Another is the existence of a rather widespread dislike for outdoor advertising as aesthetically offensive and as compelling an attention that is often reluctant and just as often resentful.

Unquestionably some people are prejudiced against wares thus advertised and will avoid their purchase when doing so does not involve personal inconvenience or loss. Not many are as sensitive as this, but, however few, they count for something. And it is hardly possible for the outdoor advertiser to know whether or not he is helped by expenditures of this kind. Certainly he cannot know with any approach to accuracy how much he is benefited. Prosperity, if it come, may be in spite of the big sign, not because of it.

THE NEW OCEAN PARK.

Mr. Stover Was Prime Mover in its Acquisition by the City.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Now that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment has taken another step toward acquiring an ocean park at Rockaway, I believe it timely that the person who was the prime mover in the agitation for an ocean park for the city at Rockaway should receive the recognition to which he is entitled, and that person is Park Commissioner Charles B. Stover.

When the agitation was started by the East Side Civic Club in May, 1904, Commissioner Stover was the club's Secretary, and as Secretary and later President of the East Side Civic Club and later as President of the Outdoor Recreation League, Mr. Stover devoted several years' time to the work of persuading the city officials to acquire this tract.

A resolution was adopted on Oct. 18, 1907, by the Board of Estimate authorizing condemnation proceedings for the tract at Rockaway Park, but this being the panic year the Board of Estimate on Nov. 1 in its policy of retrenchment adopted a resolution instructing the Corporation Counsel to take no further action toward acquiring a seaside park until instructed by the Board of Estimate, and I understand this resolution is still in force.

For years the work of arousing public opinion and persuading the city of the necessity of acquiring Rockaway Park was almost entirely done by Mr. Stover. If the city had accepted the offer of Edward T. Hatch in May, 1906, of 400 acres for $1,000,000 in cash, (which offer was addressed to Mr. Stover, then President of the Outdoor Recreation League,) the city would have secured for less money twice as much acreage as it proposes buying to-day.

JOSEPH M. PRICE.

New York, Oct. 3, 1911.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

When the poet W. J. Lampton rhythmically blames the Sugar Trust for the rise in the price of sugar from $3.75 to $7.25 per 100 pounds he helps to fix a falsity in the public mind. The shortness of this year's European beet crop and last season's Cuban crop conjoin to raise for the nonce the price of raw sugar. The refiners, and among them the Trust, can be shown to be working on a narrower margin than ever, making less profit out of high prices than out of low. Of course poets will not believe it. They should, but they do not go to the heart of things they write about. Their responsibility ends for them when an editor prints their mellifluous solecisms on the editorial page, but the harm they do is hard to calculate. A clergyman similarly indifferent to the truth once started the lying assertion that on the morning after the announcement of one of John D. Rockefeller's gifts of millions to the cause of education the price of kerosene oil was raised one cent a gallon. The untruth had that undertouch of grim humor which appeals so to us Americans. No doubt the local poets did what they could to put the falsehood into verse, and so fixed it in the common mind. At any rate, without any disturbance in the price of oil, the story went the rounds of the press and became a stock anecdote the country through. And similarly with Mr. Lampton's felicitously mendacious implication:

> "So they must put the prices up;
> It's logical, you note,
> And you and me, consumers, we
> Have got to be the goat."

For careless aspersion commend me to poets—children of imagination anyway—and alas! to clergymen—who know less about worldly things than most others, but who whimsically affect on occasion to know rather more.

> A little malice now and then
> Delights the best (and worst) of men.

New York, Oct. 2, 1911. HARD FACT.

Clergymen's Fees.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is a matter of very deep conviction on my part that if any of my brother clergy would honestly try the "no fee" experiment they would experience a great, a threefold surprise at the discoveries they would thus make: first, as to the large percentage of both ministers and clergymen who are looking upon "fees," even for baptisms, as pay; second, as to the almost universal disapproval of the fee system among the people; third, as to the number of good people who are convinced, from the fact of the fee system, that the clergy are also only in their profession "for what there is in it," and the resultant lessening of their influence among the very people they most wish to reach.

It would not be long before they would realize that they had not known the real conditions, as the people had never discussed the matter freely with them so long as they knew they took fees, and in the end they would thank God for having guided them into their new position. A CLERGYMAN.

The Subway Blunder.

From The Journal of Commerce, Oct. 4.

The increase in real estate valuations, which is likely to be maintained, will add less than $15,000,000 to the debt limit, while last year an increase of nearly $800,000,000 was recorded, adding $80,000,000 to the margin for incurring debt for rapid transit and other purposes. Little advance in that respect is in prospect now, while the need of it will begin to loom large as the subway contracts are multiplied. The sad fact will be realized after a while that the subway schemes so heedlessly entered upon will run up against the debt limit long before they result in any substantial increase of transit facilities, and will show a cost to the city far greater than it need have been. There is a great disappointment in store on the rapid transit question, and a new start will have to be made after much loss has been incurred.

Campaign Against Business.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

"Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." In the earlier history of our country the building of railroads, the establishment of large manufacturing and other big business enterprises were hailed with joy, as promising increased employment and general prosperity. Our schoolbooks, our teachers and professors pointed to such undertakings as evidence of commendable enterprise and thrift. Since the death of McKinley came the advent of the "open mouths," the professional, self-seeking agitators, the muckrakers, the "yellow" and semi-"yellow" journals. Over the ruins of prostrate business the blatant demagogue howls, in the hope that in the wreck, ruin, and confusion he may be elevated to political power. E. S. WELLS.

WILL AID COTTON GROWERS.

Government Officials Expect to Increase Crop Value by Millions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—An effort to secure higher prices for cotton by an improvement in the methods of handling, grading, and marketing the crop, is to be made by the Government this year, in co-operation with prominent cotton growers.

Officials of the Agricultural Department are planning to take the crop from plantations selected as experimental points. The Government experts will use the most approved methods of grading, handling, baling, and selling, and will make accurate returns on each operation for the benefit of cotton growers.

Efforts are being made to induce farmers' associations and local bodies to purchase sets of the Government standards for use in preparing the cotton for the market.

The price of the standards has been reduced from $35 to $30 for the benefit of farmers' associations, and the department is recommending that a "half series" be purchased, which will give farmers a fairly accurate grade on their cotton. It is believed cotton raisers of the South will benefit to the extent of millions of dollars if the improvement in handling and marketing methods can be made general.

APPEAL FOR SEA ISLANDERS.

Thousands in Need Because of Storm That Swept Southern Coast.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The effects of the devastating storm of August 27 and 28 are more serious than at first believed. Reports from the storm-swept Sea Islands off the South Carolina coast show conditions that demand immediate relief.

On St. Helena Island, where the hurricane struck with terrific force, the suffering is great. The storm raged for thirty-six hours; the wind blowing some of the time at the rate of 110 to 115 miles an hour. Houses were blown down, bridges carried away, boats were sunk or carried so far inland by the tide that their recovery is doubtful on account of the expense of removal, and the cotton crop, upon which the people depend for subsistence, is practically destroyed. Three-fourths of the island was flooded so that farmers who are able to save from one-third to one-half their crop will be fortunate.

Over 100 families have lost everything—crops, horses, and animals. Winter is coming with no hope of making another crop before next year, and the people of the island are facing a year of famine, want, and suffering such as they have not experienced since the great '93 storm. An unusual amount of fever and sickness, due to the flooded condition of the island, adds distress to the situation.

The Penn Normal, Industrial and Agricultural School is located on St. Helena Island, and has been the friend of these negroes for the last fifty years. The school, which is doing all it can to help, has itself suffered damage to its buildings and in loss of animals and crops. The loss is especially severe at this time, when the school is putting forth every effort to raise a fund of $50,000 for the erection and equipment of industrial buildings which, it is hoped, will be completed to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of this, the oldest of the negro industrial schools. This will open the door of industrial opportunity to the 7,000 negroes of St. Helena and to the people of the neighboring islands, which should mitigate in the future such sweeping disaster as has resulted from the recent storm.

The Penn School is the demonstration station of the United States Department of Agriculture for the Sea Island district. Last year the farmers who followed the department instructions more than doubled their crops. This year they would have done better still, but the hurricane has swept away the labor of many months and left the people destitute. Now they are looking to the school, their oldest friend, for aid in this time of need, and the school sends out a most urgent appeal for relief for these suffering families.

Any help will be gratefully received. Money can be sent to L. Hollingsworth Wood, 2 Wall Street, New York City; to the Treasurer of Penn School, Thomas P. Cope, care of Girard Trust Company, Philadelphia, Penn., and clothing, shoes, and blankets can be sent to Penn School, St. Helena Island, South Carolina, via Ocean Steamship Company to Savannah. ROSSA B. COOLEY, Principal Penn School.

Archbishop Farley's Training.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

You question the value of Archbishop Farley's testimony as to the quantity of wickedness in this city on the ground that his knowledge of evil is "purely academic" and that he was "never a parish priest in the slums" and "that his whole career had been passed in the cloister and the See house."

Archbishop Farley is rather a notable figure in the community. One of his best-known qualities is a large knowledge of human nature and sympathy with human need. This is not accidental. His training made him so. Before he became Cardinal's Secretary in 1884, he was an assistant priest at West Brighton, S. I., for two years. After he relinquished his duties as Cardinal's Secretary he became pastor of St. Gabriel's Church, Thirty-seventh Street, between First and Second Avenues. Here for eighteen years he was as far removed from the cloister as from the See house, for he was not only very active in parochial affairs and very close to the every-day life of a thickly settled tenement quarter, but he was very well known all over the city for his wide parochial activity. In fact he continued as an active tenement quarter pastor until he became Archbishop in 1902. J. G. A.

The Absent Administration.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

With the affairs of state of the world at tension point—the morning's despatches tell us the Secretary of State is at the Hot Springs, the Assistant Secretary at Chicago, the President lost in the wilds of the West.

Really is this peregrinating Administration treating the people fairly? or is absence from posts of duty a public advantage? A. W.

HELP FOR POOR TOM.

"Poor Tom's a-cold?" Let us clothe him in the purple of hill and sky;
In the crimson and gold of sunset; in the jewels of night on high;
Let us soothe his foolish terrors, and tell of the radiant morn
That hath ever followed darkness; let us laugh with a gentle scorn
At his sack-cloth robe and his bruises, poor wight that never saw Joy, Beauty, Trust, or Pity—poor slave of the giant, Law.

"Poor Tom's a-cold?" Let us nurse him in the lap of our human Love
That hath passed through the slime primeval, and will pierce through the Heavens above;
Let us tell brave tales of conquest where Life unfaltering trod,
And valiant Hope, and dauntless Faith,
that are older than creed or god.
Let us pray again to the Spirit; the thing men felt and saw,
And wondered at and worshipped before they worshipped Law. K. O'C.

SCHLEY FUNERAL TO-DAY.

Naval Escort Will Accompany Cortege to Arlington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Funeral services for Rear Admiral Schley will be held in St. John's Church, here, at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. The interment will be at the National Cemetery at Arlington. Four companies of marines and two companies of bluejackets from Philadelphia, Annapolis, and Washington, and a naval band will form a military escort to accompany the body from the Schley home to the church and thence to the grave in Arlington.

The army will not be represented in the parade. Delay in advising the Navy Department of the wishes of the family in regard to a military funeral has operated to curtail the funeral cortège below the numerical strength provided for in the regulations for a Rear Admiral. Admiral Silas B. Casey and Dr. Schley, son of the dead naval hero, presented the request of the family for a military funeral at the Navy Department to-day. The department at once put its plans into effect.

The funeral was deferred until to-morrow to await the arrival of Capt. Thomas F. Schley from Fort Logan Col., where he has been on duty as recruiting officer.

Former Associate Justice Magner of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, Lieut. Gen. N. A. Miles, U. S. A.; Rear Admirals Remey, McLean, Barker, Cromwell, Nicholson, Selfridge, Gheen, Silas, and Carey will be pallbearers.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 4.—After a conference with the Navy Department over the telephone to-day Capt. John H. Gibbons, Superintendent of the Naval Academy, issued orders for the 700 midshipmen to go to Washington to-morrow to attend the funeral of Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley. The midshipmen will be paraded as a brigade of infantry under arms, and will form the guard of honor in the march to Arlington.

PUTS POETRY IN COTTON SUIT

Lehmann Quotes Pope and Shakespeare in Appeal Against "Corner."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The legal contest before the Supreme Court of the United States over the question of whether a corner of the cotton market is a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law began to-day, when Solicitor General Lehmann filed a brief contending that the law so applies. The point arose from the appeal of the Government from the action of the New York Federal court in quashing certain counts of an indictment against James A. Patten, Eugene G. Scales, Frank B. Hayne, and William P. Brown.

The Solicitor General quoted the poet Pope in support of his contention that a corner was more than a gambling transaction, and likewise turned to literature in an argument that such a corner as alleged, not only resulted in "squeezing the shorts," but in a restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman law.

"A general corner can no more be accomplished in a commodity like cotton without affecting the entire commerce in that staple," says the Solicitor General, "than Shylock's bond could be enforced without shedding a drop of blood. As well say that Shylock's purpose was simply the pound of flesh. He was ravenous for the blood that would follow his knife. And these defendants sought the blood of the trade in cotton, the last penny of price they could draw from the 'shorts' or spinners."

AGAIN SUES COAL ROADS.

Wickersham Files New Brief with Supreme Court Charging Monopoly.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Attorney General Wickersham to-day, by filing a brief in the Supreme Court of the United States, began his fight before that tribunal to have the principal coal-carrying railroads and coal-owning companies in the anthracite coal region adjudged to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. An entirely different attack is aimed at the corporations from that made in Pennsylvania, where the Government lost on nearly every point.

The frequency with which the Attorney General in his brief cited the Standard Oil and Tobacco decisions indicated that these decisions have revolutionized the methods of "trust busting" in the Department of Justice.

The Government argues that the defendant railroads, the Philadelphia & Reading, Lehigh Valley, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Central of New Jersey, Erie, and the New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroads; the holding company, (the Reading,) and affiliated coal companies are in the combination.

The merger was charged as being particularly prejudicial to the public interest. "In most any other branch of trade—tobacco or oil, for example," said the Attorney General, "it is at least possible for a monopoly to be broken by the influx of fresh capital, attracted by high profits; but in a monopoly in anthracite, the supply of which is limited, there can be no such protection."

POSTAL BANK FOR PANAMA.

But Canal Zone Residents Won't Get Interest on Deposits.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Residents of the Canal Zone who have long desired to put their savings in the hands of the Government for safe-keeping have had their wish granted. President Taft has signed an order establishing a postal savings system on the canal strip, which will go into effect on Nov. 8.

The system to be instituted differs materially from that in the States, in that no interest will be paid on the deposits, the object being merely to provide a depository for the funds of the Canal Zone inhabitants. The new system is not under the direction of the Postoffice Department, but under the Isthmian Canal Commission. The Board of Directors of the Canal Zone system are the Collector of Revenues, the Auditor and the Treasurer of the Canal Government acting ex-officio. Deposits of a dollar or more will be accepted.

TAFT PARDONS NOME WOMAN.

Lottie Burns Pleaded Hardships Would Follow Release in Alaskan Winter.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Responding to a woman's appeal for immediate release or the privilege of remaining in jail several months after her sentence expires in order to escape the hardships which surely would follow the termination of her imprisonment in the dead of Winter in Alaska, President Taft has pardoned Lottie Burns, convicted at Nome of selling liquor without a license.

The woman's sentence of one year would have expired in February, but she will be released at once with the opportunity to gather food and fuel for the Winter.

OREGON ORDERED TO SEA.

To Cruise for First Time in Six Years After Being Rebuilt.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 4.—For the first time in six years the battleship Oregon has been ordered made ready for sea. Orders received at the Puget Sound Navy Yard yesterday directed that the famous fighting craft and the cruiser St. Louis prepare for a cruise by Oct. 24.

The Oregon was recently put in commission as a part of the Pacific reserve squadron, after having been rebuilt at a cost of more than $1,000,000.

DRUGGISTS INDORSE WILEY.

Michigan Retailers Pledge Co-operation in Pure Food Work.

FLINT, Mich., Oct. 4.—The Michigan Association of Retail Druggists to-day adopted resolutions supporting Dr. Wiley and his associates in their position on the enforcement of the pure food laws and President Taft for his indorsement of Dr. Wiley's attitude.

The association pledged its co-operation to Dr. Wiley in a continuance of his efforts to have pure food and drugs.

PERKINS POINTS WAY TO AID BUSINESS

Recommends Commission, Like Tariff Board, to Study the Situation.

CHIEF FEATURE IS PUBLICITY

Favors System of Statements to Government by Large Companies Explaining Their Operations.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 4.—Speaking to-day before the Detroit Board of Commerce on the topic "It Is the Function of the Law to Define and Punish Wrongdoing and Not to Throttle Business," George W. Perkins of New York said:

"One occasionally hears the opinion expressed that the people of this country would never consent to the enactment of any legislation by which the Sherman law would be amended. The Republican Party, at its National Convention in June, 1908, expressed itself as being in favor of amending the Sherman act; it clearly indicated that there existed companies having 'power and opportunity to effect monopolies,' and also clearly indicated the lines along which the law should be amended.

"The Democratic Party, at the same time, in the trust plank of its platform, among other things, declared for a policy that would prohibit the control by a 'manufacturing or trading corporation engaged in inter-State commerce of more than 50 per cent. of the total amount of any product consumed in the United States.'

"With these platforms the respective parties went before the people of this country in a vigorous campaign. Each party attacked the other's platform, and the subject was debated pro and con all over the land. With such platforms and after such a campaign, the people voted on the issues submitted, and, by a plurality of over a million and a quarter votes, returned the Republican Party to power in both the legislative and executive branches.

"What did the legislative branch do to carry out its beliefs on the trust question as expressed to the people in its party's platform and in its campaign arguments? It did nothing. It left the question just where it had been for fifteen or twenty years; left the Supreme Court with no choice except to interpret the law as it stood. In place of proceeding to accurately define wrong and inflict proper punishment, which is the function of the law, it left the executives of the Government in an embarrassing situation. In place of providing the suitable publicity and supervision for which the Republican Party pronounced and which the people of this country indorsed by a plurality of a million and a quarter votes, nothing, absolutely nothing at all, was done.

"And we are now witnessing the spectacle of the Republican Party not only failing to cary out the trust plank in its own platform, but actually vigorously carrying out the trust plank of the Democratic platform, which it so strenuously attacked and which the American people repudiated.

"Would it not seem to be prudent and just to call a halt on indiscriminate attacks on our great international agencies of industrial trade until some one in authority can make clear how we can legally carry on a large successful international industrial business?

"We have had commissions appointed that are now investigating how railroads should be capitalized in order to prevent stock watering schemes; we have had a commission appointed to investigate the postal rates; we have had a commission appointed to investigate and report on the tariff, and on all three of these great and important business questions judgment is being suspended and action is not to be taken until these commissions have reported.

"In view of all that has happened, why cannot a commission be appointed in the same way for the same purpose in connection with our great industrial agencies of trade?

"I believe we must have some such system as the following:

"A group of men in a given State have a given business. By their inventive genius, executive ability and indomitable courage they develop that business to a point where they want to go into other States and across the seas to push it. They want to take in additional partners and sell to everybody, everywhere. In order to do this they foresee that they will need a large capital—more than they or their local friends can provide. They therefore have to go to the public and ask them to become shareholders. When this condition arises my belief is that these men should go to our Federal Government and at least lay bare their plan, expose their capitalization, their methods and their objects; that they should agree that at stated intervals they would submit to the Government complete statements as to the operations of their business, so that the Government in turn might say to the labor employed, to the consumer served, and to the investor, that the statements these men are making are complete and honest.

"This does not mean State socialism; it does not mean Government ownership; it does not mean Government management; it does not mean fixing prices; it does not mean that the Government would be running our industrial business; but it does mean supervision and publicity similar to that which is now being required of our banks and our railroads. It does mean that some authority as big and broad as the territory in which the said company wants to operate will be in a position to say to the people, 'In our judgment this is right,' or 'this is wrong.' In connection with securing suitable publicity and supervision we could gradually make laws, as we have with our railroads, that would accurately define wrongs and inflict proper punishment.

"In short, a system by which publicity, full, frank and complete, could be had from the proper source, will of itself eradicate a very large part of all our trouble, and at the same time preserve for our people the enormous asset that they have in the efficiency of these great inter-State and international agencies of trade, that have been built up after such a struggle, and in order to meet the conditions brought about by the great evolution that has taken place in the last quarter of a century."

MORE POWER FOR WILEY.

Controls Pure Food Board Which Will Decide When to Prosecute.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Headed and controlled by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the Chemistry Bureau chief, around whom the pure food controversy centred, the Pure Food and Drug Board of the Department of Agriculture, which passed upon matters of vital concern to immense manufacturing interests, will hereafter have largely augmented authority. Dr. R. E. Doolittle of New York, a veteran chemist, named to succeed Solicitor McCabe on the board, was personaly selected by Dr. Wiley. The two will act as a working majority, the only other member being Dr. F. L. Dunlop, assistant chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, who acted as McCabe's ally, and who will remain away on a vacation until after the President's return. Dr. Doolittle has for some time been head of the New York branch of the Chemistry Bureau.

The official order of Secretary Wilson, issued to-day, transferred to the Food and Drug Board many of the powers that have been exercised by Solicitor McCabe since July 11, 1910. It gives the board authority to determine what cases shall be pursued to prosecution, but Secretary Wilson, of course, will exercise the right of approval or disapproval. The new order provides that after a hearing has been held the Board of Food and Drug Inspection shall determine whether there will be a prosecution. The power of the solicitor is apparently restricted to the "preparation and transmittal to the Department of Justice" of such cases for prosecution.

MISS GRACE DENTON A GARDEN CITY BRIDE

Daughter of Mrs. Augustus Denton Married to J. H. Pinckney, Jr., in Cathedral of Incarnation.

MUSIC BEFORE CEREMONY

Large Reception at Home of Bride's Mother in New Hyde Park—Bridal Trip to New Mexico.

Miss Grace Denton, daughter of Mrs. Augustus Denton and the late Mr. Denton, was married last evening in the Cathedral of the Incarnation, at Garden City, L. I., to James Henry Pinckney, Jr., of Queens. The ceremony took place at 7:30. The Rev. Charles H. Snedeker, pastor of St. George's Church, Hempstead, officiated, assisted by Archdeacon Roy Farrell Duffield.

The church was decorated with greens and Autumnal flowers. While the guests were arriving a special musical programme was rendered by Dr. W. W. Woodcock, choirmaster of the cathedral.

The bride wore a gown of white satin draped with India silk, an heirloom in the bridegroom's family, and a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Edward H. Crandall of Brooklyn, wore a costume of lavender crepe, and the maid of honor, Miss Isabel Wentz of Norristown, Penn., wore a gown of yellow crepe.

The bridesmaids wore costumes of yellow and lavender. They were the Misses Elsie Hegeman of Westfield, N. J., Maud Turner of Garden City, May Denton of New York, and Grace Garretson of Hollis.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Charles C. Pinckney, as best man, and the ushers included Frederick Pinckney, another brother; Alden P. Whitman of Westfield, Frank Denton of Hollis, Russell G. Hendrickson, and Charles W. Kane.

A large reception was held afterward at the home of the bride's mother in New Hyde Park. Later the couple left on a bridal trip to New Mexico. Upon their return they will live in New Hyde Park.

WEDDED AT HOTEL GOTHAM.

Miss Bertha E. Schloo Married to Walter Burnett Woodruff.

The wedding of Miss Bertha E. Schloo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schloo of Corona, L. I., to Walter Burnett Woodruff of Flushing took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the Hotel Gotham. The Rev. William J. Peck, pastor of the Union Evangelical Church of Corona, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of crepe meteor trimmed with duchess lace and a tulle veil caught up by a cap of duchess lace. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bridal roses.

Miss Anna Louise Woodruff, a sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant, and she wore a costume of pink and white with a lace cap and carried pink roses. Everett Woodruff was his brother's best man.

The bride walked up an aisle in the ballroom of the hotel formed with gilt standards, topped with white and pink asters, and the ceremony was performed under a canopy of palms. Mr. Schloo gave his daughter in marriage.

A large reception was held afterward. Mrs. Schloo, in a gown of Chantilly lace over blue satin, was assisted in receiving by Mrs. John T. Woodruff of Arlington, N. J., the mother of the bridegroom. Later the couple left on their bridal trip, and upon their return will live in Flushing.

Miss Bloch Weds Samuel B. Newman.

Miss Lucile Bloch, daughter of Mrs. Bertha K. Bloch of New Orleans, who recently came to this city to live, and Samuel B. Newman of Cleveland, Ohio, were married last evening at the home of Mrs. David Cohen, a sister of the bride, 3,100 Broadway. The Rev. Maurice H. Harris officiated.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a court train trimmed with real lace and chiffon, and a tulle veil. She carried lilies of the valley and white roses. Mrs. Cohen acted as matron of honor, and wore black crepe meteor, and carried pink roses. Nathan E. Newman was best man for his brother.

Among the guests were Mrs. Josephine Newman of Cleveland, mother of the bridegroom, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. David Goodman, and Martyne Newman.

After a family dinner the couple left for California where they will spend the Winter.

Richardson-Strong Wedding Plans.

Plans for the wedding of Miss Alice Everard Strong, daughter of Mrs. William Everard Strong of this city, to C. Tiffany Richardson, which is to take place on Tuesday, Oct. 10, at Saranac Lake, have been completed.

The ceremony will be performed in the Episcopal Church at Saranac Lake, where Mrs. Moreton Gage, Miss Strong's sister, has a cottage. The Rev. Joseph M. Blanchard, Mr. Richardson's uncle, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. William Lusk, rector of the church.

Miss Strong will have no attendants, nor will there be any ushers. John A. Dix will act as best man. Only relatives will witness the ceremony, after which a wedding breakfast will be served at Mrs. Gage's cottage.

The couple will reside at 35 East Thirtieth Street upon returning from their bridal trip. Mr. Richardson is giving his farewell bachelor dinner to-morrow night at the Union Club.

Shaw-Nevin Wedding on Oct. 11.

Miss Hannah Nevin of Pasadena, Cal., who has spent the last two years in Paris, will be married to Roy A. Shaw of Chicago on Wednesday, Oct. 11, in this city. Miss Nevin arrived here on Tuesday on the Kronprinz Wilhelm and is at the Hotel Gotham, where the wedding will take place. The ceremony will be performed at noon, and Miss Nevin will be attended by her cousin, Miss Springer Strobel of Philadelphia, and will have two flower girls, little Miss Caroline and Miss Bettie Kennedy of Trenton, N. J. Mr. Shaw's brother of St. Louis will act as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stanton, Miss Nevin's stepfather and mother, are here from Pasadena to attend the wedding.

Miss Lockwood to Wed on Oct. 10.

Miss Violette Lockwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benedict Lockwood of this city, and James Ivor McCallum of Washington, D. C., will be married on Tuesday, Oct. 10th at the home of the bride's parents, 49 West Fifty-seventh Street. The wedding will be a quiet one on account of the bride's mother being in mourning, and only the immediate family will be present at the ceremony.

Miss Helen Phillips of Baltimore, Md., a cousin of the bride, will be bridesmaid, and John Henderson of Washington will act as best man.

Morris-Sloane Wedding on Nov. 15.

The wedding of Miss Bess Bryan Sloane, a daughter of Mrs. Nelson H. Henry, and Monson Morris will take place on Nov. 15 at 4 o'clock in the Church of the Ascension, Fifth Avenue and Tenth Street. The Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant will officiate.

Rozinsky—Meyer Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rozinsky of 106 West 115th Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Minnie Rozinsky, to Henry Meyer. A reception will be held at the Ellsmere, 80 West 126th Street, Sunday, Oct. 22, 3 to 6 P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hillard Benjamin will close Brent Lodge at Newport and return to their city home, 20 West Eleventh Street, on Oct. 15.

Mrs. W. Howard Gilder and Miss Louise S. Gilder have come to town for a few days and are at the Wolcott.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, (Miss Margaret Rutherfurd), who were married at Deauville, France, on Sept. 20, sailed yesterday from Europe for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederic Kernochan of 11 Madison Square North and family, who have been abroad, will return about the middle of next month.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon King and family of Newport are spending several days in town and are at the Belmont.

Mrs. Harvey Ladew and Miss Elise Ladew will give a dinner and dance at Elsinore, their country place at Glen Cove, L. I., on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stevens Sands are at the Gotham for a short visit, as their country house at Lebanon Springs is still open.

The Duke of Connaught, the new Governor General of Canada, and the Duchess of Connaught will sail from England to-morrow for Ottawa on the Empress of Britain.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zabriskie Gray (Miss Marian Fish) will be at the Ritz-Carlton this Winter.

Mrs. William Rice and her daughters are due here shortly. They spent the Summer abroad, and will be at the Plaza this Winter. Mrs. Rice's eldest daughter, Miss Mildred Rice, will be one of the season's débutantes.

John Bigelow and Miss Grace Bigelow will soon close their country place, The Squirrels, at Highland Falls, and open their town house, 21 Gramercy Park.

Mr. and Mrs. William Trotter of 25 East Thirtieth Street will close Locust Knoll, their Oyster Bay Summer home, and will return to town in two weeks.

The Misses Oakman have returned from the White Mountains, and have joined Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Oakman, Jr., at their country place, Roslyn, L. I.

MAURETANIA SAILS, CROWDED

Lord Strathcona, Baron Rosen, and Minister Carter Among Her Passengers

The Cunard liner Mauretania sailed yesterday for Liverpool with nearly 400 first cabin passengers, a record for this season's eastward travel. Many of those who sailed had been booked to leave on the steamship Olympic.

The Right Hon. Lord Strathcona sailed after a brief visit to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the newly elected Canadian officials, whom he "ran across," as he expressed it, to have a chat with. He remained in his room, but his secretary said that he was quite well, though tired, and hoped soon to return here.

Baron Rosen, the retiring Russian Ambassador, who returns home probably to become Minister of Foreign Affairs, said that he could not talk for publication.

"I have spent thirty-five years in this country," he said, "and in all that time I have never been misquoted by a newspaper man. I am, therefore, certain that none of you will quote me now incorrectly when I say that I cannot speak on any public subject, for I am still true to my training as a diplomat."

Baron Rosen was accompanied to the pier by Archbishop Platon, head of the Russian Church in North America. He kissed the Ambassador on the cheek in parting. Prince Koudacheff, Chargé d'Affaires of the Russian Embassy in Washington; First Secretary Constantine Nabakoff, Baron Uxkell, attache, and Baron Schlippenbach, the Russian Consul General in New York, Comander Vassilieff, Naval Attaché; W. M. Rogovine, and Charles Crane of Chicago, were at the pier also. United States Minister John Ridgely Carter, who has been transferred from the Balkan States to Buenos Aires, sailed with Mrs. Carter to Europe to pack up in Bucharest and continue to their new home.

Joseph Leiter of Chicago took his mother, Mrs. Mary Leiter, to Germany for her health. He said that he would return soon, but that his mother would remain in Europe during the Winter. Lloyd Bryce, United States Minister to The Hague, and Mrs. Bryce were passengers also.

ONE DEAD, TWO HURT IN AUTO

James Colton of Queens Killed When His Machine Met Trolley Car.

James Colton of 98 Drew Avenue, Union Course, Queens, was instantly killed and two other men seriously injured yesterday morning when an automobile which was owned and driven by Mr. Colton came into a head-on collision with a trolley car of the New York & Long Island Traction Company on the Rockaway Road, near South Ozone Park. The automobile was crumpled up and made a complete wreck. Mr. Colton was hurled into the air over the trolley car landing.

The injured men are Peter Eichenroth of Leggett Avenue, Union Course, and Joseph Murphy of 1,013 Jamaica Avenue, Union Course. The former had a compound fracture of the left leg, lacerations of head, body, and legs, and it is thought serious internal injuries. His condition is serious. Murphy has a fractured leg, lacerations of the face, contusions of the body, and a general shaking up. The injured men are in St. Mary's Hospital at Jamaica.

The Friesner Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Friesner of 136 West Ninety-sixth Street will celebrate their golden wedding on next Sunday by giving a dinner and reception at the Hernstadt in East 115th Street, and will be surrounded by a family circle of three generations. Mr. Friesner is 80 years old, and his wife, who was Miss Caroline Musliner, is 70. They were married on Oct. 6, 1861, and have a married daughter living in Charlotte, Mich.

Mr. Friesner came to New York from Germany in 1848 at the age of 17. He journeyed to Albany to the home of his uncle, Julius Carson, and apprenticed himself there in the jewelry trade. In 1861 he went into partnership with Joseph Friend at 33 John Street. Twelve years ago he took up real estate, but is now retired.

Newspaper Prepared by Electricity.

A daily newspaper prepared entirely by electricity will be a feature of the Electrical Exposition at the New Grand Central Palace, beginning on Oct. 11. The news for the paper will be received at a wireless station in the building, operated by sailors from the electrical school of the navy yard; the type will be set from an electrically driven and headed linotype machine, and the press will be run by an electric motor. An electrically operated bulletin board will be another feature.

HENRY KOLKER IN 'THE GREAT NAME'

More of the Eccentricities of Musical Genius in This Sentimental Farce from the German.

LIKELY TO PLEASE MANY

Star, Though Amusing, Is Artistically Outclassed by Russ Whytal as an Unappreciated Composer.

Musical art, ladies and gentlemen, is the subject of the next discourse. Having satisfactorily disposed of unhappy marriages, motor madness, the Church of Rome, modern matrimonial misfits, dipsomania, and various other ills, the playwright's next lesson will deal with the subject of the public attitude toward another luxury of life.

The composer of successful waltzes in "The Great Name" makes a plea for the people who check their brains with their hats. "Reach their hearts either by laughter or by tears," he says, "and nothing else will matter."

Upon which doctrine the Messrs. Victor Leon and Leo Feld have apparently set out to write a play contrasting art and business in the musical world, which play, in its English adaptation by James Clarence Harvey, was first revealed at the Lyric Theatre last night. But the authors have not realized that though transparent artifice is not unnecessarily a handicap on laughter, it is seldom, if ever, an inspiration to tears. In consequence of which it seems probable that "The Great Name" will be more successful on its comic side than on that which aims at sentiment. It does, in fact, give promise of pleasing many people looking for light and easy entertainment.

The piece is a queer blend of sentimentality and farce, all of a theatrical sort, highly and romantically colored. It is a sort of inevitable development of other plays in which the musical genius, more or less, is the central figure. We have had him in "Merely Mary Ann," in "The Music Master," in "The Concert," compared to which "The Great Name" is a sort of two-ringed circus or "Uncle Tom" with two Uncle Toms. You are hardly through wondering at the wild eccentricities of one of the composers when the second one is introduced, and he is more violent than the one who went before.

The two composers were fellow pupils at the conservatory. One was the prize winner—the hope of his masters. The other showed no especial genius. Now the former, in dire poverty, with a family to support, is suffering torments because no one will produce his symphonies. The latter is a successful composer of waltzes. His torment comes from having to listen to his own pieces. The successful composer once loved a girl. She is now the wife of the unsuccessful one.

What more natural than that they should all meet, and that the successful man in his generosity should agree to father the other's "Orestes" symphony, thereby getting it a hearing from a public that insists on names, even if the name is to be that of a hitherto composer of hurdy-gurdy operettas. But generosity goes further. It secures for the unknown man a cash-down payment of $5,000 for the symphony even before the public has pronounced its verdict. That comes, finally, as you would have it come, with huzzas and wild applause, and laurel wreaths, and speech-making by both composers, the one acknowledging the deception, the other going out to enjoy his triumph.

But it does not come until there has been plenty of excitement and suspense of the kind that the kind of audiences who simply love this kind of play will be sure to love. For all is in readiness when the first violinist has a breakdown. There is danger that the symphony will have to be withdrawn. But no. The composer himself will play the violin. So all ends as it should with everybody happily paired off for the final curtain.

And it is all quite pleasant except that occasionally it is a little noisy. But at the worst there is some compensation in the thought that composers of popular waltzes may get their just punishment even in this world. This one has dreams of better things. And invariably at such times he must hear his own tinkling tunes. If it isn't a hurdy-gurdy it is the cook who, when she is ordered not to sing, goes out whistling it.

Of characterization in the true sense the play shows almost nothing. There is a caricature of a music publisher which will be very funny to people to whom it is not offensive, there are the familiar studies of musical eccentrics, and the conventional characters who are designed to carry the juvenile love interest. But it is conceivable how a somewhat different treatment might have made of the composer of waltzes, a thing nearer to life and further from the theatre than that which Henry Kolker succeeds in disclosing.

Mr. Kolker is a skilled actor in actor ways. He knows how to sentimentalize, and he knows how to be amusing. But he is invariably the actor doing these things and not the real man the actor is assumed to be. For many people this answers the same purpose. But his symbols are invariably theatrical. It is inevitable that he should be compared to Leo Ditrichstein in a much truer part but one on similar lines, and the comparison is always to Mr. Kolker's disadvantage. Even under the circumstances, however, it is difficult to understand why Mr. Kolker so often allows his performance to be affected by intonations of speech which are properly those of the Yiddish music publisher with whom he is occasionally at odds. Of the latter part Sam Edwards has made a seemingly real, if not necessarily ingratiating, character.

And though Mr. Kolker is the star, his general exhibit is not in the same class with that of Russ Whytal, who as the less fortunate composer, is most artistically satisfying. A less rampageous composer would have been more desirable under the circumstances, which are never genuinely tragic, but Mr. Whytal has the gaze, the manner, the speech of a man rapt in his own genius.

Ruth Chatterton, again, did the sort of thing that contrasts the artist and mere actor of a part. She was thoroughly charming in an eerie, naive way, and wholly natural at all times. Aileen May played simply, but the other principals were generally rather bad.

Opera Stars Available for Concerts.

F. C. Coppicus, the head of the concert bureau of the Metropolitan Opera House, has just sent out his season's prospectus. Most of the well-known singers at the Opera House, including Miss Farrar, Mme. Fremstad, Mme. Destinn, Mrs. Homer, and Mr. Caruso, will be available for concert engagements during the season. The Russian ballet will also be available for private engagements during December and January.

Contractor Sues Senator Sullivan.

H. G. Vogel, a contractor, filed yesterday in the County Clerk's office a complaint in a suit for $2,232 against Senator Timothy D. Sullivan and George Krauss, owners of the Dewey Vaudeville Theatre in Fourteenth Street. He said he installed an automatic fire sprinkler system in the theatre last April and has not been paid.

Parker to Talk to Normal Girls.

Louis N. Parker, author of "Pomander Walk," "Disraeli," and "Rosemary," will address the Associate Alumnae of the Normal College on Saturday, Oct. 21, in the college chapel on "Pageantry."

M. MORDKIN SERIOUSLY ILL.

Russian Dancer Returned from Europe in a Bad Condition.

It became known yesterday that Mikail Mordkin, the Russian dancer, is seriously ill, and has not appeared at the rehearsals of his company for several days. Alexander Volonine has taken charge of the rehearsals of "Coppelia" in the meantime. The company will open next Monday night out of town, and it is hoped that by that time Mr. Mordkin will have recovered.

Ben Atwell, one of the directors of the company, said yesterday: "Mr. Mordkin came back from Europe in a bad condition, and he has been unable to regain his strength, so he is taking a complete rest. Mr. Volonine is to dance the principal male rôle in 'Coppelia,' which is the only entire ballet we are preparing at present. Mordkin is to appear for a few weeks only in his own divertissements. Later he will be seen in other ballets.

"Messrs. Comstock and Gest secured a temporary injunction against us, restraining Volonine and Lopoukowa from appearing with our company either at rehearsals or performances. There was a hearing of this to-day, and it was decided that they could appear at rehearsals. The matter will be definitely decided on Saturday."

ETHEL BARRYMORE ILL.

Actress Stricken in South Bend and Engagements Canceled.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 4.—Ethel Barrymore, the actress, was taken suddenly ill to-day, and to-night is in a critical condition at the Oliver Hotel, being threatened with peritonitis. So serious is her condition that all engagements have been canceled for ten days. As soon as she can be moved she will be taken to a Chicago hospital.

Miss Barrymore was to have appeared at the Oliver Theatre to-night in "A Witness for the Defense." R. J. Colt, Jr., husband of the actress, has been summoned to the city and is expected to arrive to-night from New York.

At the offices of Charles Frohman last night it was stated that a telegram had been received from Miss Barrymore yesterday, in which she said she was suffering from a severe cold and would "lay off" for three or four days. Mr. Frohman's representative said that Miss Barrymore and the company would resume their tour at Milwaukee next Monday.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The Shuberts have postponed the first performance of "Bunty Pulls the Strings" at Collier's Comedy Theatre from Monday to Tuesday of next week, and the opening of Fritzi Scheff in "The Duchess" at the Herald Square Theatre from next week until Monday, Oct. 16.

When "The Arab" is transferred from the Lyceum to the Astor Theatre next Monday night Edgar Selwyn, author of the drama, will be raised to the dignity of a star. Mr. Selwyn is playing the leading rôle, and his manager, Henry B. Harris, considered that he should be promoted.

Ray Cox and Miss Artie Hall have been added to the cast of "The Never-Homes," that is to open at the Broadway Theatre to-night.

The engagement of Harry Lauder at the Manhattan Opera House will begin next Monday night instead of in the afternoon, as was originally announced. Mr. Lauder is a passenger on the Saxonia, which is not due until Sunday night or Monday morning.

At the Herald Square Theatre last night a new film showing the review of the Spanish troops by King Alfonso on April 13, was exhibited by the Kinemacolor.

The company that will support Mrs. Leslie Carter in "Two Women" this season will go into rehearsal to-day, and open in Bridgeton, N. J., on Oct. 30. It will include Franklyn Underwood, Lynn Pratt, George A. Stillwell, Harry G. Carlton, Lizzie Conway, and Frances Slosson in the principal roles. Mrs. Carter will not join the company until a week before it goes on tour.

"Mrs. Avery," a three-act comedy drama by Gretchen Dale and Howard Estabrook, will succeed "A Man of Honor" at Weber's Theatre, opening on Oct. 19. The production is under the management of Charles J. Ross.

Charles D. McCaull, general manager for William A. Brady, is a passenger on the Saxonia, due in New York next Monday. Mr. McCaull, whose health gave way in August, and who was sent away by Mr. Brady for a rest, underwent an operation for appendicitis in a Paris hospital.

Joseph M. Gaites has engaged Arthur Forrest for one of the principal roles in the new Victor Herbert opera, "The Enchantress." Mr. Forrest will play Ozir, the Minister of War, and will make his debut on the musical stage in this role.

Percy G. Williams, through arrangement with Henry B. Harris and Jesse L. Lasky, has obtained the rights to produce in vaudeville "Hello, Paris," the musical sketch that was a feature of the last revue at the Folies Bergere. The original cast will remain.

MUSIC NOTES.

Alfred Szendrei, the new conductor of German opera for the Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company, is in New York. He has been engaged by Mr. Dippel to conduct "Lohengrin," "Die Walkure," and "Hansel und Gretel," and will begin rehearsals next Monday in Philadelphia.

Miss Mary Garden and Cleofonte Campanini will arrive on the George Washington early next week. Miss Marie Cavan, who has been studying in Germany, comes back on the Amerika.

SHERLOCK HOLMES, THE ORIGINAL, DEAD

Dr. Bell, Scottish Surgeon, Was Reputed Prototype of Conan Doyle's Famous Detective.

WAS AUTHOR'S INSTRUCTOR

Writer Greatly Impressed by His Old Tutor's Clear, Scientific Thinking—Employed "Deductive Methods."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Dr. Joseph Bell, the distinguished Scottish surgeon, who was reputed to be the original of the detective character of Sherlock Holmes, died to-day at his home, Mauricewood, Milton Bridge, Midlothian. He was born in Edinburgh in 1837, and was an instructor of Conan Doyle at Edinburgh. His hobby was the study of mysterious crimes.

Sir Conan Doyle told your correspondent this afternoon at his home at Crewborough, a charming residence in the Sussex hills, how Dr. Bell came to suggest the character of Sherlock Holmes. Conan Doyle served under Bell in Edinburgh for several months and was greatly struck by his clear, scientific thinking and his marvelous power of detecting disease.

"I always thought," Mr. Doyle said, "what a fine brain like his could have done in detecting crime. Although Dr. Bell had always been one of my closest friends, I had not seen him recently. In fact, the last time was in 1900, at Edinburgh, when he supported me in my political campaign. He was a brilliant surgical operator, and I believe he was practicing up to the last.

"Beyond this I can say very little of Bell, for I never met him in his own house, and really only knew him as my professor. As such I shall always see him very clearly. His stiff, bristling, iron-gray hair, his clear, half-humorous, half-critical gray eyes, his eager face and swarthy skin. He had a very spare figure, as I remember him, and walked with a jerky, energetic gait, his head carried high and his arms swinging. He had a dry humor and remarkable command of vernacular, into which he easily fell when addressing patients."

Dr. Joseph Bell, the instructor in surgery at the University of Edinburgh, after whom Sir A. Conan Doyle, the novelist, drew the famous character, Sherlock Holmes, was the son of a surgeon. He married Edith Katherine Murray, the daughter of the Hon. James Erskine Murray, in 1865. His wife died nine years later, but he has two daughters. He was educated at the Edinburgh Academy and University, and then went through the ordinary course of a hospital surgeon at Edinburgh Royal Infirmary, from dresser to senior surgeon and consulting surgeon.

Dr. Bell was editor of the Edinburgh Medical Journal for twenty-three years. He published "Manual of Surgical Operations" and "Notes on Surgery For Nurses." He belonged to the University and Edinburgh Clubs, and his favorite pastimes were fishing and shooting. He lived at 2 Melville Crescent, in Edinburgh, and had a country place at Mauricewood, Milton Bridge, Midlothian, where he was a Justice of the Peace. He was also a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons.

Dr. Bell was one of Sir A. Conan Doyle's instructors at the University of Edinburgh, where the novelist was educated, in the early eighties. He had a singular genius for noting details and of forming a chain of circumstantial evidence from them, which gave Conan Doyle his first suggestion of his now famous character.

A theory which Dr. Bell constantly advanced was that any really good doctor ought to be able to tell before a patient fairly sat down just about what was the matter with him or her. With women especially he could frequently tell what they were going to complain about before they had uttered a sound. He constantly impressed on his students—Conan Doyle among them—the vast importance of seeming trifles.

"The great majority of people of incidents and of cases," he once told his class, "resemble each other in the main and larger features. Most men have apiece a head, two arms, a mouth, a nose, and a certain number of teeth. But it is the droop of an eyelid or whatnot which differentiates men."

Dr. Bell would illustrate to his class his mode of procedure by giving one or two instances to prove the successful application of his theory. These instances were strongly suggestive of the methods which Sherlock Holmes was later described as employing.

"Once," he said, "a man walked into the room where I was instructing students and his case seemed to be a very simple one. I was talking about what was wrong with him. 'Of course, gentlemen,' I happened to say, 'he has been a soldier in a Highland Regiment and probably a bandsman.' I pointed out the swagger in his walk suggestive of the piper; while his shortness told me that if he had been a soldier he had probably been a bandsman. In fact, he had the whole appearance of a man in one of the Highland regiments. The man turned out to be nothing but a shoemaker, and had never been in the army in his life. This was rather a floorer, but being absolutely certain I was right, and seeing something was up, I did a pretty cool thing.

"I told two of the strongest clerks, or dressers, to remove the man to a side room and detain him till I came. I next had him stripped and, under the left breast, I instantly detected a little blue 'D' branded on his skin. He was a deserter. That was the way they used to mark them in the Crimean days and later, although it is not permitted now. The reason of his evasion was at once clear.

"Conan Doyle," Dr. Bell continued, "was one of the best students I ever had. He was exceedingly interested always in everything connected with diagnosis, and was never tired of trying to discover all these little details one looks for. I recollect that he was once much amused when a patient walked in and sat down. 'Good morning, Pat,' I said, for it was impossible not to see that the patient was an Irishman. 'Good morning, Your Honor,' he answered. 'Did you like your walk over the links to-day as you came in from the south side of the town?' I asked. 'Yes,' said Pat. 'Did Your Honor see me?' Well, Conan Doyle could not see how I knew that, absurdly simple as it was. On a showery day, such as it had been, the reddish clay at the bare parts of the links adheres to the boot and a tiny part is bound to remain. There is no such clay anywhere else around the town for miles. This and one or two similar instances excited Doyle's keenest interest and set him experimenting himself, with very brilliant results, as you know."

One day, in the presence of his class, Dr. Bell said to a patient who had come to the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary for treatment:

"Gentlemen, we have here a man who is either a corkcutter or a slater. If you will only use your eyes for a moment you will be able to define a slight hardening—a regular callous, gentlemen—on one side of his forefinger and a thickening on the outside of his thumb, a sure sign that he follows the one occupation or the other."

John S. Blake, Inventor, Dead.

John Seggetter Blake, an inventor, died at his home in Port Monmouth, N. J., yesterday from acute indigestion. He was a native of Scotland, and was 68 years old. He came to this country forty-eight years ago. Mr. Blake is said to have been the inventor of the vitagraph, and had taken out more than 400 patents in this country and Europe for various contrivances, including astronomical instruments. "Syko," an automaton, exhibited in the Barnum show several years ago, was his invention.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. MARY AUGUSTA CURLEY, widow of James A. Curley of Baltimore, Md., and sister-in-law of the late Edward Abel, principal owner of The Baltimore Sun until his death, several years ago, died Tuesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gustav Wedekind of 317 West 114th Street. She was the mother-in-law of Lewis P. Clover of The Evening Sun. Before her marriage Mrs. Curley was Miss Mary Augusta Walter of an old Baltimore family. She was a sister of the late Father Joseph Walter, a famous Jesuit priest, who lived for many years in Washington, D. C.

STEPHEN S. HASTINGS, a retired stock broker, died of old age Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. S. Kauffman, at 645 Vanderbilt Avenue, Brooklyn. He was born July 23, 1832, in Berlin, Mass. In 1869 he was married to Elizabeth Upton Daniels of this city. Mr. Hastings had resided in the Windsor Terrace section of Brooklyn for more than thirty years. He was a civil war veteran, and a Mason. He leaves a son and three daughters.

GEORGE McLANCTHON BAKER, Treasurer of the Safety Air Cushion Company, died suddenly of heart disease early yesterday morning at his home, 499 Putnam Avenue, Brooklyn. He was born in Sag Harbor, L. I., on March 2, 1846. Mr. Baker was a veteran of the civil war, a member of the Society of Old Brooklynites, Past Senior Vice Commander of U. S. Grant Post, G. A. R. He is survived by his wife and one son, Dr. John L. Baker.

EDMUND S. MILLS, 2d, a real estate dealer of 12 Atno Avenue, Morristown, N. J., died yesterday of cancer of the stomach in the Morristown Memorial Hospital, after a long illness. He was born fifty-nine years ago in Smithtown, L. I.

JOHN W. JONES, 77 years old, a pioneer railroad builder of the West, died in Wichita, Kan., Tuesday of heart disease. Mr. Jones formerly was Superintendent of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

Jersey City

4½% Water Bonds, Due 1961

Legal Investment for Savings Banks

Jersey City's assessed valuation during the last decade increased over 164%, while the total net debt for the same period advanced only 50%. Consequently, Jersey City's financial conservatism has resulted in the present very low ratio of net debt to assessed valuation of only about 4.41%. Taking into consideration its conservative financing and the commercial, manufacturing and residential advantages possessed by Jersey City, we consider that bonds of this municipality offer a very attractive investment opportunity.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Another Day of Dull Business, with Irregular Changes at Close.

WEAKNESS AT OPENING

Stocks Decline on War News, but Later Recover Most of the Loss.

For the first time in several days the market opened with a loss yesterday, being influenced principally by the unconfirmed reports of an attack on Prevesa by the Italians, which threatened to draw Austria into the Turkish-Italian embroglio. News of the outbreak of hostilities on a serious scale in the Illinois Central strike was also a depressing factor. Before the end of the first hour, however, prices began to recover, and at the close of the day many issues were showing small gains over Tuesday's close. Although there was a slight increase in the number of sales over the first two days of the week, yesterday's market emphasized the conviction that a period of dullness has set in by way of reaction from the abnormal increase in activity that accompanied the abrupt downward movement ten days ago. Yesterday's market was almost entirely in the hands of the traders, and commission houses saw no evidence of outside public interest. The opinion prevails in brokerage circles that there is little reason to hope for quickening of the investment demand under prevailing conditions.

Europe exercised less influence Wednesday on fiancial markets in New York. Foreign transactions executed in this market were unimportant, and the war news was of such a speculative character as to attract little attention beyond the early reports of the trouble at Prevesa. Prices were irregular on the London Stock Exchange, where the same uncertainty over the real situation as regards Turkey prevailed as has been in evidence here. Discount rates were lowered ⅛ per cent. in London, and the money market was weak. England sent nearly one million sterling to Egypt and South America, and will send more gold to Turkey and Brazil. There were no further gold exports from New York, although bankers still look for further engagements in the near future.

One of the stocks which failed to recover all of its early morning loss was St. Paul, which made a new low record for the year at 105¾. The early morning selling in this issue was ascribed to advance information of a poor earnings statement for August. When this appeared it showed a decrease of slightly more than $500,000 in the month's gross earnings, and a loss of nearly the same amount in net, showing that the St. Paul's old line has not yet succeeded in reducing its operating expenses to a basis that will compare favorably with the costs on other transcontinentals. In the first two months of the new fiscal year the St. Paul has shown a decrease of $709,000 in net earnings. The Puget Sound enjoyed an increase of $81,000 in gross revenues in August, but its expenses increased more than that, leaving the new line with a small net decrease both for August and the first two months combined. The Northern Pacific, which pays the same dividend as St. Paul and which has been operating under much the same conditions, has now drawn well away from the Rockefeller road, and at its close yesterday was selling 8 points higher. The Northern Pacific Directors did the expected thing yesterday in declaring another quarterly dividend at the old rate. United States Rubber lost a small part of its big advance made in the last ten days, in spite of predictions industriously spread about the financial district to the effect that the stock will be put upon a 4 per cent. basis. Partly owing to a lack of the usual amount of bad news, traders made much of a rumor that Henry C. Frick had disagreed with J. P. Morgan, and was shortly to resign from the Steel Corporation's board.

The most hopeful sign in this market is furnished by the bond department. While there has been no appreciable improvement in the bond business as yet, investment houses report the receipt of an increased number of inquiries, and the long rest which the market has had from new issues has given bankers an opportunity to distribute a large part of the securities which they had been carrying. The return to New York of from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 borrowed abroad, is counted upon to stimulate the demand for good bonds.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Prices Firm in Paris and Berlin, Irregular in London.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Money was in better supply to-day. Discount rates were easy despite the large gold exports.

The stock market was irregular. Profit-taking caused losses in home rails, and Paris specialties declined, but Consols and gilt-edged securities were steady on the monetary ease. Turkish bonds gained another point, and Mexican rails closed strong.

American securities opened steady and a fraction higher and during the forenoon prices advanced under the lead of Canadian Pacific. In the afternoon the market developed pronounced weakness on Wall Street and Continental selling, and values closed at the lowest point of the day.

Money, 2@2¼ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3¾@3⅞ per cent.; for three months' bills 3⅞@4 per cent.

Gold premium at Madrid, 9; at Lisbon, 8.

The Bank of England to-day received £95,000 in gold and shipped £650,000 to South America and £200,000 to Egypt.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Prices were firm on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 94f 10c for the account.

Exchange on London, 25f 19c for checks.

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—Domestic securities were very firm on the Boerse to-day. American shares were easy.

Exchange on London, 20 marks 50 pfennigs for checks.

Money, 4¼ per cent.

Private discount rate, 4 per cent.

METAL MARKET REPORTS.

On the Metal Exchange yesterday extreme dullness continued. Tin was ¼c lower in the bid. Other commodities were unchanged.

The closing bid and asked prices follow:

	Wednesday. Bid.	Wednesday. Asked.	Tuesday. Bid.	Tuesday. Asked.
Spot	11.80	11.90	11.80	11.90
October	11.80	11.90	11.80	11.90
November	11.80	11.90	11.80	11.90
December	11.80	11.90	11.80	11.90
Lead	4.45	4.55	4.45	4.45
Spelter	5.90	6.00	5.90	6.00
Tin	40.00	40.50	40.25	40.50

The following table gives the quotations obtained for spot and future deliveries of copper and pig tin yesterday on the Metal Exchange in London. These closing prices compare with Tuesday's final figures:

	Wednesday. £	s.	d.	Tuesday. £	s.	d.
Copper, spot	55	0	0	54	18	9
Copper, futures	55	16	3	55	15	0
Pig tin, futures	183	0	0	183	5	0

The market ended easy. Spanish pig lead was firm at an advance of 1s 3d, to £15 3s 9d. Spelter was unchanged at £27 15s. Cleveland warrants were a shade higher at 46s 8d.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Trading Restricted and Prices Move Irregularly in the Curb Market.

AMERICAN TOBACCO DOWN

Sells Off from 410 to 402 on Light Trading—General Market Irregular, with Some Declines Noted.

During yesterday's narrow trading on the Curb there were a number of recessions. American Tobacco sold off from 410 to 402 and closed at 405. Chicago Subway sold off from 2⅛ to 2. Giroux declined 1-16 from the opening, and Greene-Cananea, after selling off ⅛ to 5½, closed even with the opening at 5⅝. Ray Central sold off from 1⅜ to 1¼. Inspiration was one of the few coppers to close with a gain. Sales of 1,000 shares were made between 5⅞ and 6⅛, the close being at the high price, ⅛ above the opening. La Rose sold off from 4 1-16 to 3 15-16 and closed at 4. Nipissing advanced from 7⅝ to 7¾ on sales of 300. The bond list, with the exception of New York, Westchester & Boston 4½s, which declined ⅛ to 97 on sales of $48,000, was strong. Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation 5s rose from 91½ to 91⅝ and Southern Bell 5s rose from 98 to 98¼.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Heaviness was the dominating characteristic of the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange throughout the day. Floor trading sentiment was bearish, but there was little fresh news of a sort to influence prices in either direction. Transactions totaled 75,030 shares, distributed over a list of forty-seven different stocks, including Colorado Fuel and St. Louis Southwestern, no sales of these two stocks being reported on the New York Stock Exchange.

"KATY" EARNINGS INCREASE.

M., K. & T. Annual Report Shows $1,773,706 Net Income for Year.

The annual report of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway for the fiscal year 1911 shows a considerable increase in earnings over the previous year. The net corporate income remaining after the payment of bond interest and other fixed charges amounted to $1,773,706, an increase of $732,242. After paying 4 per cent. on the preferred stock there was a balance of $1,252,686, which is equivalent to 2.8 per cent. on the company's $63,283,257 in common stock, which is not on a dividend basis. Gross earnings for the year showed an increase of $2,505,947, but the accounts of the Texas Central Railroad were included in this year's figures, whereas they were reported separately in 1910.

Edwin Hawley, Chairman of the board, says that the increase in gross earnings was accomplished in spite of unfavorable commercial and agricultural conditions. The improvement in freight business was due entirely to a larger movement of cotton and cottonseed products, resulting from the increased production of 1910, and of oil, fruits, and vegetables.

"No new legislation of a nature especially harmful to railroads was enacted in any of the States through which the Missouri, Kansas & Texas extends, though all of their Legislatures were in session," declares Mr. Hawley. "No serious reductions were made in freight rates during the year. The rate situation, however, remains complicated by the legislation of recent years, and by orders of Federal and State commissions, and by court proceedings. It is a pity that during the process of adjusting rates the railroads run the risk of losing a large amount of revenue which never can be recovered. There is at this date a favorable prospect for increased earnings during the coming season."

THE TREASURY STATEMENT.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Railroad Expenses Lower.

There are eighty-two railroads in the United States operating more than 500 miles each. The Bureau of Railway Economics has analyzed the reports of these roads made to the Inter-State Commerce Commission for the twelve months ended June 30 last with some interesting results. It is shown that in spite of the general increases in wages and in many other items of operation twenty-four companies managed to reduce their operating ratio last year. This figure is obtained by dividing total revenues into operating costs. Most of the additions to the expense account fell upon the transportation department, and only nine of the eight-two roads were able to reduce the proportion of earnings spent for this purpose. Nearly all of the lines made up for part of their increases in wages by spending less on their roadbed and bridges, while a large number succeeded in reducing the cost of maintaining equipment as well.

Small Call for New Capital.

In September only $37,520,000 new stocks, bonds, and notes were issued according to the compilation of The Journal of Commerce, which is not only the smallest total of any month this year, but the smallest monthly figures shown by the compilations in the years that they cover. Compared with 1910 there is a decrease represented of $24,931,950. Railroad issues account for $19,719,000 and the greatest falling off was in new bond issues, which were only $12,609,000, compared with $25,855,000 in September of last year. Bond issues of industrial corporations increased by $1,051,000 to $10,501,000, but a falling off both in stock and note issues reduced the total of new industrial issues to $17,801,000, which was $11,519,800 less than last year. The falling off in the new security issues of the last few months, however, has not been sufficient to cut down the lead already gained in 1911. Taking the year to date, that is to the end of September, there have been total securities issued of $1,448,415,950, an increase of $213,878,511 over 1910, and the largest aggregate of any year on record. Another indication of the recent halt in the demand for new capital is found in the statistics of incorporations in the Eastern States, compiled by the same authority. During September incorporations of concerns with $1,000,000 capital or over, including increases in capital, reached a total of only $77,004,000, a decrease of $10,346,000 from the showing of August. This is an increase of $18,904,000 as compared with September, 1910.

St. Paul's Low Record.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul stock, which was one of the weakest features of the market during the recent decline and one of the least responsive to the recovery, sold at 105¾ yesterday, a new low record for the year. The stock has not been lower than this figure since the first month of 1908, when the recovery from the low level of 93½, reached during the panic of 1907, was under way. At 105¾ the stock is 27¾ below the highest price of 1911, made Feb. 7. In 1910 the shares never sold below 113¾, and were as high as 158⅝. The highest price since the panic was 165⅛, made in September, 1909. The weakness of the stock drew particular attention to the earnings for August, published yesterday, which showed a drop in gross of $502,846, to $5,495,461, and a decrease in expenses of only $42,754, leaving net at $1,085,201, a decline from August, 1910, of $459,982.

Failure Statistics Improve.

Although the number of commercial failures reported during the first nine months of 1911 are larger than in either 1909 or 1910, or, in fact, with the exception of 1908, than in any other year since 1896, the amount of liabilities show a considerable decrease from those of the nine months' period of 1910. They are, however, substantially larger than in 1909, and every other year back to 1893 with, of course, the exception of 1908, when the after panic failures were making a record. Dun's Review, in commenting on the showing, points out these favorable factors: "A decrease in the number of average liabilities per failure and a record in the third quarter much better than that of the second, the second showing an improvement over the first. The exhibit is mainly favorable in revealing an actual reduction in the total liabilities as compared with last year, and in revealing a progressive improvement during the three quarters." The failures number 9,994 as compared with 9,399 last year and 11,946 in 1908, and the liabilities $138,865,620 against $154,417,304 last year and $179,677,523 in 1908.

IRON AND STEEL NOTES.

Price Cuts Have Not Affected Trade Unfavorably.

That the effect of recent price cuts on the volume of business in the iron and steel trade has not been unfavorable is pointed out by The Iron Age in its comment on September pig iron production, which increased last month and is still increasing. The Iron Age says:

> The total output of coke and anthracite iron last month was 1,977,102 gross tons, or 65,903 tons a day, against a rate of 62,150 tons a day in August. It is significant that the merchant furnaces, after seven months of steadily declining production, turned the tide last month with a gain of nearly 1,200 tons a day over the August rate. It is also noteworthy that October opens with the gain in merchant pig iron production still under way, five more furnaces which make iron for the market being scheduled to blow in soon.
> The active list showed a net gain of 10 furnaces last month, and the producing capacity was 66,468 tons a day from 213 furnaces on Oct. 1, against 63,214 tons a day from 203 furnaces on Sept. 1. Pig iron production is now at the rate of 24,600,000 tons a year, including charcoal iron, or 90 per cent. of the high record of 27,303,000 tons, made last year.
> The pig iron market has grown more active, but the course of prices still favors the buyer. The basis is still close to $14.50 delivered in eastern Pennsylvania. In the Central West the markets for Bessemer and basic iron have grown interesting this week. After holding for months, under insignificant sales, at $15 at Valley furnace, the price of Bessemer has dropped to $14.65 on a sale of 1,000 tons.
> The volume of demand for finished products has held up better than has been generally credited. Prices have yielded in some directions to the extent that what was quoted on large and very desirable business is now applicable to smaller sales.

The Iron Trade Review says:

> The most encouraging aspect of the iron and steel situation is the more favorable outlook for railroad buying. Some of the leading systems are inquiring for bridge material in good quantities and others are finding themselves obliged to more seriously consider the rehabilitation of their equipment, which has been allowed to depreciate through strict buying policies. Car orders placed this week have been the largest for some time, the Pennsylvania lines east and the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh being the principal purchasers. Other lines are getting figures on sample lots of cars before deciding on large purchases. Some of the railroads are shown to have underestimated their yearly needs of iron and steel products. The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe has placed 20,000 tons of rails with the Illinois Steel Co. as a filling-in order for this year. Some large sales have been made in the export market, which continues active.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

John C. Kerr and Edward F. Breen have been elected members of the Consolidated Stock Exchange.

Edward Earl, President of the National Nassau Bank, one of the charter members of the Clearing House Association, was re-elected Secretary of that organization at the annual meeting.

Charles S. Sargent, Jr., a member of the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., was elected a Director of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank yesterday, in place of the late Horace E. Garth.

Mason B. Starring, ex-President of the Northwestern Elevated Railroad of Chicago, was made President of the United Railways Investment Company yesterday to succeed Ernst Thalmann, resigned.

STOCKS OUT OF TOWN

Little Interest Displayed in Yesterday's Stock Transactions Elsewhere.

BOSTON COPPERS LOWER

Amalgamated Leads a Decline, Although No Pressure Appeared.

The out-of-town markets shared in the dullness experienced on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday, and there were no interesting features.

In a dull market at Baltimore Houston Oil preferred certificates were lower and Consolidated Power 4½s were heavy. On the other hand Bank of Baltimore stocks were strong and advanced 1½.

Trading in Boston was quiet, though a considerable volume of business was done for New York account in the arbitrage stocks, chiefly Steel and American Telephone. The first named was easier and lower under selling, while the latter moved upward. The copper shares, with Amalgamated in the lead, were as a rule slightly lower, though no pressure appeared. Lake, North Butte, Tuolumne, and Mayflower were the most prominent of the local issues. The railroad and industrial stocks reflected a lack of interest.

Prices as a rule displayed a harder tone on the Chicago Stock Exchange. Booth Fisheries preferred took the lead with a rise of more than 3 points to 69⅝, though easing off to 69 at the close. Advances of a point each were made by Commonwealth Edison and Chicago Railways Elevated preferred, while Sears-Roebuck advanced fractionally. Concessions of a slight degree were noted in Swift and Pneumatic Tool.

It was another quiet session in Philadelphia. The renewal of pressure against United States Steel was the chief feature of the morning dealings there. The stock fell a point or more, but this did not materially affect the remainder of the local list. Tonopah Belmont continued to display noteworthy strength, selling up to 7⅝, a new high record, and this was also true of the General Asphalt issues. In fact, Asphalt common rose a full point before meeting enough stock to check its advance. Cambria Steel, on the other hand, was inclined to move in sympathy with the stock of the big corporation, but its loss was confined to a small fraction. Reading weakened, and this was also true of Lehigh Valley and Pennsylvania, although the odd-lot buyer was again in evidence in both of these issues.

Yesterday's transactions on the various out-of-town Exchanges, as reported to THE NEW YORK TIMES, were as follows:

NO UNEASINESS IN WEST.

People Cheerful, Says Mr. Elliott, Despite a Little Slowness in Trade.

Howard Elliott, President of the Northern Pacific Railway, who came to New York to attend the annual meeting of his company on Tuesday, recently completed a 5,000-mile trip over the system, which took him to the Pacific Coast and back. He said yesterday that business conditions in the Northwest had brightened somewhat in the last sixty days.

"People in the West and Northwest," said Mr. Elliott, "do not seem to be as much perturbed over the slackness of trade as they are here in the East. Business is quiet, but the people are full of energy. This is especially true in Washington and Oregon. Oregon is a vast empire, the development of which has hardly begun. Before we built our lines in the central part of the State you could put the whole State of Ohio within its borders without touching a spot where there was a railroad. Yet the country is of the greatest fertility. What is needed is settlers on the coast and through Montana and Idaho. Montana, once regarded as a barren mining and grazing country, is rapidly becoming an agricultural State. Irrigation is being extended, and in the non-irrigated sections, too, improved methods of farming have brought millions of acres under the plow. Wheat, oats, hay, and alfalfa of the finest quality are grown there.

"The grain crop which the Northern Pacific is hauling is more satisfactory than was anticipated two months ago. General merchandise shipments are holding up well. The lumber business is quiet, because of the falling off in construction work. Houses are going up in all the towns, and there is a good day-to-day demand for lumber for this purpose, but big enterprises which require large supplies are halted, awaiting more favorable conditions."

President Elliott said the Northern Pacific's decrease in freight revenue in the last fiscal year, amounting to about $5,000,000, was due to a loss of $2,000,000 in grain tonnage, $1,600,000 in lumber, $700,000 in westbound long-haul traffic to Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, and Butte alone, and the rest, owing to generally lessened business activity and slackening up of construction work, both railroad and general. The falling off of $4,000,000 in passenger traffic, he said, was due to the fact that in the preceding year the Puget Sound Exposition was held and three large reservations were opened for settlement. These factors caused abnormally heavy traffic with which the figures of the last fiscal year compared.

REORGANIZATION.

To the holders of certificates of deposit for deposited bonds, full paid installment receipts for deposited stock, receipts for underwriting payments:

Notice is hereby given to the above holders to surrender their respective certificates or receipts to Bankers Trust Company, 7 Wall Street, New York City, properly endorsed, and to receive the corresponding securities of Hocking Valley Products Company. The sinking fund rights reserved to first mortgage bondholders of the old Company are not yet capable of ascertainment. Instruments representing such rights will be issued. Holders of any such certificates or receipts who send them by mail should specify the address to which the new securities are to be forwarded and the manner of shipment, either by express or registered mail. In the absence of specific instructions securities will be sent by express, at the expense and risk of the consignee. Bonds for $1,000, $500, and $100, will be issued, and scrip for amounts under $100, with the privilege of exchanging scrip in multiples of $100 for $100 bonds. The first coupons of bonds of Hocking Valley Products Company will be paid upon presentation at Bankers Trust Company.

To holders of Certificates of Deposit for claims:

Notice is hereby given to holders of certificates of deposit for claims deposited under the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization, dated July 30th, 1910, and modified September 29th, 1910, for the reorganization of The Columbus & Hocking Coal & Iron Company, to surrender such certificates to Bankers Trust Company, properly endorsed, and to receive payment accordingly. If checks are to be sent by mail the address must be clearly indicated.

WILLIAM REIMERS, Pres.

UNITING TO CONTEST TOBACCO TRUST PLAN

Independents Organizing to Employ Counsel, Fearing Unfair Competition Will Continue.

DISSOLUTION SEEMS FAR OFF

Doubt of What May Happen Next if Circuit Court Approves and the Government Dissents.

The detailed plan of the American Tobacco Company for its disintegration is to be submitted to Attorney General Wickersham to-day and will be filed in the United States Circuit Court either late in the afternoon or on Friday. It is expected that public hearings before the court will begin next week.

Several elements of opposition have been gathering. Attorney General Wickersham is not committed to the plan, or any part of it, and his associate, J. C. McReynolds, is understood to be definitely opposed to it. R. P. Richardson, Jr., & Co., Inc., an unwilling subsidiary, has already filed a petition objecting vigorously to its adoption.

Hostile organizations have also begun to appear among the independent manufacturers, merchants, and dealers, who fear that under the company's plan they would still be menaced by unfair competition. Efforts are being made to bring these independent interests together to present a united front in court. The leading men in this movement are talking of retaining the services of Samuel Untermyer or Felix H. Levy, the latter of whom served as a special assistant to the Attorney General in the licorice case.

It was learned yesterday that in the conferences held under the auspices of the Circuit Court only the most general features of the proposed plan were gone into, such as the division of the American Tobacco Company into three new corporations. What would become of the subsidiaries like the American Snuff Company, which controls 95 per cent. of the snuff business, and the United Cigar Stores Company, which, contrary to the general impression, controls only a small percentage of the cigar business, was hardly touched on. The question of how the two issues of bonds and the preferred stock are to be taken care of was left largely to the bankers interested and the Directors of the company, but these will be important points before the court.

Several times attempts were made by Lewis Cass Ledyard and other counsel for the trust to draw from Attorney General Wickersham a favorable expression as to points under discussion, but in every case he refused to commit himself.

The opinion was expressed in some quarters yesterday that the dissolution of the Tobacco Trust would be little more than begun with the filing of its plan in open court. Should the Circuit Court approve a plan not satisfactory in every detail to the Government, as represented by Messrs. Wickersham and McReynolds, it will doubtless go up to the Supreme Court again. What would happen then, in case the Supreme Court agreed with the Government, is a matter of conjecture. The decree of the higher court called for the adoption of a satisfactory plan by Dec. 31, with a possible extension for sixty days. The alternative specified was the appointment of a receiver. Nobody among the lawyers concerned could be found yesterday who was willing to hazard an opinion as to whether the Supreme Court, if dissatisfied with the judgment of the Circuit Court, would send the matter back again with a further allowance of time or would take more drastic action.

BIG SMUGGLING SCHEME.

Customs Officers Report Grain Brought In from Canada in Quantities.

MINOT, N. D., Oct. 4.—In the arrest at Norma, near here, of Walter Jackson, wheat buyer for the Atlantic Grain Company, and A. M. Magnie, a farmer, by United States Customs Agent George W. Foulkes, Federal officers believe they have unearthed an extensive scheme of grain smuggling from Canada to the flour mills at Minneapolis. Confessions, it is understood, are in the possession of Mr. Foulkes.

It is alleged that the smugglers brought the grain across the border at night, disposing of it to American farmers, who in turn would take the grain to the elevators near the border. In smuggling barley there is a gain of about 40 cents a bushel to the producer, that being the difference in price between the United States and Canada.

It is alleged that the profits were divided among the producing farmers, the American farmer, and the grain buyer.

The alleged smuggling operations were unearthed, it is said, while Federal officers were searching the border for the lost painting "Mona Lisa."

BARS COLORED NECKTIES.

Erie's Order Begets Murmurings and Some Employes May Quit.

Special to The New York Times.

FISHKILL LANDING, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Because of a recent order of Supt. R. S. Parsons, directing that all uniformed employes of the Erie Railroad must hereafter refrain from wearing colored neckties, several of the employes along the Short-Cut Valley Division may quit the company's service.

All the conductors, trainmen, telegraph operators and baggage men of the Erie yesterday received the order, which is effective at once, and states that the practice of uniformed employes wearing neckties containing colors must be discontinued, and that hereafter employes must wear black neckties.

Younger employes say that when the company tells them what color of necktie to wear it is time they made a change. "It won't be very long," they protest, "before the company will dictate the color of our socks." Young ticket agents are mostly angry at the order. To-day, however, all the men on the division appeared with black four-in-hand or bow ties.

CONFIRMS HIGHER AWARD.

Court Says City Must Pay $11,648 for Reservoir Property.

Judge Lacombe in the United States Circuit Court yesterday awarded $7,624 to William Sage, Jr., for his lands and buildings, which have been condemned in connection with the building of the Ashokan Dam, and also $4,024 in consideration of the availability of the land for reservoir purposes.

The Commissioners appointed to investigate the Sage claim originally made this award, but the City of New York contended that it was not reasonable to expect the city to pay the sum based on the reservoir availability of the land. Then Mr. Sage moved to have the award sent back to the Commissioners on the ground that the sum granted in consideration ow the use to which the land was to be put was entirely inadequate.

In approving the higher award Judge Lacombe pointed out that it was dictated not only by the value of the reservoir land to New York City, but also by the fact that if the city had not needed the land some other community or a water company, created by statute, might have been willing to pay for the tract more than its value as farming land.

Seaboard Air Line Increase.

The Seaboard Air Line had an increase of $1,750,078 in its gross earnings last year, with an addition of $1,457,168 to its operating expenses and taxes. The company's total income available for interest and other charges amounted to $6,754,020, an increase of $302,493. Fixed charges increased during the year $368,567, so that the surplus of $1,829,179 remaining represented a decrease for the year of $66,073.

PALOZOLLO INDICTED.

Alleged Kidnapper Held in $7,500 Bail—Can Get Fifty Years.

Pietro Palozollo, the alleged kidnapper of five-year-old Michael Scimeca, Vincenzo Sabella, and Pietro Quatrone, was indicted for the kidnapping of the Scimeca boy by the Grand Jury yesterday and held in $7,500 bail by Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions.

Palozollo was arrested on Sept. 28 for the kidnapping of the Scimeca boy and for having a revolver concealed about his person. The Scimeca boy told the Grand Jurors all about the facts relating to his capture yesterday, and Lettie Micelli of 249 Eldridge Street and Jennie Yocano, whose address the police refused to give, also testified about the kidnapping, saying that they saw the defendant leading the Scimeca boy away. The other two charges are being held in reserve by the District Attorney.

The Scimeca boy was taken from his parents on June 21, 1910, and was kept in hiding until Sept. 9, when a relative found him standing at Fifty-ninth Street and First Avenue. The detectives say that Dr. Scimeca paid Pallozollo $1,750.

Judge O'Sullivan, after hearing the arguments on the case, put the matter over until Monday, when Palozollo will have to plead to the indictment. He can get fifty years for kidnapping under the new law.

FOR A WOMEN'S MEMORIAL.

Plan to Raise $500,000 for a Monument to Those of Civil War Days.

A movement to raise $500,000 to build a National monument in Washington to the memory of the women of the civil war was launched last night at the dinner of the New York Commandery of the Loyal Legion. The commandery adopted a resolution requesting that the Commandery in Chief at its annual meeting in Philadelphia on Oct. 18 indorse the project and recommend it to the twenty-one State organizations.

A special committee to further the project was appointed, consisting of Major Gen. Frederick D. Grant, Commander of the Department of the East; Gen. Thomas H. Hubbard, Gen. J. Fred Pierson, Major J. Langdon Ward, Capt. James A. Scrymser, Capt. Loyall Farragut, and Lieut. Thomas Sturgis.

It was announced that the proposal for such a memorial came first from a member who had pledged $50,000 on condition that $300,000 be raised within a year. The member's name was not made public, but it was said that he is a retired army officer. The proposed memorial was the subject of a speech delivered by James M. Beck, counusel for the commandery.

FINDS BURGLAR IN HER ROOM.

Threatened with Revolver, Woman Keeps Quiet Till Man Escapes.

Awakened early yesterday morning by the noise made by a burglar moving about in her room, Mrs. Theresa Boyden of 50 West Forty-eighth Street sat up in bed and was confronted by a heavy revolver in the hands of the intruder, who threatened to shoot her if she made any outcry.

The man then took a silver mesh bag, containing a few dollars, a gold locket and chain, and a gold watch and chain from her bureau, and after cautioning her again to keep quiet, left the room. From her window she watched the burglar disappear around the corner.

Next, arousing the occupants of the house by her screams, she had some one telephone to the police. Detective Cooney of the East Fifty-first Street Station was sent there, but could find no trace of the burglar. The police were also baffled as to how the man entered the house. The scuttle on the roof was closed, and fastened from the inside, and none of the doors or windows of the house had been tampered with. None of the other occupants was robbed.

BUY ERIE NOTES.

New Issue Goes to Morgan & Co., First National and National City Banks.

The Erie's $4,550,000 three-year 5 per cent. notes, which were recently authorized by the up-State Public Service Commission, have been sold to J. P. Morgan & Co., the First National Bank, and the National City Bank. The notes are secured by $4,000,000 first mortgage 4 per cent. bonds of the Erie & Jersey Railroad and $3,000,000 first mortgage 4 per cent. bonds of the Genesee River Railroad These are the new cut-offs which the Erie has been constructing for several years past, and upon which it has spent nearly $13,000,000.

The new note issue is to provide for maturing obligations and will not increase the Erie's bonded indebtedness.

COMMODITY MARKETS.

WHEAT closed at a small net loss for the day. Trading was unimportant, fluctuations narrow, and news without much market value. Foreign markets were again dull, showing heaviness of undertone. Germany reported the quality of new wheat favorable, with the flour yield 4 to 5 per cent. better than last year. New wheat was moving freely. Argentine news was favorable. There is some uncertainty over the labor supply there for harvesting owing to the war, as most of the laborers are Italians. A cable to a prominent milling paper confirmed the reports of about 10 per cent. increase in the Argentine wheat acreage this year, with crop prospects better than the average. English and Continental wheat markets closed dull and generally at a decline. Northwest receipts were somewhat less than they have been, although about double at American points of last year's total. Minneapolis stocks in four days have increased 1,425,000 bushels. Winnipeg receipts were somewhat less than last year. Weather conditions were somewhat more favorable, although owing to the recent heavy rain field work is at almost a standstill. The Northwestern Miller reports flour output at Minneapolis, Duluth, and Milwaukee of 417,000 barrels, against 422,000 the previous week and 410,000 last year. Minneapolis mills sold about 500,000 barrels the past week. Locally the flour demand is dull, and there were reports of lower Spring wheat prices as a result of heavy receipts of wheat. Cash wheat was dull; exporters reported 4 loads of Manitoba wheat and 13 loads of wheat via the Gulf, old business. No. 2 red was quoted at 99c, free on board; No. 1 Northern, $1.15½; No. 2 hard Winter, $1.08; No. 1 Manitoba, $1.06½.

CORN.—Trading was quiet, with prices a little lower early on more favorable weather conditions. It was cold and clearing in the Missouri Valley, with heavy frost in the Middle Missouri Valley. Cables were steady, however, with increased demand in England on account of cold weather. Germany reported drought partially relieved by rain, but it is so late as to be of little feed crop value. Prices slowly rallied, with reports of impassable roads West, and that field work was at a standstill owing to the heavy rains. Damage reports continue numerous. A Chicago firm reports the condition of corn at 70, a decline of 1.6 from its condition report last month. Also that a number of correspondents reported corn sprouting in shock. Cash corn was dull; exporters reported 10 loads at outports. No. 2 corn was quoted at 76c, elevator, domestic, and 75½c, free on board.

OATS.—Trading was quiet, with prices about steady. There was some selling on increasing receipts. The Western movement in three days has gained 410,000 bushels over last week, which, however, is offset by the shipments from the interior. Cash oats were firm. Standards were quoted at 53c; No. 2 white, 53½c; No. 3 white, 53c.

PROVISIONS.—Trade in hog products was of small volume. Live hogs were steady, with Western receipts rather moderate. The world's lard stock is reported at 282,000 tierces, a decrease of 40,000; last year in September the decrease was 34,000 tierces.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Prices showed a slight advance during yesterday's session on reports of rather light offerings of crude at the South. It was apparent, however, that the demand was not of an urgent character, as prices bid to Southern holders showed no advance. The seed situation is bearish with further reductions claimed, it being stated that $14 per ton was accepted in Alabama. Undoubtedly, this depression reflects the excellent weather for cotton picking and rapid ginning of the plant. Consuming demand for oil is only fair. Crude quoted at $4.20 to $4.27.

COTTON.

Reports circulated that several of the largest shorts covered in enormous volume on Tuesday with estimates of fully 200,000 bales having been taken in, part of which cotton was said to show a profit of approximately 2c. a pound. The effect of this absorption was evident during yesterday's session, as the floating supply was reduced and the undertone at all times very steady. Sentiment, however, did not show any important change and considerable of the buying was incited by the theory that prices under 10c. are attractive, while the South will probably hold with greater tenacity and trade inquiry improve together with the belief that a partial rebound would be natural.

Selling for a period yesterday was heavy, and the list after showing gains of from 5 to 8 points at the start—the result of favorable Liverpool advices with reports of a satisfactory trade situation at Lancashire—reacted to the previous night's finals, due principally to the offerings from Southern points and bear hammering.

The inquiry, however, was again good from shorts, and on private dispatches, indicating a firmer spot situation in the Southeast, the list tended slowly upward. There is still irregularity in the character of the spot advices being received, but even this mixed tenor is looked upon as constituting a faint element of strength. On the other hand, weather conditions are extremely favorable for the picking and maturing of the crop, with no private or official predictions of a decided change to either lower temperatures or rainy spell for the next few days. The opinion is quite general that on an upturn offerings would again tend to assume larger proportions; although it is realized that with so much cotton open in the fields a crop scare would probably cause the shorts considerable unpleasantness.

Dispatches from the South do not suggest that banks are aggressive in forcing liquidation of cotton, but rather that accumulations occur rapidly with prevailing weather conditions and that farmers are compelled to sell more or less to meet expenses. Movement of cotton is in good volume and it is anticipated that week-end statistics will again be bearish with the into-sight figures probably exceeding those of two years ago, when the crop was over 13,500,000 bales.

Southern spot markets were unchanged to ⅛c. higher. The New York spot market quiet and unchanged with middlings 10.20c. Exports to date are about 240,000 bales in excess of last year.

COFFEE.

The coffee market was comparatively quiet during yesterday's operations, total sales for the day amounting to 47,750 bags. Price changes were comparatively small throughout most of the day and the market showed a sagging tendency, but rallied late on a bullish cable from Brazil, and final figures were 1 lower to 8 higher. The Havre market was unchanged to ¼f higher; Hamburg was unchanged to an advance of ¼ pfennig, and in Brazil both Rio and Santos were unchanged. There were numerous offers from Brazil, but prices were very firm, and in most cases above a working basis. Longs seemed disposed to take profits and there was less aggressive buying, but sentiment was bullish on the statistical position and the outlook for the next crop. A private cable from Zerrenner, Bulow & Co. said: "Heavy rain has done damage to the crop; in Rebeirao Preto damage is serious." The world's visible supply showed an increase during September of 904,340 bags, compared with an increase last year of 507,208, and the total was 12,667,834 bags, against 14,757,792 a year ago. Warehouse deliveries of Brazilian coffee at United States ports were 25,163 bags, against 21,000 last week and 17,267 last year. The visible supply of Brazilian coffee in and afloat for the United States was 2,173,955 bags, 2,972,173 last year, and 3,686,039 two years ago. Receipts at Rio and Santos were 93,000, compared with 67,000 a year ago. The special cable from Santos reported the market steady and unchanged, with Sao Paulo receipts for the day amounting to 76,000 bags.

The local spot market was steady and unchanged at 14¼c for Rio No. 7.

BANK STATEMENTS

All State Bank and Trust Co. statements published in The New York Times will be inserted in The New York Times Weekly Financial Quotation Review next Monday.

In 1853 the New York State Legislature designated The New York Times as the medium to exclusively print the bank statements in this State. Practically ever since that time The New York Times has been the acknowledged medium for all financial advertisements and carries a greater volume than any other newspaper in the world.

The New York Times.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Cluett Building on West Eighteenth Street in a $1,300,000 Deal—Another Times Square Sale—The Turin Apartment Brings $987,350 Under the Hammer.

A deal in the midtown loft zone, which will involve an exchange of properties valued at about $1,300,000, has just been concluded by the St. John's Park Realty Company, (James A. Cruikshank and William D. Kilpatrick.) Mr. Cruikshank sells the eleven-story Cluett building at 19 to 23 West Eighteenth Street, running through the block at 22 to 28 West Nineteenth Street. It has been held at over $900,000. The contracts for the sale and exchange of properties will be signed to-day, but in view of the fact that all preliminaries are not yet closed Mr. Cruikshank declined to mention the buyer or the properties he will take in part payment.

The Cluett Building was acquired last June by the St. John's Park Realty Company in trade with the Charles F. Hoffman estate, the latter giving the loft for two of the big lofts erected by Mr. Cruikshank on the block he bought from the Trinity Corporation over a year ago, bounded by Washington, Greenwich, Barrow, and Morton Streets. The block has been improved with three lofts, the Hoffman estate taking the largest one on the Washington Street block front and one on the corner of Barrow and Greenwich Streets.

The Cluett building is one of the best commercial lofts in the midtown zone and rents for about $85,000 a year. It was built ten years ago. It covers about seven lots, having a frontage of 75 feet on Eighteenth Street and 98.4 feet on Nineteenth Street.

Deal in Times Square Section.

The John T. Brook Construction Company has enlarged its holdings in the Times Square section by purchasing the four-story brick building at 219 and 221 West Forty-sixth Street. The plot is 51.3 by 100.5. It was sold for Fannie E. Hoertel and others by the H. M. Weill Company. The holding price has been $160,000. Adjoining on the east is the Globe Theatre, and the Folies Bergere is opposite. Last April the buyers acquired the plot from 227 to 237 West Forty-fifth Street.

The Turin Apartment Brings $987,350

By far the most important offering in the Vesey Street salesroom yesterday was The Turin, a new twelve-story apartment house, on the northwest corner of Central Park West and Ninety-third Street, which was sold under foreclosure proceedings by Joseph P. Day. It was bought by Louis M. and Charles E. Jones, who held a second mortgage. Their lien, with interest, amounted to about $225,000, and the property was struck down to them for a total figure of $987,350, which includes a first mortgage of $745,000 and interest held by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The property has a frontage of 125.8 feet on Central Park West and 173.4 feet on the street.

Investors Buying Tenements.

Goodwin & Goodwin have sold for Flora C. Davis to Morris Wolf for investment the five-story triple flat, with stores, at 303 West 117th Street, on lot 25 by 100.

Abraham B. Marks and others have sold 7 to 11 Prince Street, two six-story tenements, with stores, on plot 61.2 by 92, located between Bowery and Elizabeth Street.

Bronx.

F. M. Weiss & Co., in conjunction with the Baxter Howell Building Company, have sold the two-family brick dwelling at 2,513 Maclay Avenue for the Wilgus Realty Co. to Thomas Farry, who gave in exchange as part payment the two-family frame dwelling at 1,039 Hall Place, near Intervale Avenue Station.

M. H. Meyers and Gilbert Robbins have sold for Philip Sussman to William Corcoran the five-story apartment house on lot 40 by 100 at 759 Jennings Street. Mr. Corcoran gave in part payment the five-story tenement at 2,496 Eighth Avenue, on lot 25 by 100. The trade involves $80,000.

Brooklyn.

John J. Wischert has purchased from the Brown Realty Company sixty-seven lots situated on Chestnut and Doscher Streets, Sutler and Euclid Avenues, having frontages of 308, 764, 400, and 68 feet, respectively, on each side.

The C. E. Williams Realty Company has sold at Flatbush Manor to Edward N. White an eight-room cottage, on a plot 24 by 100, on the east side of Troy Avenue, 73 feet south of Flatlands Avenue; to Robert Bohdan, an eight-room cottage, on a plot 24 by 100, on the east side of Troy Avenue, 220 feet north of Avenue L, and to Johanna Breder an eight-room cottage on a plot 24 by 100, on the east side of Troy Avenue, 196 feet north of Avenue L.

Long Island.

The Cliffbrook Company has sold to the Interborough Improvement Company of Brooklyn a parcel of fifty-four lots on Woodhaven, Freeland, and Oakley Avenues, Bell Place, Van Wicklen Place, and Welcome Place, Ozone Park, subject to a mortgage of $10,980.

The New York Terrain and Building Company has sold to the Majestic Construction Company eight lots at Dunton Lodge, Jamaica.

Edward H. Matting has sold to Thomas E. Knauss of Columbus, Ohio, thirteen lots at Jamaica Hillcrest.

Staten Island.

P. G. Ullman, Jr., President of the Princes Bay Realty Company, has sold to an investor and builder a large acreage tract near Pleasant Plains in the Fifth Ward of Richmond.

Big Greenville Deal.

A big sale of vacant lots in the Greenville section of Jersey City, the largest in several months, has been made by Garry & Older, as brokers, who have sold twenty-eight lots for John F. Klumpp and George A. McElroy to Charles Barbash. Twelve of the lots are on the west side of Garfield Avenue, between Myrtle and Claremont Avenues, and the other sixteen are on the east side of Randolph Avenue in the rear of the lots on Garfield Avenue. The plot has a frontage of 326 feet on Garfield, 116 feet on Myrtle and 337 feet on Randolph Avenue.

New Jersey.

Luke & Baxter have sold a tract with buildings known as Bonnibrook Farm, near Ramsey, also a tract of the Lakeside Farm.

Recent Buyers.

J. E. O'Brien is the buyer of 529 West 162d Street, recently sold by the Duff & Brown Company.

Wallstein S. Reade is the buyer of 450 Broadway, reported sold Tuesday.

$200,000 Loft Lease.

Frank B. Veiller has leased for Tucker, Speyers & Co., representing Capt. William H. Wheeler, the new six-story loft at 26 West Thirty-eighth Street, on lot 25 by 100, to E. Boecker for twenty-one years at an aggregate rental of $200,000. Mr. Veiller has been appointed agent for the building.

The H. M. Weill Company has leased the third loft at 130 West Thirty-seventh Street for the 130 West Thirty-seventh Street Corporation to A. J. Clapham.

Loans for Madison Ave. Apartments.

Emanuel Krulewitch and Adolph Hirschfield, who bought the block front on the east side of Madison Avenue, between eighty-second and Eighty-third Streets, from the Allenel Construction Company, (A. L. Mordecai & Son and Heilner & Wolf,) took title to the property yesterday. Building loans have just been secured by each on the eleven-story apartments to be erected on each corner. Mr. Krulewitch, under the name of the Mansard Construction Company, has obtained $260,750 from the New York Mortgage and Security Company on his corner, 85 feet on Eighty-third Street and 109.4 on Madison Avenue, while Mr. Hirshfield, under the name of the Alpha Construction Company, has secured $217,000 from the same company, on the Eighty-second Street corner, 85 feet on the street and 95 feet on the avenue.

Estate Sales To-day.

Joseph P. Day's auction offerings in the Vesey Street Salesroom to-day include twenty-four building lots in Astoria, L. I., located on Broadway, Academy, and Crescent Streets; at executrix's sale to close the estate of Edward W. Parsons, 125 to 135 New Jersey Railroad Avenue, Newark, N. J.; at executor's sale to close the estate of E. F. Hollis, 105 West Sixty-ninth Street; also, at absolute sale, 552 Richmond Terrace, New Brighton, S. I., known as the Terrace Garden Moving Picture and Vaudeville House; at absolute executor's sale to close the estate of Anna C. Notes.

The old Bliss dwelling at the southeast corner of Thirty-sixth Street and Fifth Avenue, which has been altered into a five-story business structure by Kurzman, was opened to the public yesterday.

Carstein & Linnekin have been appointed agents for the loft known as the White House on the southwest corner of Thirty-first Street and Fourth Avenue. Several large silk concerns have taken space in the building.

CANADA—FOR SALE.

WHY CANADA REFUSED RECIPROCITY—because Canadians are now wonderfully prosperous—making money rapidly and surely—splendid chances for investment—land values steadily advancing—millions of new wealth created yearly—cities growing unprecedentedly. See facts stated and predictions of William E. Curtis, America's most famous newspaper special writer, now touring western Canada (in Chicago Record-Herald and Minneapolis Journal, Sept. issues); also of the great financier, Thomas Lawson, (Boston Post, Aug. 16); also leading American agricultural experts, including Professor (of Soil Fertility) Pettit of Illinois University; editors of "Nebraska Farmer," "Farmers' Review" (Chicago) "Farmstead" (Minneapolis) and others—all predict untold riches within near future for western Canada. This conservative Liverpool corporation owns properties in 21 principal western cities representing investment of million dollars, already showing profits of $400,000, within two years. Both city and country properties offer similar opportunities. You can share these profits—staying where you are—running no risk—investing small or large sums at your convenience. A limited number of investment units, but not a stock-selling nor partnership affair—no uncertainty—we send full particulars, maps, proofs and statistics. By our "non-forfeit of payments" plan investors have at least nine months to determine whether to complete investments or accept money back within one year, with 6 per cent. interest. Over one-third of the limit has been passed in three months. Recent investments range from $15,000 cash down to $10 per month for ten months—none barred. Canada's largest bank handles our funds; highest commercial rating; references on request. One investor becomes a nucleus for a group. Remember this is not an ordinary proposition; you have nine months' time to satisfy yourself fully before you need decide. Now, don't infer; don't guess; don't delay. Write for particulars to-day. We are sure it will interest four out of five that write. You run no risk. Write now. Canadian City and Town Properties, Ltd., 643 Stobart blk., Portage ave., Winnipeg, Canada. 70-1

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Women's Leather Gloves Ornamented by Stitching Must Pay 40 Per Cent.

In overruling a protest filed by the Germain, Hoffbrauer & Helm Company, the Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday affirmed a high rate of duty on women's leather gloves, having from five to eight rows of stitching with three or more cords as ornamentations on the backs of the gloves. As they are stitched or embroidered with more than three single strands or cords, Judge McClelland holds them dutiable, as assessed under Paragraph 445, of the Dingley tariff of 1897, at the cumulative rate of 40 cents per dozen pairs. Some of the claims arise under the present act, that of 1909, but none of the claims of the importers are regarded as conclusive. The protests claiming lower rates of duty than those assessed are overruled.

The board has acted favorably on a protest filed by F. Korndorfer regarding the classification of merchandise described on the invoices as "Wohltat," consisting of a powder put up in paper envelopes, and used for foot baths or foot shampoo. The merchandise was assessed for duty as a medicinal preparation in which alcohol was used at the rate of 35 per cent. under Paragraph 65 of the present tariff act. It was claimed to be dutiable under the same paragraph at 25 per cent. as a medicinal preparation not specially provided for. The Collector is reversed.

The board has sustained a contention raised by Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne relative to the classification of merchandise returned by the Appraiser at New York as "false reeds." The articles are made of coated wire, and were returned for duty at the rate of 25 cents a thousand and 40 per cent. ad valorem as wire heddles or healds. It was claimed that the articles are dutiable under the same paragraph at the rates applicable to coated wire articles. Judge Fischer sustains this claim, and holds the merchandise dutiable at 35 per cent. ad valorem, plus 1 2-10 cents a pound, but not less than 40 per cent. ad valorem.

A. G. Sherrard failed to secure from the board a reversal of the assessment of duty on cylindrical iron drums used in the importation of fusel oil. The Collector assessed the drums separately from their contents as being "unusual coverings," and as such dutiable at the rate of 30 per cent. under the present tariff. It is held that the drums are of the more substantial kind such as are used in the transportation of glycerine. Judge Fischer holds that they were assessed properly, and overrules the protest.

SAYS BROKERS ROBBED HIM.

Watchman Played Market Both Ways and Lost—Causes Their Arrest.

John Herrmann and Adam Raabe, members of the brokerage firm of Herrmann & Raabe, were arrested at their offices, 20 Broad Street, yesterday by Detectives Roddy and Murray of the Brooklyn Detective Bureau on a warrant issued by Chief Magistrate Kempner of Brooklyn.

The complainant is Mauriz Neubaur, a watchmaker, of 366 Ralph Avenue, Brooklyn, who declares that the two brokers failed to turn over to him profits of $1,200 on stock investments, which the firm handled for him. He says they advised him to invest in Union Pacific stocks. Acting on their advice, Neubaur said he invested $200 on the bull side of the market and a like sum on the bear side, taking a thirty to sixty day option on the stock. A few days ago he figured that as a result of the market changing several times he should have $1,200 coming to him, and he went to the brokers' offices and asked for the money. He asserts that he was told nothing was due him.

The prisoners were brought to the Adams Street Court, and were held in $2,000 bail each. They admitted that the complainant bought the stock from them, but that his options on it had expired, and that they did not owe him anything.

Dr. Curtin Returns from Europe.

Coroner's Physician Thomas H. Curtin returned yesterday in the Hamburg-American Liner Moltke. Dr. Curtin had been in Vienna three months studying the use of radium in the cure of cataracts. A dinner was given last night to Dr. Curtin by fifty physicians in the Schnover Club, 615 East 162d Street, the Bronx.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

DAVID COWLIN, a contractor, of 803 East 105th Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $2,564 and no assets.

SAMUEL COHEN.—Judge Hand has appointed John L. Lyttle receiver for Samuel Cohen, shoe dealer at 621 Lenox Avenue, and authorized him to continue business for ten days.

PELOSO BROTHERS' COMPANY, manufacturer of confections at 28 Prince Street, has made an assignment to Edward S. Napolis. The business was started in 1896 by Peloso Brothers and was incorporated April 16, 1910, with a capital stock of $9,000. Leonard A. Peloso is President and Egidio M. Peloso Secretary.

SIMSON DESSAUER, agent, living at 136 Claremont Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $5,292 and no assets. Dessauer, it is said, is a salesman for a hosiery manufacturer, and was previously a real estate broker. Among his creditors are the New York Telephone Company, $354; Howard R. Deacon, $1,500; Dr. Charles Teets, $400; Dr. Frederick Culler, $200; Albert Hartog, $581, and Peter Zindel, $750.

HARRIS SHAPIRO.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Harris Shapiro, manufacturer of skirts at 129 West Twenty-second Street, by Myers & Goldsmith, attorneys for these creditors: H. B. Claflin Company, $776; Samuel J. Sewell, $162, and Martin B. Hoffman, $25. It is alleged that he is insolvent, made preferential payments of $1,000, and transferred merchandise and accounts worth $1,000. The liabilities are said to be $30,000 and assets $4,000.

GABRIEL SILVER.—Schedules in bankruptcy of Gabriel Silver, cloak manufacturer at 34 East Tenth Street, show liabilities of $26,054 and nominal assets of $5,285, consisting of stock, $1,050; accounts, $1,735, and real estate, $2,500, being a one-fifth interest in 528 East 135th Street, which property has two mortgages on it for $39,000. Among the creditors are David Zipkin, $11,000, secured by a mortgage on the above property; Federal Finance Company, $4,016, secured by accounts, and Stanley G. Silver, $800, secured.

KALMAN J. SMITH.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Kalman J. Smith, manufacturer of suits and cloaks at 51 East Eighth Street, by the following creditors: Nathan Lazaroff, $120; Austin McNeal, $331, and Lionel P. Kristaler, $51, all on assigned claims. It was alleged that he is insolvent, made preferential payments of $500, and removed a part of his property. Liabilities are $6,000 and assets $1,000. He began business in January, 1910, with an asserted capital of $7,850, and was damaged by fire on Dec. 1, 1910, receiving, it is said, $4,000 insurance.

MAYER-GUTHORN & KAHN COMPANY.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Mayer-Guthorn & Kahn Company, manufacturer of sweaters at 11 West Seventeenth Street, by Siegel & Siegel, attorneys for the Coast Knitting Company, creditor for $3,253. It was alleged that the company is insolvent, made preferential payments of $1,000, and transferred merchandise and accounts worth $1,000. The company was incorporated Sept. 23, 1908, with a capital stock of $15,000. Frederick Mayer is President and Treasurer. The liabilities are said to be $25,000, assets $1,250.

GEORGE H. REIFSNIDER, wholesale and retail dealer in butter and eggs, at 471 Ninth Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $34,476 and assets of $8,645, consisting of fixtures, $4,665; stock, $50; accounts, $3,737; horse and truck, $175, and cash in bank, $18. Among the creditors are the Chelsea Exchange Bank, $3,800; Zimmer & Delkank, $3,674; E. G. Wyckoff of Utica, $2,528; James Rowland & Co., $2,705, and J. A. Bernholz & Sons, $2,304. The business was started in 1870. Reifsnider has been interested in it since April, 1907. He also had a store at 172 Chambers Street, and another store in St. Nicholas Avenue.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Temperatures continue abnormally high in the South and Southwest, and it is also much warmer in the Middle Atlantic States and New England. The disturbance over Nevada will move eastward, attended by rains Thursday in the central and south Rocky Mountain regions, and Thursday night and Friday in the Middle and north plains States, the Missouri, and probably the upper Mississippi Valleys. Over the east and south portions of the country weather will be fair Thursday and Friday, with somewhat lower temperatures Thursday from the upper Ohio Valley and lower lake region eastward. The winds along the New England Coast will be brisk to moderately high west, diminishing by Thursday night; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate to brisk west to northwest, becoming variable Friday; South Atlantic Coast, moderate, mostly south to southwest, except variable on Florida Coast.

Steamers departing Thursday for European ports will have brisk to high west winds, diminishing by Thursday night, generally fair weather, to the Grand Banks.

Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic Coast from Eastport, Me., to Norfolk.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND FRIDAY.

Eastern New York—Fair, cooler Thursday, with diminishing west winds; Friday, fair.

Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey—Fair, cooler Thursday, with diminishing northwest winds. Friday, fair.

New England—Fair Thursday, preceded by rain in Eastern Maine; cooler. Friday, fair; brisk to high west winds, diminishing by Thursday night.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau is as follows:

REFEREES' NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF New York, County of New York.—HARMON W. HENDRICKS, as sole surviving trustee of the trust created by the last will and testament of FANNY HENDRICKS, late of the City, County, and State of New York, deceased, for the benefit of BLANCHE HENDRICKS, Plaintiff, against JACOB HOLLAND and others, Defendants.

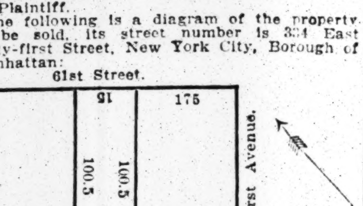
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, and bearing date the 5th day of September, 1911, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 5th day of October, 1911, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Joseph P. Day, Auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

"All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land with the building and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, of the City of New York, in the County and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

"Beginning at a point in the southerly side of Sixty-first Street, distant one hundred and seventy-five feet westerly from the southwesterly corner of First Avenue and Sixty-first Street, running thence southerly parallel with First Avenue one hundred feet five inches to the center line of the block between Sixtieth and Sixty-first Streets, thence westerly along the center line of the block and parallel with Sixty-first fifteen feet, thence northerly parallel with First Avenue and part of the way through a party wall, one hundred feet five inches to the southerly side of Sixty-first Street, and thence easterly along the southerly side of Sixty-first Street fifteen feet to the point or place of beginning, said premises being now known by the street number 334 East Sixty-first Street. Subject to the provisions of an agreement as to beam rights recorded in the office of the Register of the City and County of New York, in Liber 1,874 of Conveyances, page 397."

Dated New York, September 12, 1911.
JULIUS M. MAYER, Referee.
JULIUS J. & A. LYONS, Attorneys for the Plaintiff.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold, its street number is 334 East Sixty-first Street, New York City, Borough of Manhattan:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above described property is to be sold is ten thousand four hundred and eighty-one 96-100 dollars, with interest thereon from the 8th day of August, 1911, together with costs and allowances amounting to four hundred and nine 21-100 dollars, with interest from the 5th day of September, 1911, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments, and water rates, or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the Referee is $778.22 and interest, together with such amount or part thereof as may be a lien on the premises above described on the day of the sale thereof for the tax of 1911.

Dated New York, September 12, 1911.
JULIUS M. MAYER, Referee.

FORECLOSURE SALE.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—MARY A. PETTIT, plaintiff, against MARY A. MEAGHER and others, defendants.

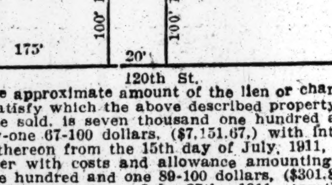
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action, and bearing date the 27th day of July, 1911, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 9th day of October, 1911, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the building thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the northerly line of One Hundred and Twentieth Street, distant one hundred and seventy-five (175) feet easterly from the easterly line of Third Avenue; running thence northerly, and parallel with Third Avenue, one hundred (100) feet and ten (10) inches to the centre line of the block; thence easterly, along said centre line and parallel with One Hundred and Twentieth Street, twenty (20) feet; thence southerly, and parallel with said Third Avenue and part of the way through a party wall, one hundred (100) feet and ten (10) inches to the northerly line of One Hundred and Twentieth Street; thence westerly, along said northerly line of One Hundred and Twentieth Street, twenty (20) feet to the point or place of beginning, be the said several dimensions more or less. It being intended to describe the property known as Number 215 East 120th Street, New York City.

Dated New York, September 14th, 1911.
JAMES OLIVER, Referee.
PETER B. HANSON, Attorney for Plaintiff, 55 Liberty Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold; its street number is 215 East 120th Street:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge, to satisfy which the above described property is to be sold, is seven thousand one hundred and fifty-one 67-100 dollars, ($7,151.67,) with interest thereon from the 15th day of July, 1911, together with costs and allowance amounting to three hundred and one 89-100 dollars, ($301.89,) with interest from July 27th, 1911, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments, and water rates or other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee, is $243.66 and interest.

Dated New York, September 14th, 1911.

GARVEY'S FRIEND GAVE MURDER CLUE

Told a Girl He Knew Who Killed Adolph Stern and This Got to the Police.

MURDERER HAD BULGING EYES

Witnesses of Tragedy Couldn't Forget Them—Are Positive in Their Identification of the Prisoner.

Martin Garvey, the young express porter of old Greenwich Village, who was arrested Monday night charged with the murder of Adolph Stern, the jewelry clerk who was killed at Sixth Avenue and Thirteenth Street on July 22 last while in pursuit of a man who had just robbed the show window of Jacob Jacoby's jewelry store at Sixth Avenue and Thirteenth Street, was arraigned in Jefferson Market Court yesterday afternoon. William Demarest of 49 Gold Street, said to be a chum of Garvey's and to whom, according to the police, Garvey is said to have admitted killing Stern, was arraigned as a suspicious person. Magistrate Corrigan held Garvey without bail for an examination Monday, and remanded Demarest to the care of the police for forty-eight hours as a material witness for the State.

Little by little some of the details of the police case came out yesterday. In the first place, Miss Beatrice Wolf, a Normal College student, while attending a party in Jamaica last Summer made the acquaintance of Demarest, the friend of Garvey. In the course of a conversation Demarest is said to have told Miss Wolf that he knew the man who had killed Adolph Stern. Miss Wolf told Samuel Weberman, her uncle, who lives at 453 East Houston Street, what Demarest had said, and Mr. Weberman considered it his duty as a good citizen to tell the police. Second Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty assigned several of his best men to follow this clue. The detectives were not long in finding Demarest, in learning that one of Demarest's friends was a young man whose bulging eyes were his most prominent feature. They were such eyes as are some times referred to as "pope eyes." The three witnesses of the tragedy, all of them reputable men, who long ago told Dougherty what they knew about the case, had said all along that they would know the murderer by his eyes if they ever saw him again.

These three witnesses, all of whom have identified Garvey as the man they saw shoot Stern, are John O'Flaherty of 183 West Houston Street, a veteran of the civil war and at present an employe of the Department of Water Supply, Gas, and Electricity; Michael McKeown of 127 Edgecombe Avenue, the Bronx, who is a watchman in the 14th Street Store, and Henry Peterson, a mechanic and automobile repairer of 1,000 Finlay Avenue, the Bronx. All of these men were in court when Garvey was arraigned before Magistrate Corrigan, yesterday, and each stood ready, it was said, to repeat the identification of Garvey in open court.

The Work of the Detectives.

This is the way the police worked out what they say is the solution of the taxicab murder, a crime that for weeks baffled the best detectives in the bureau.

Practically since the night of the murder they have been in possession of all the facts that O'Flaherty, McKeown, and Peterson had about the murder. But, they never hit the trail of the man with the bulging eyes until Samuel Weberman called at Police Headquarters. That was about three weeks ago.

Deputy Commissioner Dougherty assigned Detective Finan, who is a driver of a police automobile, and who has been on the force only a few months, as the right man to go after Demarest for the purpose of getting him to repeat what he had told Miss Wolf. Finan worked under Lieut. Charles McKenney, the detective who has had charge of the Stern murder investigation from the start. Finan got to work by renting a hall room in Grove Street and posing as a chauffeur out of work, but who had been frugal enough to save up enough to live upon while looking for a job.

Finan made friends with several young men, said to be members of a gang. Demarest was an acquaintance of theirs and in a few days Finan and Demarest met. For two weeks Finan kept close to Demarest, and they became friendly. Finan lost no opportunity to keep his new-found friends informed of the fact that he could run an automobile, and he often bemoaned the fact that he could not hold a machine so as to give some of them, Demarest in particular, a fine old time "joy ride." The other night Finan when he met Demarest was in high glee. He had found a way to give him that long-promised automobile ride. The detective was careful to keep to himself that the machine he was going to use belonged to the city and was the one used by Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty.

Demarest Tells It Again.

The ride was a long one, and it finally led to a roadhouse on the outskirts of the Bronx, and there, while seated at a table drinking with good cheer, Finan turned the talk to crimes and criminals, and waited for Demarest to open up on the Stern murder. Demarest did that very thing before they left the roadhouse.

According to Finan, Demarest said he knew who killed Stern, and when asked who it was mentioned Garvey.

Finan took Demarest back to Greenwich Village and then met by appointment Commissioner Dougherty and the detectives who were working on the case. To them he told what Demarest had said. It was short work to locate Garvey, and after that he was never out of the sight of a detective. The police looked him up in the records and say they found his portrait in the Rogues' Gallery. He had been convicted, they said, of stealing an express package in 1907, but escaped going to prison on a suspended sentence.

Garvey located Dougherty, and his men got O'Flaherty, McKeown, and Peterson, and detectives took the three witnesses of the crime to the back room of a saloon where Garvey was drinking with some friends. The room was crowded with men, and the detectives asked the witnesses to look around and see if they saw any one who looked like the man they had seen kill Stern. Two of the witnesses promptly picked out Garvey, and the third said he wanted to see the suspect walk. They waited until Garvey got ready to go, and as he walked out the third witness identified him as the others had done.

Monday Night Commissioner Dougherty decided that it was time to arrest Garvey, and the detectives promptly picked him up at Bank and Bleecker Streets.

It was said at Police Headquarters last night that Garvey still remained firm in declaring that he was innocent. Demarest was later brought before Commissioner Dougherty and Inspector Hughes and they talked with him a long time.

The Complaint.

Lieut. McKenney made the formal charge against Garvey in court. The affidavit read:

> Charles McKenney, member of the New York police force, being duly sworn, says: "I do hereby charge the defendant, Martin Garvey, of the crime of murder in the first degree committed on July 22, 1911, at 9:40 P. M., for the reason that I am informed by John O'Flaherty of 183 West Houston Street, Michael McKeown of 127 Edgecombe Avenue, and Henry Peterson of 1,000 Finlay Avenue, the Bronx, all now here, on said date saw Martin Garvey at Thirteenth Street and Sixth Avenue, in said city, point and discharge a revolving pistol at one Adolph Stern. The bullet from said pistol struck said Stern in the right side of the breast, and I am further informed by Jacob Jacoby of 165 Sixth Avenue that said Adolph Stern then and there died as a result of said wound."

No charge was preferred against Demarest, as he consented to be remanded for forty-eight hours as a material witness.

Beyond stating that the three witnesses mentioned in McKenney's affidavit had identified Garvey as the man they saw on the night of the murder, and giving out the facts of their identifications, the police were not inclined to give the details of their whole case. It was rumored that they had recovered the tray, in which were the jewels, snatched from Jacoby's window by the man who afterward murdered Stern, Mr. Jacoby's nephew and trusted employe.

WOODRUFF WON'T GIVE UP.

Means to Trim Sunday Aviation to Fit the Law and "Experiment."

For the trial of Timothy L. Woodruff, chief promoter of the recent Nassau Boulevard aviation meet, before Justice of the Peace Gittins, at Hempstead, L. I., this afternoon enough witnesses have been summoned by both sides to make it certain that the day will be a busy one for the court. Agents for those who had Mr. Woodruff arrested on a charge of violating the Sunday laws by holding an aviation meet on Sunday, Sept. 24, were busy throughout the vicinity of Nassau Boulevard serving subpoenas on all who were willing to swear that Sunday flights disturb their peace of mind.

Equally active were agents for Mr. Woodruff and the Nassau Aviation Corporation. With bunches of blank subpoenas, their agents hunted high and low for Nassau residents who acquire scientific education and enlightenment by Sunday flights.

Mr. Woodruff estimated last night that there would be at least a hundred on hand in the little Court House at Hempstead when Justice Gittins takes up the case. At his office in the Cambridge Building, 334 Fifth Avenue, he spent the afternoon telephoning to aviators and arranging with them to fly at a special exhibition matinée to be given next Sunday, regardless of opposition, court injunctions, and possible arrests.

"You may say that we will have a flying meet next Sunday," he said later to reporters. "Also that we will have another on Saturday. The postponed events of the recent meet will not be run off then, but special events will be arranged."

Mr. Woodruff's injunction was argued yesterday before Justice Garretson, in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, decision being reserved until this morning. If the decision dissolves the injunction, Mr. Woodruff says he will merely change the nature of his programme.

"There are some things that aeroplanes may do which are strictly competitive," said Mr. Woodruff, "and other things that are purely experimental. We shall do experimental things into which no competitive element enters if the Sheriff is permitted to make arrests."

Besides being made a defendant in a criminal proceeding, Mr. Woodruff was notified by G. Campbell-Wood, Secretary of the Aero Club of America, last night that there were ever so many technicalities of the club's rules with which he had failed to comply and that he could not, therefore, hold a meeting on the coming week-end.

Some of the technicalities, such as that requiring that the programme for the proposed meet be submitted to the Aero Club some days in advance, Mr. Woodruff cannot comply with because the necessary number of days are not now remaining. He talked to the Secretary of the Aero Club on the telephone for some minutes, and then, turning to the reporters, said the programme would be carried out, Aero Club or no Aero Club.

NAME RHODE ISLAND TICKET.

Waterman for Governor—Democrats Condemn Taft's Vetoes.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 4.—Despite some expressions of dissatisfaction prior to the Democratic State Convention here to-day by delegates who did not like the idea of having the State Central Committee draw up a tickets of State officers, this ticket was accepted by the convention. The nominee for Governor, Lewis A. Waterman of Providence, also led the party last year. The other nominees are:

Lieutenant Governor—ALBERIC A. ARCHAMBAULT of Warwick.

Secretary of State—SAYLES B. STEERE of Gloucester.

Attorney General—JAMES A. CAHILL of East Providence.

General Treasurer—ALBERT M. STEINERT of Providence.

The platform adopted by the convention condemns President Taft for vetoing "bills intended to correct the injustices of the present tariff law"; describing the President's statement that he desired to await the report of the Tariff Board experts as "a flimsy excuse"; reasonable regulation of corporate business is demanded. The platform proposes a revision of the Constitution of the State, and favors the initiative and referendum, a corrupt practices act, election of United States Senators by direct vote, and an income tax.

BIG WAVE HITS OSCAR II.

Deluges Smoking Room and Several Staterooms of Scandinavian Liner.

Vessels arriving yesterday met with rough weather on the Atlantic course. The climax of a series of gales and high seas experienced by the Scandinavian liner Oscar II., from Christiansand, came on Tuesday evening. The vessel had been bucking her way through high seas, and time after time the water had washed the forward decks. One oncoming wave caught her nose down, and tons of water crashed over her decks, rushing aft. Some of the water found its way into several upper deck staterooms and into the smoking room. There was no great excitement, though several card games ended abruptly.

On the steerage deck aft were a number of steerage passengers. The water poured down upon them. A number were knocked over and landed in the scuppers, but no one was injured.

The Hamburg-American liner Moltke, in from the Mediterranean, met high seas on Wednesday. On that night, the passengers say, she ran into a sea that brought her up staggering.

Rattlesnakes for the Bronx Zoo.

NEWTON, N. J., Oct. 4.—Some of the largest rattlesnakes ever caught in Sussex County were shipped to-day from here to the Bronx Zoo in New York City. The snakes were placed in a large box by Dr. Whitfield Gray and a large crowd gathered to watch him. Before the snakes were put in the box they were kept in a glass case and their antics there were eagerly watched by the crowd.

$15,000 Verdict for Husband's Death.

A Supreme Court jury awarded $15,000 damages yesterday to Mrs. Alma Johnson, whose husband, William H. Johnson, was killed by the falling of a derrick beam. Mrs. Johnson originally sued for $25,000. She obtained permission to sue for $50,000 after the birth of a child.

CUCCHIARA'S BOMBS WERE THE REAL THING

One Held Enough Dynamite to Wreck a Tenement—Other Was Full of Guncotton.

CONSPIRACY, SAYS LAWYER

Suggests That Maybe the Explosives Were Put in the Prisoner's Pocket by the Police to Make a Record.

The two bombs which, the police say, were found in the pockets of Angelo Cucchiara, who was arrested on Tuesday night by Detectives Cavone and Miccelli at Fortieth Street and Second Avenue, proved yesterday each to contain enough explosive to tear a building to pieces when they were examined in the Bureau of Combustibles at the foot of East Sixty-sixth Street by Inspector Owen Egan of the bureau.

One of the bombs consisted of a ten-inch stick of dynamite with a twenty-five-inch fuse. Between the fuse and the dynamite was some fulminite of mercury and a percussion cap. The principle on which the "bomb" was planned to work was that the fuse would set off the fulminite of mercury and the explosion cause the percussion cap to strike the non-combustible dynamite a blow that would cause it to explode. The second bomb consisted of a tube of oiled paper about a foot long. This, it was believed, contained gun cotton.

Inspector Egan took both bombs to the Yorkville Police Court yesterday to show to Magistrate Butts, before whom Cucchiara had been arraigned earlier in the day.

"Both bombs are highly dangerous," Inspector Egan said. "If they were placed on the top floor of a building they would explode downward and tear the heart of the building right out, causing wreck and wounds, if not, indeed, death, on every side."

The two bombs will be produced again in the Yorkville Court as evidence against Cucchiara this morning when he is re-arraigned before Magistrate Butts. Cucchiara was arraigned yesterday morning. He is a slim, clean-shaven, black-haired youth, 22 years old, and was dressed in a light brown striped suit. Detective Miccelli, who took him to court, made a brief affidavit describing Cucchiara's arrest and charging him with violating the new Sullivan law which makes it an offense to carry dangerous explosives without a permit. Cucchiara asked that ex-Assistant District Attorney John E. Brande be told of his plight. Mr. Brande is already acting as counsel for Costabile, the Black Hander who was arrested several weeks ago at Prince and Elizabeth Streets, on a charge of having a dynamite bomb in his possession. Mr. Brande is counsel also for another alleged Black Hander named Rizzo, who was arrested the same day.

Lawyer Brande had a long talk with Cucchiara in Yorkville Prison yesterday afternoon, and afterward charged that not only Cucchiara but Costabile and Rizzo, the other alleged bomb possessors and Black Handers, were victims of a conspiracy by the Italian detectives, who put bombs in their pockets and otherwise "fixed up" cases against them to make Commissioner Waldo believe that the Detective Bureau, which was re-established temporarily a few weeks ago, should be made permanent.

"Cucchiara is only a boy and I have known him for four years," said Mr. Brande. "He was arrested two years ago in an Italian murder case with five other Italians. I was engaged to defend them. When they were arraigned Cucchiara was discharged, nothing being found against him. Some of the others were convicted. Since that time the so-called Italian Squad of the Detective Bureau have been trailing Cucchiara. They arrested him again on suspicion recently, but had no evidence against him and he was discharged in court. He was coming home from work at 6 o'clock last evening from the asphalt company works where he was employed and was nearing his home, 714 Second Avenue, when the detectives seized him. His coat was open and one of the detectives tried to shove something into one of his inner pockets.

"'Shall we let him go or take him to headquarters?' he understood one of the detectives to say.

"'Here is the bomb,' he says the other detective said while trying to push the bomb into his inside pocket.

"They took him to headquarters, displayed the bombs to the Lieutenant there, and locked him up for the night. It doesn't seem reasonable to me, and I don't believe the public will think it reasonable, either, that a man would be going home from work at 6 o'clock in the evening with two bombs in his pocket. Cucchiara tells me he can produce the inspector at the asphalt works in which he is employed to prove that he was returning from work at the time he was arrested.

"Why the so-called Italian Squad should be so active just now in trumping up charges against Italians may be understood by a consideration of the recent history of the so-called Italian Squad itself. When Police Commissioner Waldo was first appointed he abolished the squad because, he said, it wasn't doing any good and that its members could be better employed on less comfortable but more necessary work. The members of the squad didn't like this and a great number of mysterious 'bomb explosions,' most of which did no damage to speak of, began breaking out. Also there sprang up, largely from police sources, a lot of talk about the Black Hand and its dangers.

"About a month ago Commissioner Waldo decided to revive the Italian Squad temporarily, but added that they would have to 'show results' very soon. So the Italian Squad started in to show results. Detective Carrao, of one branch of the squad, arrested Costabile in broad daylight in a crowded section, and took him to headquarters, saying he had found a bomb in his pocket—as though bomb throwers were in the habit of going around with bombs in their pockets at 10 A. M.

"Then Cavone, who belongs to another branch of the squad, not to be outdone, goes his rival detective one better, and arrests another Italian—Cucchiara—saying that he had two bombs in his clothes. I believe that the Italian Detective Squad are arresting men whom they have long known merely as suspicious characters and are trumping up evidence against them. I am going to examine both policemen closely when they appear before Magistrate Butts at the Cucchiara arraignment to-day."

At the office of the Italian Squad Mr. Brande's charges were denied with much feeling. The detectives repeated their statements of Tuesday night that Cucchiara, after having long been under suspicion, had been seen by Cavone and Miccelli at Fortieth Street and Second Avenue earlier in the evening. The detectives wished to talk to him about a fight in which he figured a few days before, but, they said, he took to his heels. They caught him and, they said, found the bombs in his pockets.

Another bomb, which was said to have been placed by Italian blackmailers, was found early yesterday morning in the doorway of the store of Leperto R. Petro & Sons, wine and cheese importers, 247 Avenue A. The fuse had burned down to about an inch of the explosive, but had then been extinguished by a thick wrapper of oiled paper covering the explosive.

ALLEN FORCED TO TESTIFY.

Ordered by the Court, He Tells the Grand Jury About His Trip Abroad.

Nathan Allen, the Wisconsin leather merchant who was fined $12,000 on Monday after pleading guilty in the criminal branch of the United States Circuit Court to smuggling in connection with John R. Collins of Memphis, Tenn., refused yesterday to answer certain questions before the Federal Grand Jury. He was taken before Judge Hough for contempt of court and was admonished that he must reply. It is understood that after he went back he gave satisfactory answers.

When the case came before Judge Hough District Attorney Wise read the proceedings in the Grand Jury room which had caused the trouble. Allen refused to tell whether he went to Europe in the Spring of 1909.

"I simply want you to answer whether or not you went abroad in the Spring of 1909?" asked Assistant District Attorney Pratt.

"I think the questions pertaining to my trips abroad might possibly tend to incriminate me," Allen replied.

Pressed by Mr. Pratt, the witness said that he did not think that to answer that one question would incriminate him, but that it might lead to other questions that would. At the same time he protested his desire to answer every question possible.

"I am perfectly free to say to you," said the Assistant District Attorney, "that you will not be further prosecuted."

After the court's order that he reply, Allen admitted he returned from Europe in June, 1909, under the name of J. W. Jenkins. Under that name he brought in, he said, ladies' gowns, jewels, men's clothes, a diamond ring, a diamond-set pin costing about $1,700, watches sapphires, laces, and hosiery.

"In London," Allen told the Grand Jury, "I bought a pearl necklace at Tiffany's worth $33,000 and two pearl earrings for which I paid $5,000." Also he said he bought two pearls costing about $9,000, a necklace for $3,500, dresses costing $2,000, and other articles amounting to the total value of about $10,000.

Allen admitted that he had secreted some of these articles about his person and that the party consisted of himself, John R. Collins, Mrs. Jenkins and her maid, and that they had ten trunks and three bags. These were examined at the pier by two customs inspectors whose names he did not know. Leaving the pier, Allen testified, he went to the Hotel Wolcott, and toward dusk one of the inspectors met him in front of the hotel and received $50 or $60.

Allen was asked also about oil paintings and statuary which he had purchased abroad, but he declared that he had paid duty on them.

ALDERMANIC TICKET WAITS.

Republicans Nominate in Only Ten Districts, Waiting for Fusion.

Although forty-one Republican Aldermanic conventions were scheduled to be held last night, thirty-one were adjourned because of the uncertainty over the Levy election law, which is now before the Court of Appeals. The candidates in most of the Aldermanic districts are anxious to be indorsed by the Independence League, but if the new law is declared constitutional, fusion will be greatly hampered.

In all the conventions which were held there was harmony except in the Thirty-eighth, which takes in the Thirty-third Assembly District. In the recent primary fight there Albert Simonds contested the leadership of Edward H. Healy. There was a difference of only a few votes in the final count with about two score contested ballots.

Until these have been passed upon by the Board of Elections the leadership is in doubt. Last night the Aldermanic convention was to have been held at 2,901 Third Avenue, the headquarters of the Thirty-third Assembly District. After the meeting had been called to order a motion to adjourn was hurriedly made, and the majority of the members voted to continue the meeting at 158th Street and Third Avenue. The men filed from the hall, leaving the followers of Mr. Healy looking disconsolate, and went to the new meeting place.

The second meeting was called to order by the followers of Mr. Simonds, and after a few speeches the nomination of a candidate for Alderman was adjourned until Saturday night.

In the Seventeenth Aldermanic District Daniel M. Bedell, an insurance man, was nominated. He was selected to take the place of the present Alderman from that district, Joseph Schloss. The latter made no fight to retain his seat. The results of the conventions which were not adjourned were:

6th—*Frank J. Dotzler.
15th—*Niles R. Becker.
17th—Daniel M. Bedell.
26th—*Henry H. Curran.
28th—*Courtlandt Nicoll.
30th—*Ralph Folks.
31st—*Percy L. Davis.
33d—Samuel Marks.
38th—*Abram W. Herbst.
39th—*James Hamilton.

*Renominated.

Brooklyn Nominations.

Both Democrats and Republicans in Brooklyn held their Aldermanic conventions last night and nominations were made in all the districts without disorder. In many cases the present Aldermen were renominated. This is the result in all the districts:

A. D.	Democrats.	Republicans.
42	William H. Lynch.	Robert S. Downing.

$100,000 Ship Fire in Brooklyn.

Fire in Hold No. 2 on the Lamport & Holt liner Tennyson, tied to Pier 6, Martin's Stores, at the foot of Pineapple Street, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon did about $100,000 damage to the vessel and cargo before it was put out hours after its discovery. The crew of the vessel started to fight the fire unaided, but finally a fire alarm was sent in, and the fireboats Seth Low and New Yorker helped quench the flames.

"Whatever may be thought of Mr. Patterson's daring in breaking a lance with Rome, he has provided us with a rare thing—an American play with an appeal to universal feelings and views; and, what is rarer still, a drama of current American life, whose locale is not New York City. The story is forcefully, faithfully, and directly told, and the interest grips powerfully. I cannot conceive how any one could play Georgia Connor better than our welcome star at the Maxine Elliott Theatre does."—J. C. Garrison in N. Y. Press.

"'Rebellion' is a most engrossing play and a true human story. Every situation is real, the characters are flesh and blood, and the drama comes right out of life. It should appeal to all theatregoers."—Louis Sherwin in The Globe.

"Here is a play that makes no petty appeal to false sentiment. There is the weight of an unanswerable argument back of it. Gertrude Elliott plays forcefully and with telling authority."—Burns Mantle in Eve. Mail.

"'Rebellion' is a play that will be talked about. Its realism is unforgettable and singularly gripping. Miss Elliott scored a triumph. Her dark beauty worked a new spell."—Charles Darnton in Eve. World.
